CHICAGO PARK COST HIGHEST, FIGURES SHOW

Taxes Rise Fourfold in 14 Years.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The taxes levied on Chicagoans by the park boards for 1929—the last [illegible] assessment—are approximately four times the taxes gathered for the same purposes in 1915. In [illegible] the boards levied $5,262,983 in [illegible], while in 1929 the total was $20,-[illegible].

This is a tax of $6.11 on every person in the city. In contrast with the [illegible] levied for parks in 1929, the entire public school system spent [illegible] in 1915, and this included $2,345,186 spent on new elementary schools and $831,718 on new high schools.

In 1929 the public school system spent less by $1,500,000 than the park boards sought in taxes in 1929. In [illegible] the school system spent only [illegible], including $3,518,221 for permanent improvements, as compared with the park tax of $20,846,615 in [illegible].

Park Taxes Compared.

[illegible]	$2,498,773	$11,025,235
[illegible]	956,951	4,351,661
[illegible]	1,643,587	3,684,828
[illegible]	163,672	1,784,881
[illegible]	$5,262,983	$20,846,605

Officials of the park boards explain that they have purchased ground for new parks in the period between [illegible] and 1929. They will also explain that they have spent millions in filling in the lake, erecting Soldiers' field, and in other improvements. But aside from these improvements, statistics show that the cost of maintaining Chicago's park and boulevard system leads the nation.

Federal Figures Cited.

In the cost of operating and maintaining the park and boulevard systems the federal government has compiled some comparative figures for cities of the nation for the year 1928. The state auditor's official report shows park and pleasure drive taxes levied for 1928 to be $20,009,826 in the entire county. The federal government report for the same year—the last published—shows the park [illegible] of Chicago as $20,001,428.

In expenditures for operation and maintenance, the federal government shows that Chicago led the nation. It spent more in actual cash for maintenance and operation than did New York City.

Chicago spent $7,768,610, according to the federal government tabulation, while New York spent only $7,532,920. This necessarily means that the cost of operating and maintaining Chicago parks was more than twice as much per capita as New York's because New York has about twice the population of Chicago. On the basis of the 1930 population, New York spent [illegible] per capita, while Chicago spent [illegible]—nearly 112 per cent more.

Chicago Heaviest Spender.

While Chicago was spending $2.30 per capita to operate and maintain its parks, Cleveland was spending only [illegible] cents. With the exception of [illegible], where unusual conditions prevail, Chicago spent considerably more than any of the other 10 larger cities of the country in operation and maintenance of parks and boulevards on the basis of population.

The following table shows the "governmental cost—payments for maintenance and operation" in 1928 in comparison with the 1930 population of each of the ten largest cities.

	Park costs.	Population.
[illegible]	$7,532,920	6,981,927
[illegible]	7,768,610	3,375,348
[illegible]	3,404,673	1,964,430
[illegible]	2,725,364	1,573,985
[illegible]	1,955,335	1,233,561
[illegible]	756,235	900,430
[illegible]	1,416,338	822,032
[illegible]	868,663	801,271
[illegible]	2,530,223	787,271
[illegible]	1,019,073	669,742

In comparison with Chicago's $2.30 per capita for operation aid maintenance of parks and drives, Philadelphia spends only $1.73.

[illegible] on Comparison Basis.

The federal government makes a [illegible] attempt to obtain figures on a comparable basis, as between cities, of that which is classed as a park and boulevard expense applies approximately to all cities.

The representatives of the three major park boards, south, Lincoln, and west, are scheduled to appear today before Gov. Emmerson's revenue commission. Representatives of other local governments have previously been questioned, but in no case did the commission have data showing Chicago as the leading spender of the nation, as it has relative to

RADIOS ON NEW HUNT FOR LINDY IN FAR NORTH

Plane Unreported on 377 Mile Flight.

What Flyers Are Doing

Static in Canadian wilds hides radio news of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh's 377 mile flight from Churchill, Manitoba, for Baker Lake. Radio stations alert for reports, although it is presumed they reached their destination.

Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr. abandon attempt to beat 'round the world record set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty upon landing a Khabarovsk, Siberia. They will "come home" by air with Nome, Alaska, as their next scheduled hop.

Reg L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, Texas flyers, forced to give up nonstop flight from Seattle, Wash., to Tokio at Fairbanks, Alaska, because of bad weather.

Russell Boardman and John Polando, New York to Turkey aviators, indicate they may fly back to America from Istanbul.

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Heavy static between Churchill, Manitoba, and Baker lake, Northwest territory, this evening prevented the reception of radio news of the flight of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh, officials of the marine department said here. Ordinarily the Baker lake signals can be heard in Ottawa.

The entire chain of radio stations from Ottawa to Churchill, thence to Chesterfield, N. W. T., and westerly to Baker lake, supplemented by scores of amateurs, was on the alert for word of the Lindberghs, but nothing had been received up to 8:30 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time].

No Anxiety Felt.

Under ordinary conditions, the Lindberghs should have reached Baker lake between 6 and 7 p. m. [Chicago time]. However, the weakness of their radio sign as demonstrated on the flight from Ottawa to Moose Factory, coupled with atmospheric conditions, kept friends here from feeling any anxiety for them.

After repeated efforts to communicate with both the Lindbergh plane and the government radio station at Baker lake had been futile, officials of the radio branch of the marine department here expressed doubt as to whether the violent static prevailing would permit reception of radio signals from Baker lake at any time during the night.

HOP FROM CHURCHILL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHURCHILL, Man., Aug. 3.—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh were speeding for Baker lake, 377 miles away, this afternoon on the fourth leg of their vacation air jaunt to Tokio. The flying couple took off from Churchill harbor at 1:45 p. m. [Chicago daylight saving time].

Both Col. Lindbergh and his wife had spent the entire morning tinkering with their plane, overhauling it, replenishing the fuel supply and checking the motor and the radio.

Before heading for Baker lake, they flew over Churchill for several minutes testing their radio to make sure that they would not be cut off from the outside world again as they had been before and after their flight from Ottawa to Moose Factory.

Dip Wings in Salute.

With their wireless apparatus apparently in working order, the Lindberghs swooped over the harbor and the wings of the plane were dipped in final salute with Mrs. Lindbergh waving at the cheering townspeople below.

Yesterday the entire population of Churchill, 1,089 men and 11 women, were on the shore to greet the famous couple. They were again there today to say good-by.

Upon reaching Baker lake, a small settlement consisting of only a handful of white people, including one woman, and native Eskimos, the Lindberghs will fly west with Aklavik, 1,115 miles away, as their next goal.

WORLD FLYERS QUIT

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon Jr., American aviators, have abandoned their attempt to beat the around the world flight record set by Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, but will still "come home" by air, announcements by Victor Lawn, their

INDUSTRIAL EVOLUTION

Are we to see the grim battle of huge chain farms, which can make a profit on 30 cent wheat, against the small, unorganized, independent farmers?

WALKER SAILS AFTER HEALTH; VOICES REGRETS

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Mayor James J. Walker sailed for Germany on the Bremen, at midnight, hopeful that the water cure at Carlsbad would avert a physical breakdown, confident that the city's police can cope with the crime wave, reticent about the future and regretful about part of the past.

The regret was about the way some of his public statements have been taken by the public.

"It's too late to change at fifty," he said, "but if I could do it over again I would not have manufactured so many false impressions for newspaper columnists to live and grow fat on. I would not have called myself 'the late mayor' nor the 'night mayor of New York.' I would not have been guilty of wisecracks attributed to me. I find, that, unhappily, when I wanted to be facetious I was taken literally, and when I wanted to be taken seriously I was called a wisecracker."

DO-X MAY START FOR U. S. TODAY WITH 54 ABOARD

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Provisional President Vargas and several members of the Brazilian cabinet were taken on a flight over Rio de Janeiro and its harbor today in the giant German seaplane DO-X. The flight was the last test flight to be made with the big ship before it starts for Miami, Fla.

It was expected the ship would leave tomorrow, but the date still is tentative. There will be 54 passengers for the start of the flight to the United States, but most of them will leave the ship at Brazilian ports.

Stops will be made at Bahia, Natal, Para, Paramaribo, Port-of-Spain, and San Juan, P. R., on the way to Miami. The ship will stop at Norfolk, Va., on its way from Miami to New York.

Radio Thriller in Parked Auto Brings Police Squad

The ladies can't say they weren't warned.

"Within a 100 years," Dr. Paul F. Mahaffey, of Springfield, Ill., told the scientific association of chiropodists, women will have feet like the hoofs of horses if they keep on wearing shoes with high heels.

Gov. Roosevelt Gives Blood to Save Babies

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt today aided in the fight against further spread of infantile paralysis.

The governor gave one pint of his blood to the state health department for use as a serum in combating the disease in others. The governor was attacked by the disease some ten years ago, but has recovered, and doctors consider his case remarkable. Since blood from a victim who has recovered is considered the best serum for treating others, the governor's action will prove of tangible help to the state authorities.

Mayor James Walker signed a special appropriation bill which made $75,000 available for the city health department in employing additional medical men.

To Add 10 Doctors.

Dr. Shirley Wynne, city health commissioner, said ten physicians and 25 nurses would be added to the field force now combating the disease, while additional personnel would be taken on if required. All of the new aides, except the doctors, will be chosen from civil service lists.

Dr. Wynne said the appropriation w suggested at a recent meeting of the advisory committee of the health department and that it had been authorized under a special section of the city's charter, giving the health commissioner broad powers in an emergency. Mayor Walker was said to have told the commissioner to spare no effort in stemming the outbreak.

A total of 114 new cases were reported over the week-end, 59 on Saturday and 55 on Sunday. This brought the total to 802 since the outbreak started on July 1.

Total Cases 836.

The total number of cases reported this year is 836, of which 108 have been fatal. The death rate, however, is only about half what it was in 1916. About 25 per cent of the cases in 1926 were fatal.

Deputy Commissioner T. Peck said the lower mortality rate indicated that the disease this year was milder than in 1916.

Dr. Iago Galdston, secretary of the medical information bureau of the Academy of Medicine, announced that more than 100 former paralysis sufferers had donated from 250 to 300 cubic centimeters each of their blood on Saturday at the Cornell medical school.

In Englewood, N. J., Conrad Howard, 35, was removed to a hospital, suffering from infantile paralysis. He is the first adult to have developed the disease in this region this summer.

ELECTRIC PLANT BOMBED; BLAST ROCKS SO. SIDE

The far south side of the city was rocked for a radius of five miles late last night when a black powder bomb was exploded in the tool room of the Federal Electric company's plant at 87th and State streets.

The bomb was tossed through a window into the tool room at the north east corner of the building, a huge structure covering the better part of the block. Donald Olsen, 8736 Wabash avenue, saw three men drive up to the building in a small coupe. Two got out as the third continued north with the car in State street. The two tossed the bomb and ran and caught the moving car two or three blocks away.

No one was in the building at the time, and the damage was slight, owing to the great number of windows in the room. W. F. Ludeking, master mechanic of the plant, said there had been no labor troubles.

Jobless Man's Death Leap Beats Wife's Police Call

After taking several drinks last night to bolster up his courage Joseph Harbaugh, 48 years old, 1014 North Wells street, a jobless cook, started out of the apartment but fell on the stairs and was hurt. As his wife was calling the police to have him removed to the county hospital he shouted, "I'll beat you to it," and plunged through a living room window. He struck on the pavement in front of the building and died a short time later at the Henrotin Memorial hospital.

Kidnaped Off Bus; $100,000 in Gems Stolen

Julius Dreyfus, president of A. & J. Dreyfus, Inc., 20 West 47th street, New York City, diamond merchants, walked into the police station at Des Plaines shortly before 3 o'clock this morning and reported that he had been held up in a bus between Watertown and Beaver Dam, Wis., last night and robbed of $100,000 in unset diamonds. He was kidnaped by the robbers, he said, and driven to a point about one and one-half miles south of Des Plaines, where he was ejected.

Seek Robbers Here.

The detective bureau in Chicago was notified immediately and a search for known jewelry thieves was begun. It is believed the gang, numbering at least three men, are from the city.

Dreyfus, touring the middle western states for the last few weeks, left Janesville, Wis., at 5:35 by bus last night. At Watertown two men boarded the bus. Four miles out of the town an automobile containing several men forced the bus to the side of the road. The bandits, waving guns, entered. They forced the driver to turn into a side road and then compelled Dreyfus to board their machine.

Threatened with Death.

One of the gunmen covered the New Yorker's eyes with goggles and made him lie on the floor of the car as they passed through the towns. "We'll kill you if you raise any alarm, or try to get away," he warned. Dreyfus was driven around for hours, meantime his portfolio containing the stones being confiscated. Near Des Plaines the robber chief told him he was near a town where he could summon help, and then shoved him from the machine.

Dreyfus said that all of the diamonds except $25,000 worth were insured.

150 Movies to Close Unless Maloy Yields

Unless Thomas E. Maloy, business agent of the Motion Picture Operators' union, now under indictment with other officials of his organization on charges of conspiracy and graft, rescinds a union order requiring the use of two union operators in all theaters before next Monday, Aug. 10, all members of the Allied Theater Owners of Illinois will close their theaters.

Following a meeting of 95 members of the organization yesterday at the Auditorium hotel an ultimatum was issued the union. The statement pointed out that many small theaters were being forced out of business by the union requirement of two operators where one would suffice.

Prepare to Close Theaters.

In part the letter to Maloy read:

"We are confronted with the necessity of closing our theaters or of discharging one unnecessary operator. The salary ranging from $100 to $175 a week for an operator for whom there is absolutely no need means in many cases the difference between closing or keeping open. If we close several thousand employés will be discharged increasing the army of unemployment.

"Please accept notice that the theaters listed below will employ only one union operator per shift commencing Aug. 10."

The meeting, called by Aaron Saperstein, president of the Chicago branch of the organization which embraces Cook, Du Page and Lake counties, was attended by a representative of Abram Meyers, national president. The national group is coöperating with the local owners in demanding that the use of an unnecessary operator merely to provide employment for union members be abolished.

Says 150 Will Close.

According to Mr. Saperstein approximately 204 independent theaters are operating in the three counties. Of that number 150 will be forced to close unless they are permitted to run with one operator.

Another meeting will be held Aug. 10, at which time Maloy's reply will be considered by the owners. The houses will operate with two machine operators up to and including next Sunday.

RECEIVE BIDS ON SEPT. 1 TO LEASE MUSCLE SHOALS

Florence, Ala., Aug. 3.—(AP)—S. F. Hobbs of Selma, Ala., newly appointed chairman of the Muscle Shoals commission, in a statement at the conclusion of its meeting here tonight announced the commission will receive proposals for leasing and operating the Muscle Shoals project "in the interest of fertilizer production and agriculture" at Washington Sept. 1.

S. SIDE CROWDS ATTACK SQUADS IN EVICTION ROW

Three rioters were shot and killed and three policemen and a fourth rioter were seriously wounded late yesterday afternoon when 2,000 communists, mainly colored, abandoned a parade and started a battle to prevent the legal eviction of a family from a flat at 5016 South Dearborn street. Those killed were Negroes.

LIEUT. JOHN HARDY.

The clear connection of the red elements with the disorder caused the city administration to suspect there is danger of further Red rioting, whereupon Mayor Cermak, from Mackinac, ordered a conference of police officials, his cabinet, and leaders of the Negro race.

Blame Reds for Outbreak.

The meeting was held in the city hall last night. Among its decisions were:

1. That there was no antagonism between the races and that the trouble was solely due to Red propaganda.

2. That military leaders might be asked to hold troops in readiness at Camp Grant, Rockford, for possible service here if needed, but that such an emergency does not now exist.

3. That Al Horan, bailiff of the Municipal court, hold up all eviction orders for the present.

4. That leaders of the communists in Chicago, including Lovett Fort-Whiteman, colored, former student in a soviet school in Russia, be apprehended and questioned.

5. That the aid of United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson will be sought today by Corporation Counsel Sexton in connection with the activities of the Reds.

Mayor Cermak assured Chief Bailiff Horan that he would on his return establish a fund to relieve the dire distress of those whom it is necessary to evict later.

Battle Communist Throngs.

In the sharp street fighting that resulted from the communist outbreaks dozens of policemen engaged in a mêlée with hundreds of the shock troops of the Reds who have been holding daily meetings in Washington park and have been instructed by leaders of Moscow to resist efforts of their landlords to put them out for nonpayment of rent.

Even when the small detachment of police who first resisted the mob had been rescued by reinforcements after the policemen had been overthrown and were in danger of being trampled to death, the marchers under the Red leaders reformed their lines a short distance away and made a second demonstration. They were forced to disperse, however, by the arrival of fresh squads of police from the loop and south side stations.

Move Out Tenant's Goods.

Shortly after 3 p. m. two Municipal court bailiffs accompanied M. J. Kolliner of 4311 South Michigan avenue, a real estate agent, to the first floor flat at the Dearborn street address. There they moved the possessions of the tenant, Mrs. Diana Gross, 72 years old, colored, to the street.

Kolliner had been expecting trouble—twice in the last week disturbers have fought with bailiffs who were evicting tenants—and two policemen from the Wabash avenue station went to the house with the agent and the bailiffs. They were James Woulfe and James McMahon.

While their work was in progress information of it reached the marchers, who had set out from Washington park along 51st street and apparently intended to move into Prairie avenue. Instead they proceeded west to Dearborn street and flowed in a close mass up to the Warrick home. They had been joined by crowds of the curious and the throng numbered perhaps 5,000 by this time.

Communists Threaten Police.

Reports of the advance had seeped into the Wabash avenue police station and Lieut. John Hardy, accompanied by Sergt. John Busch and several others, arrived on the scene in a patrol wagon. Woulfe and McMahon already were being threatened by the massed Reds and a few had gone into the house, replacing the furniture that had been moved by the bailiffs.

Lieut. Hardy and his men seized three of the alleged ringleaders and thrust them into the patrol wagon. Then they forced their way through the dense ranks of the angered communists and turned into 51st street with their prisoners.

At about the same time there arrived by way of 50th street, another detail of policemen. In it were Patrolmen John McFadden, Martin Ernst, and Fred Graham, the last named being colored. With Sergt. Busch, McMahon, and Woulfe this detail attempted to restore order.

Hand to Hand Battle.

Their effort was not a success. The crowd closed in on them. For a few minutes they stood their ground, with pistols drawn. Then, hurled on by the pressure from behind, the front ranks closed in on them. A desperate hand to hand struggle was in progress when the reinforcements, some twenty-five men recruited by Lieut. Hardy, arrived under his command.

McFadden, Ernst, and Graham were lying on the pavement. They were bleeding from knife cuts and blows with bricks, stones, and sticks. McFadden's skull, it was later reported, may have been fractured.

In the forefront of the reinforcements was Policeman Henry Lyons, who had been in the first detail and had returned with the lieutenant. He was struck down in the fray and a tall, powerful man had seized his pistol. As the assailant was about to fire at Lyons he was shot and killed by Policeman William Jordan.

Policeman Kills Rioter.

A few seconds later a rioter, firing from a passageway at 5021 South Dearborn street toward Jordan, was pursued and shot to death by Lyons. The manner and the exact time of the death of the third man was not clearly established last night.

Meanwhile Policeman McMahon and several others had been separated from the main body and had taken refuge in a delicatessen store. They were showered with bricks and shots were fired at them, all the windows of the store being broken. They defended themselves with their pistols until the street was sufficiently cleared to permit their egress.

The throng in giving way retreated south of 51st street, leaving their three dead comrades in the vicinity of the house where the battle began. Twenty or more of the men, including a white agitator, Louis Teemis, 35 years old, 1415 West 50th street, were arrested. Teemis, according to Assistant State's Attorney Harry S. Ditchburne, seemed to have been the commander of the rioters.

Red Marchers Dispersed.

No difficulty was found by the police, now with heavy reinforcements from the loop and south side stations, in dispersing the communists when they made a tentative move north in Dearborn street again. They melted away in the face of a considerable force, which included among its leaders Chief of Detectives John Norton and his first assistant, Lawrence Rafferty, and Deputy Police Commissioner Scanlon.

Despite the apparent quiet in the whole region during the evening, eighty-five policemen were held in readiness at the Wabash avenue station and a close watch was kept on the gathering place of the Reds in Washington park. The mayor's secretary, State Representative Henry Sonnenschein, sent a stenographer to the park to take down all remarks made by orators there.

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock last night issued an order that all post men, those ordinarily walking beats, remain in their stations under the command of the district captains to be ready for riot calls. The order affects all policemen on duty who do not have direct radio connection with headquarters and holds good for a twenty-four hour period.

Identify One of Slain Men.

Only one of the men killed was identified. He was John O'Neal, 39 years old, 734 East 45th street. In his pockets were found a quantity of communist literature and a card issued by the Scottsboro Defense league, which has been active in fomenting discontent among Negroes. The rioter wounded was William Boyden, colored, 39 years old, 4937 St. Lawrence avenue. He was found near his home, where he had been carried after the street battle. At the Bridewell hospital it was said his condition was critical.

Mrs. Gross and her daughter, Mrs. Rose Warrick Miller, the latter of 551 East 50th place, were questioned by Ditchburne. It was learned that the lease to the Dearborn street flat had been signed by the daughter. The daughter was married seven weeks ago to Albert Miller, a preacher, and since then her mother has been living alone in the flat. Neither could pay the rent.

Mrs. Gross was asked to view the twenty-two prisoners to identify, if possible, those who moved her furniture back into the house. She said that Teemis resembled one of the men.

The red drive for membership among the Negroes has been going on a long while, according to investigators. Sheridan A. Bruseaux, colored detective, who watched communist activities for the late Samuel Gompers, said last night that there are at least twenty-five organizers in Chicago who have been trained in the schools of Moscow.

"This training," he added, "was given them that they might form nuclei for a big membership. The students were sent through Germany on faked passports some years ago. They have been active in Chicago since 1925. One of the peculiar things about this training is that Moscow taught its pupils to speak Esperanto and this language is used by the leaders in their frequent gatherings."

Evictions Cause Trouble.

Rent troubles among the Negroes, who have been hard hit by the business depression, have furnished the red agitators with a strong talking point and talk more than a week ago reached the stage of action. On two occasions during the last week mobs like that of yesterday, but somewhat smaller and not so bold, overwhelmed bailiffs of the Municipal court and refused to allow them to perform their duty of eviction.

The police were called on these occasions, but handled the crowds carefully and left them in possession of the field. This seeming leniency apparently encouraged the agitators and they are said to have gained many recruits by pointing out that active resistance produced results.

Daily meetings have been held in Washington park, nearly always attended by 1,000 or more persons. Among the intemperate remarks attributed to the orators were some in which threats to blow up the city hall and the capitol at Washington were included.

On Sunday a parade of Reds was broken up by the police. Some weeks ago dozens of policemen were sent to the Wendell Phillips High school, where agitators tried to interrupt a meeting at which Congressman Oscar De Priest was a speaker.

The more solid elements among the colored residents of Chicago and among the national leadership have been opposed to the spread of the Red doctrines thought the race.

Attacks Radical Activities.

H. M. Tarver, who came here from San Antonio, Tex., to preside at the National Convention of Colored People, to be held today in the Pythian temple, said:

"The convention will condemn the revolutionary and un-American spirit and activities of communist agitators attempting to operate among the most backward and hopeless groups of our people. Only a few will ever consider them or their cause."

Assistant State's Attorney Ditchburne, in questioning the twenty-two persons arrested during the disorder yesterday, learned, he said, that there seemed to be a concerted plan for the relief by violence of those evicted from their homes. Each person affiliated with the Red organization was permitted to call for help, he said, and his group was pledged to give help. Teemis had in his pockets memoranda bearing on four recent evictions, the prosecutor said.

Among those whose arrest Mr. Ditchburne asked were Fort-Whiteman, Walter Anderson, and Lucius Hall, said to have been the leaders of the Moscow backed movement among the Negroes for more than ten years.

NEGRO LEADERS ACCUSE REDS IN FATAL RIOTING

Help Officials Plan Ways to Meet Agitators.

Leaders of the Negro race, meeting with Corporation Counsel William H. Sexton last night in the city hall, accused communist agitators, white and colored, of fomenting the riot in which three Negroes were slain and three policemen slugged and beated yesterday afternoon.

Within two hours after the clash between the policemen and the mob the corporation counsel summoned to his office a dozen of the outstanding ministers, editors, educators, and politicians of the colored race. The conference broke up at 11:30 p. m. and will resume this morning.

Mayor Receives Reports.

Mayor Cermak, vacationing on a yacht in Georgian bay, came ashore at Little Current, Ont., and was kept advised of the situation until a late hour by his secretary, State Representative Henry J. Sonnenschein, who attended the corporation counsel's meeting.

Out of the conference came several conclusions and recommendations, namely:

1. That the communist agitators, financed by Moscow, have taken advantage of the widespread unemployment among Negroes in the last few months to win thousands of colored adherents.

. That the disciples of Lenin have incited their followers to a point where in hundreds of cases they refuse to pay rents, pledge themselves to resist eviction by due process of law, and court arrest or invite being shot to display their "martyrdom."

Seek Conciliation Policy.

3. That a ruthless policy of suppression would, in the present situation, only incite further disorders and that a policy of conciliation must be adopted.

In line with this policy, Mayor Cermak instructed Mr. Sonnenschein to make available the mayor's contingent fund for succor of worthy families evicted from their dwellings for failure to pay their rent.

Albert J. Horan, bailiff of the Municipal court, whose deputies have repeatedly encountered resistance in serving eviction notices, agreed to notify one of the organized charities hereafter in all cases of eviction so that no family will be without shelter.

Pastor Describes Agitation.

The Rev. J. C. Austin, pastor of Pilgrim Baptist church, the largest colored congregation in the city, declared the situation was serious. The minister declared the Reds had made inroads in his congregation, which he had been powerless to combat.

"The Reds get up on their soap boxes in Washington park, preach all day and up to midnight, lie down and sleep in the open air, and rise up again to preach next morning," the minister said. "I've addressed several of the meetings myself on the subject of 'Christ and Communism,' but you can't talk religion to a man with an empty stomach.

Other colored leaders at the meeting were State Representative Charles J. Jenkins, Ald. Robert R. Jackson, Nathan K. McGill, business manager of the Defender, Negro weekly newspaper; Lucius C. Harper, managing editor of the paper, and State Senator Aldebert Roberts.

QUELL PROTEST AT MINNEAPOLIS OVER EVICTION

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Nearly fifty policemen and six gun squad cars were called out late today to quell a disturbance by more than 100 neighbors protesting eviction of a family from a house in north Minneapolis.

Accused of Manslaughter After Death of Woman

Wilfred Olson, 29 years old, 311 South Winchester avenue, was held to the grand jury on a charge of manslaughter yesterday by a coroner's jury investigating the death of Mrs. Anna Larson, 40 years old. Olson testified that he had been keeping company with Mrs. Larson for more than a year and was drinking with her on the porch of a vacant house at Lincoln street and Jackson boulevard when she fell down a flight of stairs and was fatally injured. Emily Rosser, 7 years old, 309 South Winchester avenue, said she saw Olson push the woman downstairs.

SPECIAL COUNCIL SESSION SEEN IN ECONOMY DRIVE

Revival of Cermak-Clark Feud Threatens.

A revival of the feud between Mayor Cermak and Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the council finance committee, was foreseen yesterday when it became known that the mayor would probably be compelled to call a special meeting of the council within a month in order to carry out his economy drive in the city hall.

J. L. JACOBS. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

During the day Ald. Clark issued a statement in reply to that in which the mayor urged last Friday that he give up his chairmanship of the finance committee to some alderman more in accord with administration's economy policies. Ald. Clark stated that he was made chairman of the committee by the council and that he intended to hold the post until the end of his aldermanic term, in 1933.

Council Action Required.

Health Commissioner Bundesen pointed out the necessity for the special council meeting. Last Thursday the council adjourned until Oct. 21. Yesterday Corporation Counsel Sexton gave Dr. Bundesen an opinion holding that department heads lack the power to lay off civil service appointees for periods exceeding thirty days without council action.

Last Saturday Dr. Bundesen dismissed ninety-one health department employés to save money. Several department heads were included in the list, and the total annual saving in salaries was computed at $242,264. The dismissals were the result of the economy survey of the city hall by J. L. Jacobs, efficiency engineer.

"You have the authority to lay off employés," Corporation Counsel Sexton informed the health commissioner, "in the interest of economy, for a period not exceeding thirty days without further directions than have been issued up to this time. But in case the layoff is for a period of more than thirty days it will be necessary to have council action thereon."

Will Ask Special Session.

With the opinion was a draft of an ordinance authorizing the extension of layoffs, and Dr. Bundesen said he would ask Mayor Cermak to call a special council meeting to pass it.

The Jacobs survey, and Jacobs' statement, repeated by the mayor, that the city budget for 1932 could be cut 15 per cent without impairing service to the public, caused the original row last week between the mayor and Ald. Clark. The alderman denied in his statement yesterday that he had opposed the survey, but repeated his declaration that a 15 per cent cut in the budget, amounting to $10,000,000, could not be made without reducing service to the public.

"I was elected alderman by the people of the 30th ward and was elected by the city council as chairman of the finance committee, a post that I will hold at least until the end of my term."

ROILED BY OVERTIME

Mutterings of revolt arose from the pay rollers in the office of the board of assessors yesterday when they were informed that because of failure to perform the work of the office in the time estimated when the county budget was drawn up they would have to work three hours overtime without extra pay for the next six weeks.

In addition, Assessor John E. Conley, secretary of the board, told the 300 employés that besides suffering the deduction of two weeks' pay assessed against all county employés as an economy measure, they would also probably have to give up their vacations.

The overtime schedule will operate until the office finishes work on personal property assessments for 1931. At the same time, all field workers engaged in investigating the complaints against 1930 assessments filed before the board of review and sent back to the assessors for investigation, will have to work until 7 o'clock every evening. That is two hours overtime.

Threatens to Shirk.

"We'll show them," said one employé after he was assured that his name would be withheld. "We won't do any more work around here in eleven hours than we have been doing in eight. As it is now, we not only go unpaid for our overtime, but have to pay out of our own pockets for suppers we get in the loop because we can't get home to eat."

Employés blame the assessors for failure to get a sufficient appropriation from the county board. However, the assessors were given $887,578 this year, as compared to $689,434 in 1930. They asked originally for $1,740,000 for 1931 on the grounds that the quadrennial reassessment would require a large amount of extra help.

The assessors already have spent the entire appropriation given them for payment of overtime, with work on the quadrennial reassessment barely started. Recently they attempted to divert money from an appropriation for technical help in the reassessment into the overtime fund for their regular pay rollers, but were turned down on the proposition by the county board.

INJURED IN BRAWL; DIES.

Frank Washak, 45 years old, 4528 South [illegible] street died yesterday in the Bridewell hospital of a fractured skull sustained in a brawl on July 19. Walter Rosecka, 4541 South Hermitage avenue, and Francis [illegible], 4539 Justine street, with whom he fought, are held by police.

HERMIT FOUND DEAD; BITTEN BY RATTLERS HE CAUGHT TO SELL

Port Jervis, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The story of a hermit who died in his lonely cabin from the bite of one of the rattlesnakes he caught for his livelihood came out of the remote mountain section of Pike county, Pennsylvania, tonight.

The 74 year old recluse, Edward Wenzel, was found dead on his cot yesterday by neighbors. Near the head of the coat, in a mesh wire cage, was a rattler. Hanging in a bag hooked on the limb of a tree outside was another rattler.

The aged man died with a life-saving snake venom serum almost within reach of his hand. County authorities found the serum in his cabin. They said he probably had been bitten as he prowled about the rocky ledges where the snakes bask in the sun and had struggled to his home in such a weakened condition he was unable to use the serum.

Killed by Auto in Street as He Pushes Junk Cart

Konstanty Miekiewicz, 55 years old, 2017 Custer street, a junk dealer, was killed yesterday when he was struck by a motor car while pushing his cart at Milwaukee and Damen avenues. Walter Von Bergen, an Itasca truck farmer, driver of the car which killed Miekiewicz, was held.

Miss Gladys Gillan, 26 years old, 3434 Broadway, died in the John B. Murphy hospital early this morning from injuries suffered on July 31 when she was struck by an automobile at Broadway and Roscoe street. Stanley Spikings, 730 Cornelia avenue, driver of the car, was held. The two deaths raised the 1931 total for Cook county to 666.

Phone Cash Is Held Up; City Employes Unpaid

City employés, unpaid since the last part of June, who had anticipated receiving pay checks yesterday as a result of payment by the telephone company of approximately $4,240,000 in back compensation due the city under the recently passed telephone franchise, were disappointed. The telephone payment will be held up for several days, pending an audit of the company's revenue by the city, and the pay checks will be delayed until the money is received.

URUGUAY ORDERS POLICE TO RAID SOVIET CLUBS

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A judicial order of the court of instruction today ordered police to raid all communist clubs in Montevideo and to confiscate all documents found in them. The order was believed to have been the result of the recent raid on the Inymtorg headquarters in Buenos Aires.

Open Red Vault.

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Three men, working for five hours with torches, succeeded today in cutting open the safe of the Myamtorg, soviet South American trade organization, the headquarters of which was raided by police last week. An investigation of the contents of the safe was begun immediately by police.

Burglars Rob Postoffice, Rail Depot at Ft. Sheridan

Burglars broke into the postoffice and the North Western railroad station at Fort Sheridan Sunday night, it was discovered yesterday. At the postoffice, which is only half a block from the guardhouse, on the government reservation, the thieves gained entrance by smashing a basement window. The robbers failed in their efforts to open three safes, containing $5,000. Their only loot was a few dollars' worth of stamps. They stole a telephone coin box at the railroad station.

New Uniforms for Cops Who Drive Greeter Car

Police Sergeants J. F. Helstern and Albert Armstrong, who drive the white guest car in which City Greeter George D. Gaw will escort distinguished visitors about the streets of the city, were outfitted in new uniforms yesterday. The uniforms are similar to those worn by sergeants of police, with the addition of a circular insignia on the left sleeve.

Robber Apologizes, Uses Clean Gag on Girl Cashier

Columbia City, Ind., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Two bandits robbed the Franklin Security company of $409 today. They bound and gagged Miss Marjorie Cusick, cashier, after apologizing to her. One of the robbers assured their victim the handkerchief he was using as a gag was clean and asked her to tell him if he drew it "too tight."

WIFE ASKS FREEDOM ON COFFEE GROUNDS; 40 CUPS OF EVIDENCE

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Whether the coffee habit is grounds for marriage annulment will soon be decided in Supreme court here.

Mrs. Frank Nowak says in her complaint that her husband's habit of drinking 30 to 40 cups of coffee daily has made him irrational. She added that six years ago he left her because she did not have his customary two pots of coffee ready for him when he came home from work.

"He acted like a wild man," she declared, "and tore the curtains from the windows and smashed furniture."

Alcock Orders Police to Remove Sirens from Bikes

Acting Police Commissioner Alcock yesterday ordered police to remove all sirens which they find on bicycles, following a complaint from Health Commissioner Bundesen. Dr. Bundesen said that some youthful bicyclists have sirens which sound so much like those used by the police and fire departments that they frequently cause motorists to pull to the curb, thinking a fire engine or squad car is speeding toward them.

CAPTURE YACHT CARRYING 2,000 CASES OF BOOZE

Crew, Girls Leap in Sea, but Are Seized.

Cape May, N. J., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—The 175 foot yacht Allegro cruised along sixty miles off the Cape May coast last night with a group of men and two women in yachting clothes lounging on deck.

Coast guard patrol boat 103, in charge of Chief Boatswains Mate A. J. Becker, approached the yacht and signaled it to stop, suspicious of the way it rode low in the water and mindful of reports of rum running yachts.

Instead of complying, bells jangled on the yacht and it swung about and put to sea, with the patrol boat following. Zigzagging back and forth, ignoring several rounds of blank shots, the yacht continued for three hours before the coast guard boat overhauled it after a chase of thirty-five miles.

Eighty-five Miles at Sea.

By that time the ships were eighty-five miles at sea, the yacht's engines were disabled and it was taken in tow, bound for the Cape May coast guard base.

As the ships neared the harbor line five men and the two women dove into the water and attempted to escape. A boat was lowered by the guardsmen and the fleeing prisoners were picked up from the water, except for one man, who was captured an hour later wandering about the salt marshes.

The coast guardsmen said they found 1,500 cases of assorted liquors, estimated as worth $120,000, on board the yacht. Nine men and two women were taken to the jail at Cape May to await arraignment before a federal commissioner in Camden tomorrow.

Two Are Recognized.

Commander William H. Shea of the coast guard base says the captain of the yacht was Charles Abbott, Philadelphia, and that one of the women was his wife.

The Allegro was built for the late James Elverson, publisher of the Philadelphia Inquirer, at a cost of $125,000. It was sold by his estate to Eugene F. McDonald of Chicago and sold by him to James V. Hamilton in New York last January. The present owner of the yacht is listed as C. E. Robbins of Philadelphia.

President of Lake Forest Cemetery Board Resigns

Albert M. Day of Stone Gate road, Lake Forest, a retired broker, resigned last night as president of the Lake Forest Cemetery commission because of his advanced age. He is 86 years old, and has served on the commission twenty-two years. Mr. Day's resignation was accepted, and it was voted to make him an honorary life member of the commission. Mayor A. D. Farwell, grandson of Mr. Day, appointed Farwell Winston to succeed Mr. Day as a member. The members will choose their own president.

RAID GAMBLING DEN FOR CAPONE TRIAL WITNESSES

Federal agents and police raided a purported Capone gambling house at 2132 South Michigan avenue last night searching for prospective witnesses in the trial of Al Capone on charges of income tax evasion, to be held late in September. Seventeen men were seized, including the manager, who gave his name as John Smith.

Pete Penovich, Cicero gambler, who was a defense witness in the trials of Jack Guzik and Ralph Capone for income tax evasion, and who testified before the grand jury which indicted Al Capone on a similar charge, was subpœnaed yesterday as a witness in the trial of Capone.

A subpœna will be issued shortly for Louis La Cava, former Cicero gambler, who has been in hiding since giving testimony against Guzik and Ralph Capone. Louis Alterie may also be subpœnaed.

Hotel Cashier Held Up as She Returns from Bank

Miss Irene Rouske, 26 years old, bookkeeper for the McCormick hotel, was robbed of $50 and two drafts totaling $1,525 yesterday as she returned from the Lake Shore Trust and Savings bank to be met by two bandits a few feet from the hotel entrance at Ontario and Rush streets.

RADIOS ON NEW HUNT FOR LINDY IN FAR NORTH

New York representative, and dispatches from Tokio indicated tonight.

News that the flyers, who landed at Khabarovsk, Eastern Siberia, at 3:50 p. m. [1:50 a. m. Chicago time], on a 950 mile flight through rain and fog from Chita, Siberia, had quit their effort, was corroborated in a message to Mrs. Herndon, the bride of one of the co-pilots.

Then came a dispatch from Tokio stating that a wing of their monoplane, damaged when they landed at Khabarovsk, had been repaired and that they would continue their flight by hopping for Nome, Alaska, as soon as high winds over the contemplated route had abated.

"Just Coming Home."

"They're just coming home," Mr. Lawn explained.

Upon their arrival at Khabarovsk, Pangborn and Herndon were utterly exhausted. They stumbled from the plane, but before leaving the field to go to bed ordered the damaged wing repaired at once, dispatches from Tokio said.

"The flight from Chita to Khabarovsk was the worst hop of all," the flyers are quoted as having said.

At Khabarovsk the flyers were 22 hours and 58 minutes behind the time of Post and Gatty, who circled the globe in eight and two-thirds days.

TOKIO FLIGHT FAILS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 3.—An attempted nonstop flight from Seattle, Wash., to Tokio by Reg L. Robbins and Harold S. Jones, Texas airmen, ended in failure today. The flyers were forced down at Fairbanks, Alaska, by stormy weather after spending 26 hours and 33 minutes in the air.

Their tri-motored refueling plane with which they had made a contact last night over Fairbanks and which followed the Seattle-Tokio monoplane Fort Worth over the Yukon valley on their way to the Bering sea was reported to have landed at Ruby, Alaska, today after being missing for several hours.

"We had to come back on account of the fog and clouds over the Yukon," Robbins said after landing. "We searched for the refueling plane, but couldn't find it."

Robbins and Jones cruised over Fairbanks for three hours trying to find a hole in the fog, finally landing at 7:35 a. m. [12:35 p. m. Chicago daylight time]. This is the second time the flyers have attempted to reach Tokio from Seattle in a single jump. Early in July they were forced to give up near Nome because of bad weather and difficulty in making final refueling contacts.

Refueling Plane Arrives.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Aug. 3.—(AP)—James Mattern and Nick Greener, piloting the refueling plane for the Robbins-Jones attempt to make a nonstop refueling flight from Seattle to Tokio, arrived here from Ruby, where they landed early today to refuel, at 3:15 p. m. [1:15 a. m. Tuesday, eastern standard time] tonight.

May Fly Back to United States.

ISTANBUL, Aug. 3.—(AP)—In a talk before the Turkish Aviation league's banquet tonight, John Polando, who with Russell Boardman, made a nonstop flight from New York to Istanbul last week, gave the first hint that the two American flyers would make at least part of their return journey to the United States by air. He said what really constituted a record in the minds of himself and Boardman, as Americans, was that they were able to "cross Paris without stopping," and added, "we are not even stopping there on our return trip."

TRUCK KILLS CHILD.

Streator, Ill., Aug. 3.—(AP)—A 3 year old daughter of Steve Mickios died today of injuries suffered last night when struck by a truck driven by Charles Yanello, 18.

NEW RADIO HUNT FOR LINDBERGHS

Heavy static in the Canadian wilds last night prevented reception of radio news of a 377 mile flight by Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh on their air voyage to Tokio. Friends in Ottawa presumed they had reached Baker Lake, a tiny Eskimo settlement, despite the absence of any reports.

The Lindberghs hopped from Churchill at 1:45 p. m. (Chicago time), and should have reached their destination between 6 and 7 p. m.

ONE NEW PUBLIC ENEMY IS PUSHED AROUND BY LAW

George Downs, newly proclaimed a public enemy, had his first experience under his new rating yesterday. He obtained a continuance until Aug. 7 on the charge of carrying a concealed weapon and walked from the court of Judge Francis Borrelli. As he reached the corridor a warrant charging him with vagrancy was served on him. His lawyer, Frank McDonnell, ran back to the bench.

"My client was dismissed on a charge of vagrancy a few months ago," McDonnell informed Judge Borrelli, "and under the statute he cannot again be arrested for the same charge for six months."

Judge Borrelli didn't rule on whether or not McDonnell's version of the law was right or wrong, but he merely fixed bail for Downs at $2,500 and Downs will face him again today.

FAMILY AWAY; HOME BURNS.

Fire early yesterday destroyed the small frame home of Oscar Peterson in the rear of 2748 North Nordica avenue, while he and his family were away on a vacation.

NEGRO IS TAKEN FROM JAIL AND SHOT TO DEATH

New Orleans, La., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Jailer L. T. Fontenelle, at Ponte-a-la-Hache, remote town 35 miles down the river from New Orleans, reported today that early Sunday a mob of masked white men had overpowered him and had lynched a Negro prisoner.

The Negro, Oscar Livingston, about 22 years old, was taken from the jail and carried down the highway 15 miles from Ponte-a-la-Hache, where his body was riddled with buckshot.

The jailer said the men went to his home, leveled shotguns at him, and forced the keys to the jail from him. They then went to the jail and took the prisoner out.

Fontenelle expressed surprise at the mob action, as he said there had been no rumors of violence. The Negro was charged with an assault upon a white girl living at Dalcour, La.

CHARGES FORCED MARRIAGE.

Antoinette Grozik, 15 years old, 4537 South Laflin street, told Judge Alfred O. Erickson yesterday that her father, John, and Angelos Sankes, 42 years old, forced her to marry Sankes, who has another wife. The judge is investigating the charge.

POLICE TO PROD SLOW DRIVERS WHO HOG ROADS

BY HAL FOUST.

Slow drivers who block traffic on the highways next week-end will be hailed by motorcycle policemen, according to announcements yesterday from Director Cleaveland of the Illinois department of public works and from Sheriff Meyering. A survey of Sunday's traffic from THE TRIBUNE road car showed that these lagging drivers not only prevent an efficient use of the public pavements but also constitute a serious menace to safety.

W. D. MEYERING. [Walings Photo.]

"I'll consult with Chief Moody of the state highway police tomorrow and have some motorcycle men on the job in the metropolitan area during the remaining week-ends of this touring season," said Director Cleaveland, who is Chief Moody's boss.

Will Instruct Drivers.

"On the forty foot roads during rush hours," he continued, "the slow drivers found in the center lanes will be stopped and instructed in the proper manner of driving on a four lane highway, staying in the outside lane except when passing.

"On the busy twenty foot roads, where traffic in both directions is so heavy that it's dangerous to try to overtake and pass an automobile, the slow drivers will receive orders from policemen to keep up with the car ahead. Trucks that cannot travel with the average speed of traffic will receive orders to pull off the highway occassionally to allow the string of passenger cars in the rear to pass.

"I don't think it will be necessary to make any arrests unless it's for refusal to obey a policeman's instructions. There isn't one man or woman in a thousand who does not want to do the right thing in traffic, when to do the wrong thing jeopardizes lives. Slow drivers hog the road through ignorance or inattention, not through any malice."

Meyering Tells Attitude.

Sheriff Meyering said he will issue similar orders to the Cook county highway police.

"Unlike the Indiana motor vehicle law," said the sheriff, "the Illinois code does not specifically define excessively slow driving as criminal recklessness. Yet the Illinois law prohibits driving in such a manner as to endanger the lives or property of others. And lagging behind in heavy traffic, forcing others to cut around to maintain a reasonable traveling speed, does endanger the lives and property of others.

"The county hasn't many motorcycle policemen, but we'll have all of them ride in the Sunday rush hours trying to educate the slow driving type of road hog."

FOUR LANE BRIDGE READY THIS FALL ON MILWAUKEE AVENUE

The two lane Milwaukee avenue bridge over the Chicago and North Western railroad, west of Glenview, will be retained in service through the Labor day traffic rush. Then, according to an announcement from the state highway department yesterday, it will be wrecked, to be replaced with a wider structure accommodating the four lanes of automobiles that travel the forty foot road. The improvement, removing a dangerous bottle neck, is to be completed this fall.

The Chicago and North Western railroad, since learning two weeks ago that the state was ready to proceed with the project, has already sunk some piles for the new span, according to C. H. Perry, divisional engineer for the railroad, and will resume work on the substructure on Aug. 15.

Couldn't make a hit with the girls

...until he ended 'B. O.' (Body Odor)

PEGGY danced with him—just once! Afterwards—polite excuses. Yet he was attractive, agreeable, a fine dancer. A perfect partner—but for one thing!

ELIZABETH went with him to the movies, thrilled by his good looks. But in the close, warm theatre the thrill vanished. And there were no more dates.

ANN was delighted to have him call—but still more delighted to see him go. And she always had "another date" when he suggested coming again.

Today it's another story...

EDISON IS WELL ENOUGH TO READ HOW ILL HE WAS Insists He's "Too Busy" to Be Sick.

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Thomas A. Edison, 84 and suffering from three serious diseases which brought about his collapse Saturday, was sufficiently recovered today to walk into the library which adjoins his electrically cooled bedroom and read the newspaper accounts of his illness.

The inventor's display of unexpected vigor and recuperative power was in line with his announced determination to recover enough strength to go back to his work in spite of the attack of diabetes, Bright's disease, and stomach ulcers.

"Too Busy" to Die Now.

Mr. Edison has insisted that he has too many things to do to surrender to his infirmities now, and after witnessing his patient's fight for recovery, Dr. Hubert S. Howe acknowledged that the inventor stood a good chance of being able to return to the laboratories where he has worked his wonders.

The family's opinion was expressed by Mrs. Theodore Edison, daughter-in-law of the inventor, who said:

"He has always recovered from his other attacks, and if he gets better I believe he will return to his work."

The announcement that Mr. Edison had left his sick room followed a bulletin by Dr. Howe, who flew from Long Island to New Jersey when word came from Mr. Edison's home in Llewellyn Park of the inventor's collapse, revealing that the patient had spent a good night, sleeping seven hours.

"Mr. Edison is in an astoundingly good frame of mind and wanted to smoke a cigar this morning," the doctor said with a smile. The cigar was forbidden, however.

Charles Edison supplemented the doctor's statement with the information that his father was "in good spirits and feeling very chipper today."

CHARLES BOYD CURTIS. [Harris & Ewing.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Two new appointments in the American foreign service were announced by President Hoover today following his return from a week-end trip to his fishing camp on the Rapidan river.

Charles Boyd Curtis of New York was named minister to El Salvador and will go there from the Dominican Republic where he now holds a similar diplomatic position. The vacancy created by the transfer of Mr. Curtis was filled by the appointment of Hans Frederick Arthur Schoenfeld of Providence, R. I., to be minister to the Dominican Republic.

Convicts Will Be Let Out of Stateville Cells Today

Prisoners in the Stateville penitentiary will resume their normal activities today after having been locked in their cells for two weeks while guards searched the prison for bombs and weapons, Warden H. C. Hill said last night. All privileges, including that of receiving visitors, will be restored. The men were locked up after the warden received information that the prisoners were plotting to resume the riots of last spring.

RICH ST. LOUIS MAN FIGHTS OFF TWO KIDNAPERS

Severely Beaten in Resisting Abductors.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Oscar Johnson II., 26, son of the late Oscar Johnson, one of the founders of the International Shoe company, was robbed and severely beaten this afternoon by two men who, St. Louis county authorities said, attempted to kidnap him. Johnson was attacked near the estate of his mother, Mrs. Irene Johnson, at St. Albans, Franklin county.

"There's no doubt it was an attempted kidnaping," Sheriff Alfred Lill of St. Louis county said. "He put up such a vigorous fight that they let him go."

Johnson was brought to Barnes hospital here, suffering from severe scalp wounds, a deep laceration of the lip and two loosened teeth.

The attempt to kidnap Johnson, Sheriff Lill said, resembled in general details the kidnaping several months ago of Dr. Isaac D. Kelley, wealthy and socially prominent physician, and the earlier kidnaping of Adolphus Busch Orthwein, grandson of August Busch, the brewer.

Shortly after the attack St. Louis county officers arrested two men, one of whom, Sheriff Lill said, Johnson positively identified. Johnson was "a little doubtful" about the other, the sheriff said.

Johnson had just left his mother's 17,000 acre estate for St. Louis when two men stepped from opposite sides of the road and approached. One was armed with a sawed-off shotgun and the other carried a revolver. Pointing the weapons at Johnson, they ordered him to stop, and entered his car, forcing the young capitalist to sit between them.

Johnson resisted an attempt to put goggles on him and began to struggle as one of the assailants took the wheel and drove away. A short distance down the road Johnson kicked vigorously at the dashboard, breaking the ignition key and stopping the car.

In a struggle that followed, Johnson was dragged into a cornfield. The assailants struck him with their weapons and hit him in the face with their fists. From the cornfield the men dragged Johnson into a clump of woods, where they left him, after taking what money he had, not more than $10. Bleeding and dazed, Johnson made his way to a nearby farm home.

WAVE OF HOME BREWING SWEEPS VOLSTEADLAND

Beer Making Is Gaining, Malt Sales Show.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Home brewing, if the sales of malt and hops are an index, appears to be growing in 1931 as a kitchen art and a domestic science.

Although the Volstead act has not extended to cereal beverages its kindly hand has stretched to the 15 per cent vinous products of the California grape industry, client of Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, the former "demon padlocker," the market indicates more beer is being made at home this season than ever since prohibition went in.

Blame Business Depression.

1. The battle of George E. Q. Johnson, U. S. district attorney against Capone and other gangsters, and the consequent weakening of the beer gang rackets, incidentally diverting the attention of some customers to the possibilities of home brew.

2. The business depression, and a swing towards the old "fireside companion" which experts say is produced in kitchens for 3 to 5 cents a bottle.

3. Radio talks which in recent weeks have set forth that Amos W. W. Woodcock, national prohibition director, takes the view that the government is not interested against the family man who produces "Heimgemacht" for home use, and that the government is not molesting him against his constitutional rights.

Politicians Make Own Beer.

In the Sherman lobby yesterday two leading politicians said they recently had started to make their own beer. Although an amateurish product, they preferred it to speakeasy beer, generally "needled," or bona fide Canadian lager, which oftener than not is made in Detroit. Besides, they pointed to the difference in cost. A quart can of malt sirup, they figured, at 50 or 60 cents, a little sugar and yeast and hops and five gallons of water, and at a cost of a dollar or so the kitchen was stocked with five gallons of beer.

Wort has come into prominence in recent times. It is the infusion of hops, beer in its unfermented state. In its relation to cereal beverage it is, in a way, what unfermented grape juice is to wine.

Puzzled About Wort.

Before Volstead, however, it stands on a far different plane. At the federal building the authorities are somewhat at a loss to place it. The wort is not fermented and has no alcohol, so it is not in conflict with the 18th amendment. Unlike hops, malt, yeast, and sugar, however, which are bought for cooking purposes, the wort, according to the federal authorities, is apparently good for only one thing, the making of beer. Claims are made it has other possible uses, which for the present raises the safety element of doubt, for the other "makings" of home brew get by on the assumption they are bought for other purposes than beer.

Maltsters Frown on Wort.

Wort is frowned on by the manufacturers of malt sirup, who in marketing their wares advertise them solely as a health food. They distribute booklets of recipes for the use of malt sirup in kitchen dishes ranging from doughnuts and cream puffs to spaghetti souffle and Scotch soup.

Trade experts say one reason for the great increase in consumption of malt concentrates is due to their use in ordinary cooking, in fountain drinks, and medicinal tonics. Competition is strong between the manufacturers, and at present there is a trade battle between one concern in St. Louis and another in Peoria, which is ramifying into groceries and chain stores all over the town.

As between California high potency [12 to 15 per cent] grape "juices" and home brew, the Volstead law to some of the enforcement officials themselves looks like "Alice in Wonderland." If a customer goes into a supplies shop and says, "I want some malt sirup to make beer," the clerk is under general instructions to shoo him away. All the materials are sold for some other purpose.

To keep Volsteadism from looking crosseyed, the customer buys his malt as doughnut sirup, his sugar for sweetening, his yeast for bread making, his hops for meat dressing or something. This keeps him a dry in the eyes of the dry law.

The rest is a matter of organization, the proper grouping of the ingredients. Proximity and nature do the rest.

At the federal building, the prevailing attitude is that home brew is illegal but the government has no legal way of stopping it without pushing over the bill of rights. One sentence in the Volstead law is getting attention: "No search warrant shall issue to search any private dwelling occupied as such unless it is being used for the unlawful sale of intoxicating liquor."

As to section 29, made famous by Mrs. Willebrandt, it allows "unintoxicating cider and fruit juices" for exclusive home use, but makes no mention of cereal beverages. Thus, it is pointed out, if there should be an action concerning wines made at home from California grape "juices," the government would have to prove them "intoxicating." The question of whether they contain more than ½ of 1 per cent would not enter, the issue would be whether they are "nonintoxicating."

On the other hand, if it were a case against home brew, the ½ of 1 per cent restriction would apply. The theory apparently was that in the case of California grape "juices" nature knows no ½ of 1 per cent, and that a housewife bent on making innocent vinegar might prove, technically, a hardened malefactor, if the juice turned into wine instead.

City Sealer Joe Grein and J. Pahls, from whom the government seized $50,000 of malt sirup, on a warrant which Judge Carpenter sometime ago held was improperly issued, are centers in a case which the trade regards as pivotal.

They contend that all goods are sold within the letter of the Volstead act, and they point to a notice posted by Grein in 1922 in the shop at 210 West Madison street, that any employé who furnishes recipes or give information relating to the making of alcoholic beverages will be subject to immediate discharge.

As to hops, a necessary ingredient in the beer, some experts point out that most of America's hops come from California, Washington, and Oregon, and that the department of agriculture is working to aid that industry in various ways.

Some suggest that if California's hop industry were given an even break with California's wine grape industry, it might make possible the advent of the peripatetic brewer, the expert who would travel kitchen to kitchen taking the burden of home brewing off the shoulders of the housewife or the man of the family, like the vintner who bottles the grape "juice" after sixty days of nature. It has been done in Montana and Michigan.

$25,000 STOLEN FROM MAIL BAG ON MAURETANIA

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—A package containing $25,000 in currency consigned to the New York branch of the Royal Bank of Canada was missing from a mail pouch which arrived in New York on board the Cunarder Mauretania from Nassau, Bahamas, on June 8, it was disclosed today. The seals on the pouch were unbroken when it was delivered to postal authorities here and there was no external evidence of tampering.

However, when the pouch was opened an inner pouch was found to have been slit and another smaller leather bag inside also had been cut open. The package of money was the only piece of mail missing, it was understood.

SELL WINE BRICKS LIKE HOT CAKES IN N. Y. STORE

Dry Agents Do Not Even Sniff at Packages.

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Persisting New Yorkers carried home gallons of potential wine in bricks today and the prohibition agents did not so much as sniff at the packages under the arms of the purchasers.

The distributors of the potential wine maintain a store on 8th avenue, near 29th street. They were selling bricks at 11 o'clock today as fast as they could be handed out.

ANDREW McCAMPBELL. (C) Harris & Ewing Photo.]

The store was jammed with eager purchasers. The cash register rang constantly. The crowds lined the sidewalk outside, cluttered the streets, and held up traffic. Some were just curious, others were there to buy.

Dry Chief Shrugs Shoulders.

The store is selling the bricks of concentrated grape juices. A brick, if kept in water for a certain length of time, will make a gallon of wine. Informed that this company was selling "wine bricks" like hot cakes, Prohibition Administrator Andrew McCampbell, in charge of dry enforcement in this district, shrugged his shoulders and said:

"If it can be proved that they are being sold for the purpose of making wine it is a violation of the law; otherwise we can do nothing."

Sponsors Are Gleeful.

Sponsors of the product are gleeful, for they contend that Mr. McCampbell nor any one else can do anything about it. The manager of the 8th avenue concern said:

"We are not selling the bricks for the purpose of making wine, and no one can prove that we are. Yes, we are doing a good business, particularly today. We expect to sell a carload of bricks a month. There are 1,200 cases in a carload, twenty-four bricks to a case. That would be $48,000 a month. We expect to do that much business."

Skirt Prohibition Law.

The sellers skirt the prohibition law by stating on the packages:

"This beverage should be consumed within five days, otherwise, and in summer temperature, it might ferment and become wine."

It was denied that Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, formerly assistant attorney general in charge of prohibition enforcement, is the person who suggested this business in brick. She is, however, attorney for a firm in a similar line of business.

REPORT LEGS DIAMOND DICKERING WITH U. S. FOR A LIGHT SENTENCE

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Jack [Legs] Diamond may be dickering with the federal authorities for a deal such as Al Capone made in Chicago—to exchange a plea of guilty to a charge of conspiracy against the prohibition law for a light or moderate sentence.

"LEGS" DIAMOND.

Capone's "deal" fell through at the last minute, but the rumor about Diamond gains strength today after the gangster's lawyers held numerous conferences with Diamond, with Assistant United States Attorney Arthur Schwartz and Federal Judge Richard J. Hopkins. Diamond's case was called in court during the morning and set for trial tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

FIND CAPTURED CONVICTS ARMED; SEE DEATH PLOT

Large hunting knives were found suspended by cords about the necks of two convicts as they were about to begin a two day automobile journey yesterday back to the penitentiary at Milledgeville, Ga., under guard of two men. The discovery was made in the lockup adjoining Acting Chief Justice Joseph Sabath's Criminal courtroom, where the convicts who were captured here after their escape from Georgia authorities, had waived extradition.

The prisoners are Leland Harvey, 26 years old, and J. B. Rowland, 25 years old. They escaped from a chain gang two weeks ago by lining up two guards and 53 prisoners with a dummy gun. They fled to Chicago, where they were captured two hours after their arrival after they had held up Roy E. Williams, 7644 South Michigan avenue.

Officials expressed the belief the prisoners were planning to escape during the journey by stabbing their guards.

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED IN CUBA; RIOTS CONTINUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, Aug. 3.—Riots and attacks on street cars manned by strike breakers occurred today as the Havana Electric Railway company tried to operate its cars with inexperienced men. Two cars were set on fire and two cars were derailed. Shots were also fired from ambush at several street cars in the capital's suburbs.

Conductors and motormen today ratified a decision not to accept any compromise except full restoration of former wages. Señor Herrera, secretary to President Machado, conferred over long distance telephone with the chief executive at the Varadero summer resort and suggested that some high government official be appointed mediator.

All labor activities throughout the island, including the Spanish press, will stop at midnight tonight in a 24 hour strike as a protest against organized capital, alleged American imperialism and the "dollar" policy of the United States. All police and military forces were mobilized and called to quarters today. Special police tonight are guarding government offices, the American embassy and all foreign diplomatic headquarters.

Loses 16 Pounds of Fat---Eats as Usual

Fat Folks—Here's More Proof—One Bottle of Kruschen Salts and Sixteen Pounds Gone—Eats As Usual—Sleeps Better—Costs 85 Cents

Modern Science now makes it possible for you to easily and what's best, to SAFELY obtain a bewitchingly lithe, free-from-fat figure and actually enjoy exhilarated health and increase your attractiveness while doing so—

Simply take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—you can hasten the reducing action of Kruschen by going lighter on potatoes, fatty meats and pastries.

Mrs. Ethel Smith of Norwich, Conn., writes: "I lost 16 lbs. with my first bottle of Kruschen. I feel so good in many ways. Being on night duty it was hard to sleep days but now since I am taking Kruschen I sleep plenty, eat as usual and lose fat, too. I have told 2 of my friends about Kruschen and they find it as I do."

Unlike other salts, Kruschen doesn't aim to reduce by rushing food thru the system—rather it's a superbly blended combination of SIX separate mineral salts which help glands, nerves and body organs to function properly—it drives poisons and harmful acid from the body—Kruschen strikes at the usual CAUSE of fat—that's why it's so amazingly successful in cases where everything else has failed!

If this first bottle doesn't convince you this is the easiest, safest and surest way to lose fat—if you don't feel a superb improvement in health—so gloriously energetic—vigorously alive—your money gladly returned. W. J. CUMMINGS BUYS 3 INSULL GROUP COMPANIES

Walter J. Cummings has purchased from the Midland United company, an Insull holding corporation, the Calumet Railways company, the Shore Line Motor Coach company, and the Midwest Coach company, according to an announcement made yesterday. The price was not disclosed.

W. J. CUMMINGS. [Koehne Photo.]

These companies supply local street car and bus service in Hammond, Indiana Harbor, East Chicago, and Whiting, and through service from Gary to 63d street in Chicago on both cars and buses. These are to be merged into the Chicago and Calumet District Transit company, with Mr. Cummings as president.

Heads Transit Companies.

Mr. Cummings is president of the Chicago and West Town Railway company, president of the Cummings Car and Coach company, chairman of the directorate of the Des Moines Railway company, director and vice president of the J. S. Brill company and president of the Des Moines and Central railroad.

It was announced that the properties will be rehabilitated and much of the street car tracks supplanted by trackless trolleys.

"We have the utmost confidence in the future of the Calumet district," said Mr. Cummings. "We shall try to give the people of the territory the best possible transportation system that can be worked out."

Signs Final Transit Order.

The final order in the quo warranto proceedings on Chicago's local transportation plan was signed yesterday by Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski of the Circuit court. In this order he upheld the validity of the enabling legislation, the subsequent franchise ordinance, and the formation of a new company to consolidate and improve the transportation facilities of the city.

The case will be appealed to the state Supreme court, according to the understanding reached before the local court contest was started.

Miss Delander won her title in 1927 over a field of more than seventy beauties. She went on the stage for a while and then returned to high school. Miss Delander now is 20 years old.

BRANCH BANKING PLAN OPPOSED BY ILLINOIS BANKERS

Rawson Proposal Draws Fire of Association.

The contention of Frederick H. Rawson, chairman of the First National Bank of Chicago, that branch banking offers a solution for recent bank failures, drew a challenge yesterday from the Illinois Bankers' association. In the curent issue of a national magazine Mr. Rawson recommended a change in the existing laws to permit branch banking in restricted metropolitan districts.

"Organized banking in this state, as represented by the Illinois Bankers' association, is opposed to any system of branch banking," is the retort of Paul S. Abt, president of the association and vice president of the Southern Illinois National Bank of East St. Louis.

Favors Better Supervision.

"Notwithstanding some recent publicity on this subject, we do not believe that branch banking by itself will insure depositors' security," he declared. "On the other hand, better management and supervision by governmental authority will make for safe and sound banks.

"Just because some institutions have not stood the test during these times of stress it does not seem justifiable to destroy the business of those who have weathered the storm by permitting branches of a large bank to be placed in competition with them. Well managed and efficiently operated local banks will serve a community in a manner not to be equaled by any centrally controlled branch banking group."

Recognizing the need of more stringent banking supervision the Illinois Bankers' association is drafting a legislative program intended to fulfill this purpose, Mr. Abt said.

"It is essential that state and national bank supervision be strengthened, that charters for new banks be granted only where public convenience and necessity demand them, and that the authorities have the power to remove incompetent officials," Mr. Abt declared.

"We propose to submit to the next general assembly certain amendments to the statutes which will provide for a state banking department, separate from the office of the auditor of public accounts and free from all possible political entanglements.

"Our committee on legislation is charged with the task of preparing the amendments. To augment this legislative effort we are also seeking to have the banks associate themselves in small organizations for mutual assistance and coöperation and, at the same time, to provide a supervisory service to supplement governmental examinations."

Auditor Is Skeptical.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson, whose office would relinquish its banking supervision under the proposal of the bankers' association, expressed himself skeptical of the plan.

"Illinois is the only state in which the public official charged with state banking supervision is elected by the people," he pointed out. "Under the association's plan I assume a banking commissioner would supersede the state auditor. In lieu of his election by the people there are two alternatives—his appointment by the governor or by the bankers themselves. In the one case the banks become involved in statehouse politics; in the other they become involved in the politics of banking circles."

FALLS 1,600 FEET TRAPPED IN PLANE BUT LANDS O. K.

Imlay City, Mich., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Frederick Postal, 19, of Highland Park, Mich., fell 1,600 feet yesterday trapped in the cockpit of a biplane which had a broken wing, but escaped in time to break his fall with a parachute. He landed with only minor bruises.

About 400 feet from the ground, he managed to leap from the plane. He was falling, however, in the airplane's line of descent and did not dare open his 'chute until he was within 300 feet of the earth.

The plane finally landed 15 feet from where he came to earth.

2 CLOSED BANKS TO PAY DIVIDEND; HOPE TO OPEN 3D

Receivers Named for Two State Institutions.

Announcements were made yesterday that substantial dividends would be paid shortly to the depositors of two closed national banks and that plans were under way for the reorganization of a third national bank. In the case of a fourth, the Washington Park National Bank and Trust company of 6306 Cottage Grove avenue, a previous announcement has been made that the controller of currency has approved a program for its reorganization.

The banks which will pay dividends are the First National Bank of Oak Park and the Austin National bank, both of which were closed March 30. The bank which may reopen is the Inland-Irving National bank, closed June 8.

James Bereth, receiver for the First National Bank of Oak Park, will be ready to pay a dividend of around 30 per cent within sixty days, it was stated. At a meeting with depositors held recently, he announced that the affairs of the bank are in good shape and that he expects to pay more dividends shortly after he has sent out checks for the first one.

$375,000 for Dividends.

W. J. Pufahl, receiver for the Austin National bank, stated yesterday that he will pay a first dividend of 20 per cent, totaling about $375,000, on or shortly after Sept. 1 and that further dividends will be forthcoming soon after that.

Plans for reopening the Inland-Irving bank, 4717 Irving Park boulevard, are in the hands of a reorganization committee headed by William L. Runzel and including R. N. Ballou, Oscar E. Carlson, Dr. Theodore Bacmeister Jr., Charles E. Ummach, former president; Peter H. Cleven, former vice president, and Charles O. Loucks. The bank was formed through a merger on Feb. 16 of the Irving Park National bank, Inland Trust and Savings bank, and the Portage Park National Bank of Chicago. When closed its capital was $525,000, surplus $120,000 and deposits $4,100,000.

Mr. Cleven said that if the plan submitted to the controller of currency at Washington, D. C., is approved the bank will be reopened by Oct. 1. Stockholders of the bank have approved the plan which also has the endorsement of 250 business men in the neighborhood.

Two Receivers Named.

State Auditor Oscar Nelson announced the appointment of two more receivers yesterday. George W. Reinecke, real estate dealer and husband of Mabel Reinecke, former collector of internal revenue, was named receiver for the Roseland State Savings bank, 11431 South Michigan avenue, which closed July 6 with resources of $2,408,000 and deposits of $1,903,000. Luther D. Swanstrom was named attorney.

William Busse Jr., president of the Mount Prospect State bank, was made received for the Des Plaines State bank which closed June 13 with resources of $1,804,000 and deposits of $1,368,000. Edwin D. Lawlor was named attorney.

Acting Chief Justice Joseph Sabath in impaneling the August grand jury yesterday directed the members to continue the investigation started by the July grand jury into the banking situation.

KEEPS HAIR

A handful of hair, which she pulled from the head of a woman whom she found in her home when she returned unexpectedly from a vacation, will be part of the evidence presented in her case, Mrs. Mildred Straka, 22 years old, 2428 South Avers avenue, declared in a bill for divorce filed yesterday in the Circuit court by Attorney Harry X. Cole.

The woman, Mrs. Straka's bill explains, was in the company of a married man, a friend of her husband. The couple told her before she ejected them that her husband was in a nearby apartment with another woman, she charges.

Mrs. Straka charges her husband, Charles F. Straka, with adultery. He wrote love notes on the backs of blank checks to a woman employé in the bank where he is a teller, she charges.

MATE ON ROYAL YACHT DROWNS AS KING WATCHES

LONDON, Aug. 3.—Flags on all yachts off Cowes, Isle of Wight, where King George and Queen Mary are living during the racing season, were at half mast this afternoon following the death of Ernest Friend, 40, second mate on the king's yacht, Britannia, who was drowned after being swept overboard.

The harbor was thrown into confusion and the day's racing was called off. King George and the earl of Jellicoe were aboard the Britannia at the time, and Queen Mary was a witness to the tragedy from the deck of the royal steam yacht Victoria and Albert, which was moored nearby.

Thousands of vacationists enjoying the bank holiday lined the rails as the racing yachts sped toward the starting line, and most of them were watching the yacht on which the king was to race.

As the mate was thrown overboard, a life buoy was thrown out and dingies were lowered from the Britannia and other yachts, including Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock. Friend's body disappeared before they reached the spot. The officer was married and the father of four children.

Lady Hulton and Vice Admiral Francis Mitchell and a mechanic were injured in the explosion of a motor boat at Cowes today, while on their way to pay a visit to Gordon Selfridge's yacht.

ROBBERS INVADE HOME, BIND MAN AND TWO WOMEN

Two bandits entered the home of Mrs. Lillian Head, 10559 South Seeley avenue, while she was shopping yesterday afternoon, bound two guests, awaited her return, and took jewelry valued at $150. The robbers fled after binding Mrs. Head and searching for $25,000 in jewelry which they believed was in the home.

The bandits gained entrance by asking to use the telephone. Miss Susie Paurk and Wilbur Carlson, both of Florida, who are visiting at the Head home, were bound and compelled to lie on the floor of the bathroom. The robbers sat in the living room of the home awaiting the return of Mrs. Head, wife of Allen E. Head, president of the Wheeler Office Furniture company. When she returned she also was bound.

GERMAN LOAN TO BE EXTENDED BY THE WORLD BANK

Urges Powers to Follow Financial Move.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BASEL, Switzerland, Aug. 3.—The board of governors of the Bank for International Settlements today decided to extend its one-fourth share of the $100,000,000 loan to Germany for a maximum of three months beyond the date it falls due, Aug. 5. The board of directors this afternoon cabled the three other participants in the loan, the American Federal Reserve bank, the Bank of France and Bank of England, informing them of its action, which is conditioned upon their similar action.

It was learned today that the Bank of France has already informally indicated its willingness to extend the loan. The action of the Bank of England, however, due to its need for every possible bit of credit, is slightly doubtful, although the suggestion for extension of the loan had the Bank of England's approval at the London conference. The British reply is not expected before tomorrow, since today is a bank holiday in England.

The monthly report of the international bank for July was presented to the board today. It shows a reduction in deposits of $29,600,000 compared to the previous month. The total for July was $326,400,000.

The decrease, which represents a drop of nine per cent in 9 days, is partly due to the cessation of German payments under the Hoover moratorium. About $32,000,000 monthly passed through the world bank under the Young plan. These payments, although only made through the world bank as a transfer agency, in part remain in its treasury.

Affects England and Germany.

This decrease also affects the general financial unrest in Europe, particularly in England and Germany. Money kept on deposit in the world bank by member banks has been reduced by some of them, which have been compelled to sell foreign exchange in order to meet withdrawals of capital from various European markets. These losses, however, have been offset in part by new deposits from member banks to whose markets capital has returned.

PROTEST MONEY DECREE

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—The cabinet is meeting tonight to deal with the storm of protests which poured in after the publication of an eleven page decree regulating the traffic of foreign currency, which business men, especially exporters, denounce as an "unbearable fetter on trade."

Nobody is allowed to leave the country with more than 3,000 marks ($750), according to the decree, but the government does not know who will do the controlling on the border, since it realizes that the present force of customs men cannot carry out the drastic orders.

The cabinet is also debating a plan for the "compulsory mortgage" of all houses in Germany, doing away with the present rent tax, reducing rents about 15 per cent, and at the same time giving the state the benefit of part interest in the mortgage. Officials believe that it will be possible to sell these mortgages abroad and thus provide the government with the equivalent of a loan.

Plan Sale of U. S. Cotton.

Ambassador Frederic M. Sackett of the United States is negotiating directly with the German ministry of economics regarding the possibility of selling Germany American cotton and wheat on two years' credit, and also endeavoring to reach an agreement by which American cotton mills would be protected from German competition if the plan succeeds.

Leaders of the German textile industry have been called to Berlin to join in the negotiations. Last year when cotton was more expensive Germany imported $101,000,000 worth of American cotton. Her total purchases of cotton amounted to $137,000,000.

U. S. Banks Study Plan.

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Prospects of reaching an agreement on the subject of German short term credits in time for the scheduled reopening of the German banks Wednesday appeared slight today, as the group of New York bankers delegated to study the subject continued to wrestle with the technical details of the problem. The group met in the forenoon at the federal reserve bank and continued their deliberations until 5 p. m., when representatives of all the banks were called in for a general meeting.

It is believed that the bankers here would like to see measures adopted looking toward the payment of acceptance credits, based on actual commercial transactions, on maturity. In the case of short term loans to banks and municipalities, not of the "self-liquidating" type, arrangements for temporary "freezing" over a specified period could be made.

IF YOU SMOKE A LOT

TRY THIS

ON your tongue there are thousands upon thousands of sensitive taste-buds, clustered in tiny groups, known to science as papillae.

It is these delicate taste-buds that give flavor, enjoyment to your cigarette — and to your food.

If at times your smoke lacks zest, don't blame it on your brand. It is probable that your papillae aren't working up to par.

And that's often the reason, too, why there's no savor in your food.

Care for your taste-buds, your papillae. Care for them by avoiding dry mouth, a condition of recognized prevalence. Keep the tongue moist and well lubricated.

If you enjoy smoking a lot—and who doesn't!—chew Wrigley's frequently. Wrigley's between smokes, by stimulating a free flow of saliva, keeps the taste-buds moist and fresh and definitely relieves dry mouth. Thus, scientists say, the sensation of taste is intensified.

If you'd like more enjoyment of your cigarette and your food, keener appetite and better digestion, chew Wrigley's regularly between smokes and between meals.

At the cigar stand, take your change in Wrigley's.

BANDIT TURNS HIS HEAD, STORE OWNER KILLS HIM

Giant Postal Clerk Slain in Another Robbery.

CRIMINAL COURT.
Lawrence Miller, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry B. Miller.

A bandit who turned his back for an instant was shot to death late last night by one of his intended victims.

The shooting was the third involved in robberies during the day, two bandit victims being slain. John Martin, manager of a meat market at 213 East 47th street, was slain by one of two Negro robbers. Carl Rehfeldt, 30 years old, 719 Oakdale avenue, a postal clerk, was fatally wounded after he knocked out the leader of three gunmen who invaded the poolroom at 513 West Van Buren street.

Looks Away, Is Slain.

The bandit killed last night fell before the aim of Dan Guskos, 2431 North California avenue. Dan and his cousin, Tony Guskos, were about to close their vegetable store at 2538 Fullerton avenue when two armed men entered. The man covering Dan failed to notice Tony at first. When he did he turned, taking his gun off Dan. The turn was for an instant, but it was enough for Dan. The storekeeper slipped out a revolver from his apron and fired five times into the bandit's back, killing him. The accomplice fled. The slain robber carried papers bearing the name of John H. Donovan, with addresses in Milwaukee avenue and Washington boulevard.

In the poolroom shooting the bandits lined up a dozen men who were playing cards.

Fells Bandit with Fist.

All of the men, including Rehfeldt and the proprietor, Edward McInerney, obeyed promptly. The leader took $50 from McInerney and began searching the line of men. Rehfeldt stands 6 feet 7 inches in his stockings. Before the bandit could reach in his pocket Rehfeldt swung a huge fist against the robber's jaw.

The bandit dropped. The postal clerk leaped over the prostrate body and charged the two bandits, standing on guard over the line. As they tussled the leader regained consciousness, raised himself on his elbow, and fired a bullet into Rehfeldt's abdomen.

The leader was dragged to his feet by his companions. The robbers fled. Police were told the bandits obtained $250 from the card players. Rehfeldt was taken to the county hospital, where he died last night.

ON TRIAL

DAVID H. CLARK.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 3.—(AP)—David H. Clark, former deputy district attorney, who received more than 60,000 votes for Municipal judge while he was in jail charged with a double murder, faced a crowded courtroom calmly today as his trial opened in one of the slayings, that of Herbert P. Spencer.

Superior Judge Stanley Murray of Madera county was selected by presiding Judge William Doran to try the case. Eight women and four men were tentatively seated in the jury box as Special Prosecutor Joseph Ford read the charge accusing Clark of the murder of Spencer, a former newspaper man.

Spencer and Charles Crawford, wealthy political boss, were found slain in Crawford's office in Hollywood last May 20. Ford said the state is prepared to try Clark separately in the Crawford death.

TEAR BOMB SET OFF AS MYRTLE WAITS IN COURT

Tears flowed freely yesterday as Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blackledge and her neighbor, Mrs. Cora Rowe, waited for three hours in the South Chicago court for the disorderly conduct case against Mrs. Blackledge to be called. But the tears were shed neither by complaining witness nor by the defendant, who formerly was collector of internal revenue. They were shed by court attachés, and they were caused by the explosion of a tear bomb in the corridor which was set off by a person or persons unknown.

When order was restored, Mrs. Blackledge requested, and was granted, a continuance of the case until noon Friday, in order to obtain witnesses to substantiate her assertions that the parties held in her flat were never unseemly loud, as Mrs. Rowe alleges. Both women's attorneys were present. Mrs. Blackledge being represented by George Callaghan, and Mrs. Rowe, who declared herself ready to proceed with the case, by Homer Andreas.

Mrs. Rowe occupies the flat under that of Mrs. Blackledge at 940 East 82d street. Last Thursday she went before Judge Matthew D. Hartigan in the Felony court and swore out a complaint against Mrs. Blackledge on the grounds that other occupants of the building were being disturbed almost nightly by the loud noises emanating from the Blackledge apartment until far into the morning.

On Saturday it was discovered that the warrant had not been served because it was not properly signed, so Mrs. Rowe obtained a second from Judge John J. Lupe, which was served by Burnside police.

The defendant, whose political career ended last January after Edward R. Litsinger of the board of review lost $50,000 in a faro game at Springfield which she attended, denied that her guests had stayed later than 2 o'clock in the morning. Her parties were given only when she entertained for one of her two bridge clubs, she declared, and she was unable to understand the proceedings against her.

In court yesterday she appeared in an attractive orchid ensemble, with a white fox fur about her shoulders. Mrs. Rowe wore a sleeveless suit of black and a floppy Panama hat which she used to foil photographers.

HOLD CABARET GIRL IN JAIL FOR SLAYING MATE

Mrs. Bernice O'Connor, 24 years old, cigaret girl in a north side cabaret, who shot and killed her divorced husband, Edward J. O'Connor, early Friday morning when he forced his way into her apartment at 4330 Lake Park avenue, was held without bail yesterday at the county jail. Her case was continued until Aug. 10 by Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court to allow Assistant State's Attorney Johnson more time for investigation.

When told by Judge Rooney that she would be held without bail Mrs. O'Connor became hysterical. "Why don't they let me go? I didn't murder him," she sobbed.

The young woman had been held at the Hyde Park station since Friday, although a coroner's jury exonerated her.

Fishpole Hidden; He Hits Wife; Gets $10 and Costs

Alfred Sock, 4715 South Paulina street, wanted to go fishing on his day off Saturday, while his wife, Marie, wanted him to stay at home and play with the children, she told Judge Alfred O. Erickson yesterday. The upshot of it was that he accused her of hiding his fishpole and hit her on the jaw, she charged. Judge Erickson fined him $10 and costs.

Bathing suits have been revolutionized since the '90's—and so have refrigerators.

As silently as nature makes ice, and for half the cost of other methods, Electrolux supplies perfect automatic cold and ice cubes

A FEW years ago any automatic refrigerator was a novelty. If you had one, guests asked if they might go out into the kitchen and see it.

Today the kind that is unusual in Electrolux. This refrigerator is automatic without any moving parts at all.

Electrolux is the automatic refrigerator that can't make a sound—the one that works without alternate stopping and starting. The chilling process never ceases, and so the cold remains constant, steady.

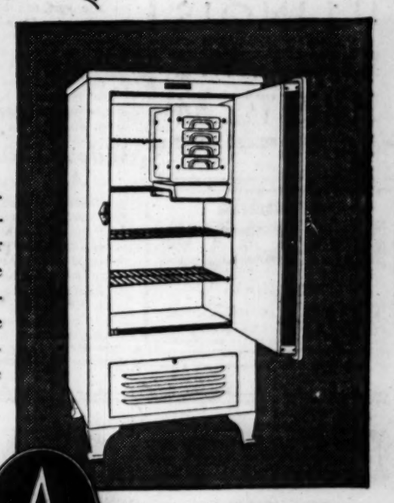

A tiny gas flame and a tiny flow of water circulate the refrigerant that makes the cold and freezes the ice cubes. The refrigerant itself is ordinary ammonia, little stronger than the household kind. It is hermetically sealed within a rigid, one-piece steel unit.

Electrolux is so simple, so foolproof that it has gone into more than 175,000 fine homes and apartments the country over. Today it is the choice of prominent architects and builders everywhere. Discriminating tenants demand its exclusive features.

The simplicity of Electrolux also makes it the most economical refrigerator you can use. It costs less to operate than any other means of refrigeration.

Even the installation of Electrolux is easy. Connections for gas and water are through flexible copper tubing, and are quickly made for you by your gas company. And should Electrolux ever need adjustment, you get the prompt, efficient kind of service for which your gas company is famous.

Despite all these unique advantages, Electrolux costs you no more to buy. There are 11 different household models to choose from—3 cu. ft. to 20 cu. ft. capacity. It will be to your advantage to see Electrolux at your gas company's showrooms before buying any automatic refrigerator—to look for it in the apartment you rent. A Railroad Has Many Owners

A Message from L. A. Downs, President Illinois Central System.

Railway plants don't just grow. They are built up painstakingly out of the savings of industrious citizens, to whom interest and dividends often mean their own or their dependents' subsequent support.

Title to the Illinois Central System is vested in approximately 20,000 stockholders. Five out of every six of them own fewer than 100 shares. Two out of every five reside in states in which the Illinois Central System operates. One out of every twenty is an employe of the railroad.

More than half the railway investment is represented by bonds, many of which are held by insurance companies, savings banks and endowed institutions of learning. Through these bondholders thousands of other individuals become indirectly, but none the less really, dependent upon railway earnings.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

Chicago, August 1, 1931.

This is the third of a series of sketches descriptive of this railroad. Its territory and its plant have been covered; other sketches will cover personnel and patrons.

NAVY WILL JOIN ARMY IN BUYING WAR SUPPLIES

New Departure Based on Economy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—A provision calling for closer coöperation between the navy and war departments in planning for the procurement of industrial war materials for use in the event of an emergency is included in the latest American naval policy sheet just approved by Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams. Inclusion of the principle of joint army-navy planning for supplying their industrial needs in event of war in the new policy sheet marks the first time that such a provision has been made a part of the United States naval policy.

Four main principles are listed under the "building and maintenance policy" subtitle. They are:

1. To build and maintain an efficient, well balanced fleet in all classes of fighting ships as allowed by treaty provisions; and to preserve this status by building replacement ships and by disposing of old ships in accordance with continuing programs.

Armament Stressed.

2. To make superiority of armament in their class an end in view in the design of all fighting ships.

3. To provide for great radius of action in all classes of fighting ships.

4. To determine emergency material needs. To plan for their procurement, and to coördinate these plans with those of the war department.

Under the last policy sheet approved in 1928, the principle was laid down that no more small cruisers would be built by this country. It was provided that all old cruisers would be replaced as they became obsolete with 8 inch gun 10,000 ton treaty ships.

Reduced at London.

The London naval treaty terms violated this principle, as it provided that only eighteen 8 inch gun cruisers could be built by the United States, thus making it necessary for this country to build 6 inch gun cruisers or limit its tonnage to a figure far below the treaty cruiser tonnage limit.

In conformity with the London treaty, the new cruiser policy simply states that the United States will "build and maintain cruiser tonnage as allowed by treaty provisions."

YOUTH HELD FOR MURDER

Stabbing Affray

Arthur Arnold, 20 years old, of Kansas City was held to the grand jury on a charge of murder yesterday by the coroner's jury which investigated the fatal stabbing of Louis Coleman, 55 years old, in an apartment house at 4839 Winthrop avenue Saturday night. Coleman, it was testified, was stabbed by Arnold after the latter interrupted a "whoopee" party in which the youth, his sweetheart, Doris Williams, 17 years old, and his mother and aunt were engaged.

Bandits Raid Lincoln Park Cafe and Seize $5,000

The Brauer café at the edge of a lagoon east of Center street in Lincoln park, for thirty years a famous north side restaurant, was raided by three bandits yesterday who escaped with $5,000. The robbers entered as the proprietors, Paul and Kasper Brauer, were counting the receipts of the week-end.

EVANSTON FLYER HURT, AID KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

Corporal George Gibson, 25 years old, of Altoona, Pa., was killed and Lieut. Harold Grant, 24 years old, son of Dr. and Mrs. William E. Grant of 1600 Hinman avenue, Evanston, was injured yesterday when their plane crashed during aerial gunnery practice at Oscoda, Mich.

Gibson, who was attached to the 27th pursuit squadron at Selfridge field, Mount Clemens, Mich., was acting as observer for Lieut. Grant, a pilot with the 15th Observation Squadron, Scott Field, Ill. Lieut. Grant, according to witnesses, banked low near a ground target and the ship went into a spin and crashed.

Lieut. Grant was not believed to be seriously injured. He was taken to the base hospital at Selfridge field in an army plane.

Lieut. Grant joined the army after his graduation at Northwestern university in 1928. While in school he had been in the R. O. T. C. corps and president of the honorary society, the Scabbard and Blade.

Gang of Rowdies Attack Policeman; One Man Shot

Veteran Seeks to Escape Pains Through Suicide

Desperate from head pains, the result of wounds received from a bomb which was dropped by a German plane in 1918, Edward J. Wagner, 32 years old, a war veteran, tried to end his life last night by swallowing poison. He was found at North and Lombard avenues, Oak Park. After receiving medical aid at the West Suburban hospital he was turned over to police. He will be taken to the Hines memorial hospital today. Wagner is married, the father of four children, and lives at 737 Rees street.

Wife Asks Divorce from Attorney Tyrrell Krum

Attorney Tyrrell Krum was sued for divorce yesterday in the Superior court by his wife, Mrs. Helen Krum. The bill was filed by Attorney Edward J. McArdle Jr. The Krums were married on Oct. 15, 1930, and separated on the following Dec. 9. Mrs. Krum alleges cruelty in the bill, charging that on Oct. 31, 1930, her husband struck her, and again struck her on Nov. 23, 1930.

URGES REMOVAL OF GOVERNOR OF VIRGIN ISLANDS

Efficiency Expert Falls Out with Pearson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Herbert D. Brown, chief of the bureau of efficiency, has recommended the removal from office of Dr. Paul M. Pearson, governor of the Virgin islands, according to administration officials who have read a seventy-five page report submitted by the efficiency expert to the interior department. Suggestions that Dr. Pearson should be removed were made to President Hoover some weeks ago by Mr. Brown, but apparently were ignored.

Hand Picked for Post.

The recommendation for the ousting of Mr. Pearson comes as one of the latest developments in the feud that has developed between the governor of the islands and Dr. Brown since the former Swarthmore college professor took over his new post. Notwithstanding the fact that Mr. Pearson was hand picked for the post and recommended for appointment to President Hoover by Mr. Brown, the efficiency bureau chief has executed a complete about face and now wants the governor ousted.

The feud between Gov. Pearson and Mr. Brown has waxed warm since President Hoover visited the islands on a vacation tour last spring.

Congressional friends of both Gov. Pearson and Mr. Brown are already preparing for the fight that will develop when congress takes up the question of voting 1933 appropriations for the financing of the government of the islands.

Balk at Interference.

Brown first went to the islands at the request of congressional committees back in 1928. The upshot of his efficiency investigations was the transfer of the island government from the navy department to the interior department and the retirement of the naval governor, Capt. Waldo Evans, in favor of the man selected by Mr. Brown.

In selecting Pearson and recommending that the islands be transferred, Mr. Brown had expected to be allowed a free hand in working out certain reforms in the islands during the first few months of the new administration. The interior department and Gov. Pearson balked, however, at interference by the efficiency department and the feud developed.

The village that seldom sleeps

SKIMMING over the motor-bridge in the California dusk—the bridge that crosses the Straits of Carquinez on your way to San Francisco—you will look below you at a blaze of light, a village busy in the night, and perhaps ask, "What town is that?"

That, they will tell you, is the village of Crockett—Crockett, the sugar town. And those hundreds of blazing lights, in the darkness there, are the windows of C and H—the largest sugar refinery in the world, which this year celebrates its Silver Anniversary.

Did you ever hear of an entire town devoted to a single job? A town that works day-long and night-long to perfect a single food? That's how it is at Crockett. Here are a town and a sugar refinery with mutual interests and aims—the home and the livelihood of over five thousand people. Here, a colony of fifteen hundred men and women are giving their days to sugar. And the goal they have set for themselves is to refine the very best cane sugar energy and skill can produce.

The spirit which, for twenty-five years, has lived in this industrious little town has produced the C and H MENU line of sugars that is so very much in demand. Indeed, so much in demand that the C and H colony—in this largest, most modern of all refineries—frequently produces as much as 5,000,000 pounds of pure cane sugar in a single 24 hour day. To maintain this enormous output, the lights are ablaze tonight in Crockett. To maintain this enormous output, Crockett can seldom sleep.

You can't burn the proposed freight increases on fuel!

AN INTERVENING petition opposed to the railroads' plea for a 15% increase in freight rates has been filed by the Chicago Coal Merchants Association in the interest of Chicago fuel buyers.

The present freight rates are ample. This is proved by financial statements of the coal carrying roads from West Virginia, Kentucky, and Pennsylvania, showing that they are making good profits at the present rates.

Moreover, coal is carried in train load lots. There is very little loss from damage. It is delivered by the railroads on practically a C. O. D. basis—namely, cash within forty-eight hours.

Freight is the most important item in the cost of fuel. If the proposed 15% increase is allowed, it will work a particularly unjust and unreasonable hardship on Chicago fuel buyers. In our city smoke ordinances require the almost exclusive burning of Eastern coals. These are now burdened with the highest freight rates and are threatened with the greatest increases.

WHAT THE PROPOSED FREIGHT INCREASE WILL MEAN

	PRESENT FREIGHT RATES per ton	PROPOSED INCREASE per ton
Smokeless Coal New River—Pocahontas	$3.29	49c
Anthracite Pennsylvania Hard Coal	$5.07	75c
West Virginia—Eastern Kentucky High Volatile for stokers, etc.	$3.09	46c
Southern Illinois Quality Circle	$1.90	29c

The Chicago Coal Merchants Association whose members sell approximately 95% of the coal and coke used for residential purposes in Chicago cannot sit idly by while their customers have such an unjust increase imposed on them.

So today, just as in the past they fought for city ordinances which would protect the public against dishonest weight, dishonest grading, and misleading advertising they are fighting the railroads' petitioned increase before the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The hearing for the Association's petition will be held during the month of August. Our fight is your fight. Let us hope it will be won . . . that the outcome will be different from 1920 when the railroads were granted increases almost immediately after the hearings. Chicago families should not be asked to pay a still larger share of their fuel buying dollar for freight rates which they cannot burn.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

UPSIDE DOWN IN AUSTRALIA.

New South Wales is unable or unwilling to pay interest due on loans in London and New York, and the Australian government has had to find the $3,071,000 needed. It remains to be seen how much longer this policy of assumption can be practiced successfully.

Twenty years ago, when to the forward-lookers such devices as unemployment, old-age and maternity insurance were regarded as the gates to the millennium, we used to hear a great deal about Australia. The admirable William Graham Sumner could write of the Forgotten Man who paid the bill and at whose expense the incompetent and unfit were supported and thereby rendered still less competent and fit; he could foresee the growth of a debased citizenship, pauperized by the state and querulous, but the complete reply to his argument was always an invitation to behold Australia. This was a difficult argument to meet, not only because Australia through the force of geography is not easily beheld by us but also because in those years Australia was prospering. All that the opponent of tax-paid welfare could say was wait and see, and that is never particularly convincing.

The wait is now ended.

Australia, either through its federal government or through the governments of its states, owns and operates a great number of business enterprises. The citizen buys, among other things, railroad transportation, light, power and street car service from the government which he creates by his vote. He gets his job from the state unemployment services, and if he fails to get one he gets a dole. And so on through a long list of subventions to individuals and industries. It would seem that under such a benign régime every one would be as happy as material comforts and security could make him.

And it is not to be doubted that for a time the system worked, after a fashion. Perhaps it worked because the innovators were still in office. Certainly its operation would have been impossible but for the fact that the prices of wheat, wool and mutton in the international markets were sufficient to give Australia a substantial balance of exports over imports year after year. That meant a considerable taxable income at home to be applied to the mounting costs of government; and it meant substantial credit abroad. The governments soon got out of the habit of balancing their budgets, but it was easy to square the accounts by floating Australian loans in London, so easy, indeed, that in the decade from 1918 to 1928 Australia's borrowings abroad increased from some three billion dollars to well over five billions.

No great attention was paid to the increasing cost of the services of the foreign and domestic loans, though it should have been clear that the interest and amortization were rapidly overtaking the favorable foreign balance. Reliance was placed upon the steady increase to be expected in Australia's export trade. There were other countries producing wheat, mutton and wool, but the Australians went blithely ahead, as if they had a permanent monopoly and the world were permanently dependent upon them. If ever a national economy was built on quicksand it was the Australian.

Even had there been no world depression, Australia must certainly have gone on the financial rocks. The world depression merely hastened the day. The bottom fell out of the markets for Australia's principal exports and it was no longer possible to rig even the appearance of solvency. That was bad enough, but the situation might have been met even then by a rigorous policy of economy. That must have been obvious to all intelligent observers in the antipodes.

But intelligence did not triumph because the rigorous measures had to be invoked by men in office, if any one, and they, in turn, depended upon votes to place and keep them in office. There are nearly a quarter of a million public servants, well organized into trade unions, whose jobs and salaries were imperiled by any economy scheme. There were 600,000 and more pensioners, some of them drawing several pensions, who must suffer loss through a reduction of governmental expenditures. There were industries which were not self-sustaining but were maintained through one form or another of government subsidy. The political obstacles were and today are too powerful to permit as thoroughgoing a régime of economy as the situation plainly calls for. Accordingly Australia is wavering between a policy of partial repudiation and a policy of inflation, and the probability is that a little of each will be tried. It is difficult to say which will prove the more damaging.

Today Australia stands as a warning to democratic nations of what must be expected if a citizenship is pauperized with government charities while the expenses of government are allowed to run ahead of the taxability of the governed. In this country we have thus far managed to escape the worst evils of a subsidized citizenry, though our farm board, our soldiers' bonus and our Boulder dam and Muscle Shoals point the way in which we are moving. We have by no means escaped the error of spending beyond the means of our taxpayers. We need not go outside Chicago to observe the first consequences of this folly.

INTIMIDATION OF WITNESSES.

One of the most serious difficulties in the prosecution of crime is the intimidation of witnesses and even complainants. Many well authenticated cases, in which the prosecutor might have been sure of a verdict of guilty from any honest jury, have faded away because witnesses have disappeared or recanted at the trial. It is of first rate importance to the effective administration of justice that this phase of our problem be vigorously and persistently attacked. The crime commission is therefore much interested in what it believes to be a very flagrant case of intimidation.

This is the case of the taxi driver, Erwin Kolar, who was robbed of $17 and his cab on May 18. Kolar, showing admirable pluck and determination, went in search of the hoodlum whom he asserts he had seen previously in an attempt to rob a restaurant. Kolar with other drivers found the man a few days later and procured his arrest. On leaving the station where he had signed the complaint Kolar says he was accosted by two men who told him not to prosecute or he would be taken for a ride. Four days later Kolar says a woman, who said she was the mother of the defendant, called upon him and offered him $250 to drop the charge. He refused and he alleges the offer was repeated the following evening. A third effort, he says, was made just before the grand jury hearing on June 7, and this was accompanied by another threat at his life. "At 2:30 of the morning I was to appear before the grand jury," says Kolar, "three Italians came to my door." They claimed to be police officers, but left when Kolar called the station to verify their assertion. Eleven days later three men in an automobile tried to force his cab to the curb. Two days later two men caught him alone at 3 o'clock in the morning and beat him up. Two days later, on June 22, three men in an automobile tried to corner him in the street.

That Kolar was not imagining this conspiracy seems to be verified in a singular way. Kolar had changed his taxicab, No. 1403, in order to hide his identity, and another driver took it. But soon after the new driver was kidnaped and escaped only by persuading his captors with the help of his identification card that he was not Kolar.

The robbery case has been tried and the defendant sentenced, but a more important phase of it than the robbery is the persistent effort to intimidate the prosecuting witness. Unfortunately the identification and punishment of these offenders are not in reasonable prospect. We think a real effort should be made to find and punish them, nevertheless. The interest of the police and prosecuting authorities in such difficult and discouraging phases of criminal control is less than it should be. The crime commission is impressed with the extent of this evil and with the laxity and indifference of the authorities in dealing with it. There is obvious need that the police, the state's attorney's office and the judges take it more seriously. All efforts to intimidate or suborn witnesses are major crimes and should be vigorously run down, prosecuted and punished by the judges or juries with heavy penalties.

ALFALFA BILL AS STALIN.

Gov. Alfalfa Bill Murray of Oklahoma got himself mobilized for the Texas bridge war and discovers that there may be some truth in the European contention of late July and early August, 1914, that once mobilization is begun fate is on the wing. The demon is out of the jug. A military government can take off the lid but it can't put it back on. Once mobilization orders are out you have to have a war. There is no other way of getting yourself back home.

Gov. Murray called out the armed forces of his state to keep the Oklahoma end of the toll bridge closed and the Texas end of the free bridge open, but yielded to the intervention of the federal court, proving that the virtually deserted village of Appomattox Courthouse even in its weeds, tangled vines, and ruins is the most potent symbol in the country. But Bill is nevertheless wound up, his National Guard is wound up, and if he cannot get at the derisive Texas rangers he must find something else. He says he will have dollar oil or close the wells. Here the Great Alfalfa is on the track of something, our own Stalin with just what the American intellectuals have been prescribing—A Plan. Dollar oil, two dollar wheat, ten dollar hogs, dollar corn, the five day week, and a two dollar dollar. Something is coming out of the west.

Editorial of the Day

COST OF OVERGOVERNMENT.

[Detroit Free Press.]

The taxpayers of Michigan would be money in pocket, according to Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the department of political science at Ann Arbor, if townships and small school districts were abolished and the number of counties in the state cut in two. The same conclusion has been reached by other persons. A number of state politicians, alarmed by the cost of financing the less populous counties, suggested county consolidation some years ago. The Detroit Bureau of Governmental Research has more recently stressed the same idea.

Similar suggestions for cutting the cost of government have been heard in other states. They issue from common sense and logic. Any thinking taxpayer must realize that he is being mulcted when he is required to contribute to the cost of unnecessary public offices; when the state clings to an archaic administrative system imported into this country three centuries ago, adherence to which reveals a strange lack of that efficiency in public business which Americans display in private business. When Michigan's counties were delimited travel was slow, and it was necessary to bring judicial and administrative processes within reasonable distance of the people, as measured by the speed of horses and buggies. Steam and electricity have since enlarged the radius of easy movement about the state. Counties could be doubled in size today and still leave their population nearer the county seat than it was a hundred years ago.

Although Prof. Reed's statement is not new, what he says will bear repeating in the hope that eventually something will be done about it. A reform of this sort, which will abolish thousands of offices, will have to be initiated and put through by the people. One can hardly expect the general run of politicians to inaugurate or support a movement that would cost so many of them a chance to live off the taxpayers. Clinging to an administrative system that the state has outgrown is an expensive example of the slowness with which changes in the form of government are effected. The same people who would not drive last season's model are content to muddle along in a vehicle of government three hundred years old. Some day, if enough complaint is registered, some one may rise up and lead a popular movement that will lift from the backs of the taxpayers the load of unnecessary, wasteful offices that now bears so heavily on them.

MILK IN HOT WEATHER.

THIS is the season of the year to watch the quality of the milk. A dirty product is not nice in any season, but it moves from the not nice into the dangerous class when the weather gets hot. There are several methods by which we can get a rough idea of the cleanliness of milk. The United States department of agriculture, dairy division, on request, will send a copy of milk inspector letter No. 148, "Uses of the Methylene-Blue Test."

This is a simple test that can be used by dairy inspectors, farm inspectors, managers of creameries, and dealers in milk. If creamery managers would make this test on the milk brought to them, and show the results to their farmer patrons, they would get a cleaner product. The test is a simple procedure by which the amount of dirt in a quart of milk can be demonstrated. It does not require expensive equipment nor is it difficult to operate. It is a valuable procedure by which a creamery operator can improve the quality of his supply.

In towns where the dairy men do not clarify their milk the purchaser may get helpful information by looking for dirt on the inside of the bottom of the bottle. This method is of no service if the milk has been clarified.

The consumer will do well if he refuses to buy milk that has not been chilled and then kept cold until the time of delivery. Incidentally, the consumer not equipped to keep milk cold in the home had better limit his household to milk powder, condensed, or evaporated milk, during the hot season at least. Any person in the habit of buying dipped milk had better switch to bottled milk for the warm season.

As a rule, buying milk from a neighbor and getting milk from one cow is a very dangerous practice. Many persons have picked up tuberculosis, typhoid fever, and undulant fever that way. However, if the practice is ever justified it is during hot weather. The advantage of getting milk twice a day and consuming it within six hours after it comes from the cow may outweigh the disadvantages and dangers of the supply—at least during the hot months.

A milk purchaser who is in doubt about his supply had better boil the milk or pasteurize it. Milk can be pasteurized in the home. It can be heated, put in a thermos bottle while hot, and then set to one side and left. Under room conditions the process of pasteurization will keep up for several hours.

INGROWING NAILS.

J. H. writes: You generally give wearing narrow shoes as the cause of ingrowing toenails. You are wrong. My wife wears very narrow shoes and she does not have ingrowing toenails. Her toes are bent until they lie at an angle of 45 degrees with her foot. I wear broadtoed shoes and I have had ingrowing toenails for 50 years. I let the corners of the nail grow until they pass the flesh. Sometimes I lift the corners with a little cotton.

REPLY.

Your wife's narrow shoes have pushed the entire front part of her toes over, up and down. The toes now lie skimbo. Under these conditions the nail may lie straight. There is a good chance that your wife now has or will have bunions. You have never been so foolish—only about 50 per cent so. At some time in your life you wore shoes that pinched the front end of your toes but not the entire number. In consequence, now in your old age, you have ingrown nails and you brag about wearing broad shoes. You should escape bunions as your wife should have bunions and escape ingrowing nails.

When it comes to the treatment peace is declared. The treatment you advocate I first used forty-eight years ago. It has been given in this column from time to time for twenty years.

LET PHYSICIAN DECIDE.

Mrs. O. W. writes: I have been told that I have sacroiliac trouble. Will the wearing of a belt effect a cure? Will complete rest cure or only alleviate the trouble?

REPLY:

It may do so. Some cases are so cured. Your physician is the best judge of which treatment suits your case.

RINGWORM.

J. B. M. writes: In a severe case of ringworm do you advise destroying all footwear, or can shoes be treated so as to kill any ringworm germs?

REPLY:

It is not necessary to destroy all shoes and stockings. Sunlight and airing suffice for shoes; boiling, for stockings.

The parasite gets its main hold around the toenail. It is hard to destroy in that region.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have taken an examination [state civil service] for a junior accountant. A month has now elapsed and I have heard nothing. I understand an oral examination is to follow. Will you be good enough to let me know how soon I may expect word from them?

MECHANIC'S LIEN.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My aunt had asbestos roofing put on her house and the men who put it on bought the material but didn't pay for it. The company they purchased it from threaten to make my aunt pay for it. Can they do that? E. N.

Yes, by mechanic's lien proceedings.

PEACE BONDS.

Chicago, July 21.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. How can I place a certain person under peace bonds? 2. Is it necessary to have a lawyer? C. F. S.

1. Swear out a warrant at the nearest police station.

2. The law does not require that you employ an attorney, but such employment would improve your chances.

Chicago, July 20.—[Friend of the People.]—A water pipe is leaking in front of 3856 North Central Park avenue, wasting large quantities of water and ruining the street. Please notify the proper authorities. P. S.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

HELLO, friends! Here we are again in the absence of R. H. L. That period of the year having arrived when we are summoned from the sports pages, we invite readers of the Line and readers of the Wake to their annual reunion on these premises rather than close this apartment for the summer. It's a sort of basket (not waste) picnic, as it were, where each may bring or send his own pabulum for the common cause.

On similar occasions we have warned Liners that the composite Wake-Line would not be the same character of reading matter to which they had been accustomed. There will be a greater admixture of sporting topics; there will be more contributions from readers that Liners and Wakers may become better acquainted in this four weeks' interregnum; there should be warm cordiality and "give or take" tolerance from both followers of the Line and of the Wake.

Please remember, Liners, that this arrangement makes it possible for R. H. L. to visit Canada and to study conditions and institutions in what he terms a free country. Please remember, Wakers, that the usual line of sport discussion and contributions will be resumed when this basket picnic is at an end.

THERE'S ANOTHER THOUGHT, TOO. Last year, when R. H. L. sallied forth, readers were privileged to send in contributions concerning their conductor which he would not have published were he here. What shall it be this year?

There is no malice in this thought. We have no wish to berate or embarrass our absent hero. Still, it might be a good plan to have some feature whose presence would curb any desire to prolong said vacation; some feature, in fact, causing an urge to return and rescue the Line from profane hands. It's merely a suggestion. We'll consider any thoughts on the subject which do not violate the hospitality extended to us as a temporary guest.

WHO SERVES THE CLOCK?

Time is only a turning wheel,
Making marks with a point of steel.
Slaves are ever the ones who bend
To the broken hours they cannot mend.
Life is less than a dial's arc . . .
Then the silence, the cold, the dark.

Who shall follow a clock around?
Loud its law is a hollow sound.
Live a little! Within the chains
Of servitude no grace remains.
Time, the Master, is but a pest . . .
Go with life, as a welcome guest!

Ships sail over the Seven Seas,
Yet never they chain the tides of these.
Go with the Sun! O'er the Port-o'-Night
The swinging moon is a beacon light.
Time! A fable. Who serves the clock
Meets the Sexton within a block!

ARROW-HEAD.

TURF LORE.

Wake-Line: The lady editor of a smart monthly magazine was complaining of her tough luck at Arlington Saturday. She said: "I bet on Mike Hall in the handicap where he finished fourth to Sun Beau. Of course, Mike Hall is a little 116 pound horse, but he used to beat those big 128 pound horses. Strange, too, I used to think those weights were the horse's age."

ACROSS THE BOARD.

WORST JOKE I EVER HEARD.

When the elevator operator brought the boss' steno up to the fourteenth floor he said: "Here you are, daughter." She haughtily replied, "How come? You're not my father." And the elevator operator replied, "Well, I brought you up, didn't I?"

This Wake Line Is Conducted by Harvey T. Woodruff. Help! Help!

R. H. L., IN HIS FAREWELL address, thought the most pleasant place in Canada might be a spot just across the border where he could lift a tinkling glass and look right into the face of the U. S. A. with defiance. Well, just think how pleasant to sit on this side of the border and look right back with tinkling glass aloft, knowing our glass holds nothing injurious to the system, knowing that we are strong and have force of character. This make-believe attempt at satisfaction and uplift is too painful to pursue further. Against our better judgment, perhaps, we can't help feeling we'd rather be sitting with R. H. L.

MY LOOKING-PAST.

Perhaps you'll never fathom pools as deep as mine,
For the clearest Iris will never tell
The deepness of these lonely wells.
That longing stare reveals the hunger there.
The love has gone, the years will never fade,
A lonely heart, not touched with lavender and jade.
To every one a mystery—what does it matter? Today
My heart is free, to go on and live promiscuously.
Pray, Iris, you will never tell the meaning—
My eyes might spell?

LASAINE OF ILLINOIS.

WHO ARE THE GREATEST personages in this country from the viewpoint of newspaper reader interest? That topic came up for discussion and argument after the paper had gone to press Saturday night. Col. Lindbergh's plane was unreported somewhere in Canada. Physicians had been hastily summoned to the bedside of Thomas A. Edison. Which was the more important news? Could any other news be more important than misfortune to these eminent Americans?

The discussing group were experienced newspaper men, accustomed to making decisions on relative news values. The consensus was that mishap or fatality to President Hoover would transcend all other events—not Hoover as the man but President Hoover as the head of government. Col. Lindbergh was given a shade in popular interest over Thomas A. Edison because of his spectacular exploits. No others were placed in the same category with these three.

BEING DEFLATED

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 4, 1915.

ERIE, PA.—Twenty-five persons reported drowned, 2,000 homeless and nearly 100 buildings swept from their foundations, with damage estimated at several million dollars, is the toll of a cloudburst which struck Erie. It lasted fifteen minutes and the rush of waters burst the dams south of the city, adding a further torrent to the flood. The cloudburst was the climax of three days of steady rain.

WASHINGTON.—Great Britain's replies to the latest American representations against interference with neutral commerce reject entirely the contention that the orders in council are illegal and justify the British course as being wholly within international law. They declare that protests of the United States on the blockade are unsustainable. The notes reiterate that Great Britain will continue to apply the orders complained of, although not without every effort to avoid embarrassment to neutrals.

AUGUST 4, 1901.

CHICAGO.—Frank Howard Collier is dead. Once a brilliant lawyer and a man of many friends, his deathbed was attended by none but nurses and physicians. He was taken to the county hospital a week ago with paralysis and typhoid fever developed. Fifteen years ago he was known in Chicago as one of the most prominent politicians in the city and one of the strongest lawyers in the state. In addition to his legal ability he ranked high as an author and editor. He was formerly a member of the board of education and at one time was commissioned to take a memorial from Chicago to Queen Victoria. In 1899 he was the victim of a mysterious assault and beating attributed to political foes which resulted in the breakdown of his mind. Lavish expenditures of recent years had dissipated his once large fortune. He was 45 years old and lived at 623 Jackson boulevard.

CHICAGO.—Dr. Samuel Sherin, head of the White Cross Visiting Nurses' association, was horsewhipped by Miss Margaret Smith, formerly employed by the association, at Adams street and Western avenue because of derogatory remarks she had heard Dr. Sherin had made about her.

CHICAGO.—An injunction restraining Father Crowley of St. Mary's parish of Oregon, Byron, and Polo, Ill., from saying mass in Catholic churches of those towns was issued by Judge Henry A. Smith of Ogle county. Archbishop Feehan, through his nephew, E. A. Feehan, asked the injunction to prevent any trouble when Father A. B. Finn assumes charge today.

AUGUST 4, 1881.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—That the cabinet shares the general belief that President Garfield is rapidly and surely recovering from the wound inflicted by Charles J. Guiteau's bullet is proved by preparations the members are making to leave the city on their usual summer vacations. Since last night at 10 o'clock the President has had between eleven and twelve hours of a quiet, natural sleep.

BUFFALO, N. Y.—William G. Fargo, president of the American Express company, and mayor of Buffalo, died at the age of 63.

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—There was a brilliant society event when Dr. Mackie, recently of Scotland, but now of Milwaukee, and Miss Belle Mitchell, niece of the Hon. Alexander Mitchell, millionaire banker and railroad king, were married at Mr. Mitchell's palatial residence on Grand avenue by the Rev. J. B. Stewart of Des Moines, Ia. At the reception, more than 1,500 persons paid their compliments to the newly married pair.

CHICAGO.—Fire Marshal Swenie promulgated an order promoting Assistant Marshal William Musham to the position of first assistant fire marshal.

CHICAGO.—Dr. W. N. Davis of Beloit, Wis., and Miss Minerva Morris were married on July 26 at the home of the bride's mother, 2414 Prairie avenue, by the Rev. Mr. Kellogg.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

RAILROAD WAGES.

Chicago, July 27.—On the financial page of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for July 18 in an article by Philip Kinsley, the Chicago Association of Commerce asks that serious consideration be given to the downward revision of railroad wages.

Have the experts of the association taken into consideration that the average railroad worker has already, in effect, received a cut in pay from 20 to 50 per cent, this being due to job abolishments, demotions, efficiency drives, etc.? From a normal of 1,800,000, the number of railroad employés has been cut to 1,200,000.

Consider, if you please, that merchandise cars today make faster time than ever. Most large cities within a radius of 350 miles from Chicago receive first morning delivery, which is practically express service. All of this and the high percentage of cars on time has been in no small degree due to the loyalty, efficiency, and coöperation of the railroad employé.

The average pay today of a railroad worker, including the high salaried official, is $5.59 per day. Wages of railroad labor are considerably below the average for other industries.

While it is true that prices on foodstuffs and clothing have been reduced, other costs have increased or remained the same. Real estate taxes for the home owner have increased from 33 1-3 to 300 per cent within the last ten years. Life and fire insurance premiums remain the same. With the return of conditions to anywhere near normal and with the continued increase in the efficiency of operation, the class 1 railroads of the country are today prepared to handle more traffic per employé than they ever handled. Would not a further reduction in pay tend to decrease, rather than increase, the average output per employé?

The railroad workers of the country are loyally coöperating by means of booster clubs and other organizations. We are keenly conscious of the terrific inroads on railroad traffic by the trucks and buses, and feel it is incumbent on such organizations as associations of commerce to exert every effort to bring these transportation agencies under interstate commerce commission regulation.

CALL FOR MR. STRAWN.

Chicago, July 8.—Where is Mr. Silas Strawn? He seems to be the teachers' only friend. He found money for penniless teachers last year. Why not again? Will he not help us in our distress and rescue us once more?

BANKRUPT.

TAX RATES COMPARED.

La Crosse, Wis., July 27.—The Association of Real Estate Taxpayers of Illinois had better stop wasting their money on attorneys' fees and use it as part payment on their taxes. This cry about being "crushed to death" is just an alibi. Tax rates per valuation in Wisconsin are greater than those of Chicago. The Wisconsin property owner pays his taxes and the public servants are paid, banks aren't closing, and there is none of the adverse publicity you have in Chicago.

The one and only reason I sympathize with the Chicago taxpayer [I am one of them] is that the bank may have locked the door on his savings. That's tragic, but don't blame the taxes, blame the bank officials who misappropriated the depositors' money.

If you have any money, save it by paying your taxes. It is far better there than in any bank. Two Chicago banks where I have done business closed within the last year, so my strongest faith at present is good old mother earth. Some day your real estate will keep you.

CHICAGO TAXPAYER.

DENTISTS' BILLS.

Chicago, July 28.—Now and then one reads of complaints against the high cost of dental service, and Monday, July 27, the Voice of the People bears another missile signed by Discouraged, who is grieved that the "dentist's charges are all out of proportion to any other family expense."

It is to be regretted that such communications are devoid of actual figures in dollars and cents for the services rendered. There are some 67,000 dentists in the United States and the average income is found to be less than $4,500 a year. Subtract from this about $2,000 for laboratory, supplies, gas, electric, and office service expenses and you find an income comparable to that of a skilled laborer or an office worker. One never reads of large estates left by deceased dentists. JOSEPH G. KOSTRUBALA, D.D.S.

NAKED IN CHICAGO.

Chicago, July 17.—That letter of F. S. Y., "Naked in Chicago," amused and tickled me, as a young forest screened that part of the Planetarium island from public view. If some dear old lady chose that spot in which to do her knitting, she would be unmolested, as no misdeed has ever occurred in its history. Working as I do in a loop office, I have often gone there, and find no reason for complaint, and my forefathers arrived with the Mayflower.

FIND SLAIN MAN TIED IN BLANKET ON N. Y. STREET

Police Hot on Trail of Child Shooters.

[Copyright, 1931: By the New York Times.]

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—The fourth murder in six days confronted the police today as detectives, encouraged by "leads" discovered over the week-end, redoubled their efforts to solve the shooting of five children and the killing of one in East 107th street last Tuesday.

The victim today was identified from finger prints as Angelo Marino, believed to have been a petty racketeer, whose body, trussed with rope and wrapped in blankets, was found in front of a cleaning establishment in Long Island City, a few blocks east of the Queensborough bridge plaza. He had apparently been strangled, as a tightly drawn sashcord, reinforced with thin wire, was looped about his neck.

Confident of the eventual solution of last Tuesday's crime, Commissioner Mulrooney announced that he contemplated taking additional measures to curb gangster activities. George Zolt Le Brun, secretary of the legislative League for the Conservation of Human Life, asked U. S. Senator Robert Wagner in a letter to introduce a bill in congress to prohibit interstate transportation of firearms.

The investigation into Tuesday's crime led the police in search of three men who are believed to be able to give information about the fusillade of shots that poured from a slowly moving automobile and killed Michael Vengalli and injured four of his playmates.

Acting Capt. Louis B. Hyams again reasserted his belief that "We'll eventually break the case."

Mr. Mulrooney said the police had been flooded with "tips" and a varied assortment of information, most of which was valueless, since the offer of rewards totaling $30,000.

FARM BOARD HAS WAR IN RANKS OF ITS SUPPORTERS

3 Cornered Fight Reacts on Parent Body.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Civil war has been added to the troubles of the federal farm board.

GEO. S. MILNOR. [Straus Photo.]

Assailed by wheat belt spokesmen wanting the board's stabilization wheat locked up and the key thrown away, attacked by grain dealers who see their business imperiled by the co-operative market, and challenged by private dairy companies competing with government financed farmers' organizations, the board is now under fire from within its own ranks as the result of the fight between the farmers' national grain corporation and the Farmers' Union Terminal association of St. Paul, on the one hand, and the Northwest Grain association on the other.

Like others, the Northwest Grain association protests that the government's helping hand is not being stretched out to all alike. Ten other co-operatives and farm organizations have supported a resolution to that effect.

Attitude Taken by Board.

The side the board has taken is that of the management of the Farmers' National. Chairman James C. Stone today reiterated that the board would not finance competition among the northwest co-operatives, which was tantamount to saying that the Northwest Grain association must come into line or it will not have its loan renewed.

Paradoxically, it also means that this arm of the administration is going to the aid of the northwest's radical group. The Farmers' Union Terminal association contains many of the old Nonpartisan league crowd. Among its active supporters has been Senator Gerald P. Nye, insurgent Republican of North Dakota.

All in all, it is reported, the matter has proved disconcerting to official Washington, including President Hoover.

While the row goes back to fundamental differences between the two groups, the more immediate cause of the crisis lies in the recent policy of the Farmers' National to take over the marketing activities of the twenty-five co-operatives composing its list of stockholder members.

Refuse to Join Sale.

The Farmers' Union Terminal association was the first co-operative in the Farmers' National and it now owns 30 per cent of the Farmers' National stock outstanding. Acceding in the program of the central organization, it sold out its marketing facilities to the Farmers' National. The Northwest Grain association, however, refused to sell. Briefly, it gave as its reason that with the power exercised by the Farmers' Union Terminal association in the National and the close ties existing between the terminal association and the National management, it soon would be forced entirely out of the picture.

C. E. Huff and George S. Milnor of the Farmers' National assert that if their organization took over the marketing activities of the twenty-five member groups it would decrease overhead and increase efficiency.

Should the Farmers' National market this year as much grain as it and its member co-operatives marketed last year, it would mean that it would direct the sale of more than 200 million bushels of wheat.

ALLEGE NEW U. S. WAGE LAW IS VIOLATED BY PAINT CONTRACTORS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—The first major complaint under the law passed by the last congress requiring that workers on government contracts be paid "prevailing wages" was filed here today when union leaders charged that painters employed on the new department of interior building were being paid less than the local union scale of $11 per day.

The charges, filed with the department of labor, placed the wages paid by the Alliance Construction company of New York on a $78,000 contract at between $5 and $7 a day.

The Alliance company is an open shop firm. Herman Morris, local manager, said today that the company pays most of its men more than the Washington open shop rate of $7.20, adding that some painters receive as much as twelve dollars per day.

"We will employ men who belong to the union if they want to work," Morris said. "My contract with the government says that we must pay not less than the prevailing wage, but the union scale is not the prevailing wage."

The complaint also alleged that outside labor had been brought into Washington.

GLASGOW, Scotland, Aug. 3.—(AP)—After months of negotiation, coal owners and miners' representatives of Scotland today reached an agreement by which the miners are granted a minimum daily wage of $1.92 and a 7½ hour working day. The new agreement becomes effective Aug. 7.

VARNER CORRY.

Attorneys for Varner Corry, the 15 year old boy who on Memorial day shot and killed Patrolman Edward Smith, yesterday obtained a continuance until Aug. 18 of their motion for a new trial for their client. Corry was sentenced last week by Judge Joseph Sabath to serve eighteen years in the Joliet penitentiary for having shot the policeman in the pool room of the John Marshall High school, where the youth was stealing a swim with two companions.

Intimations were heard around the courtroom that some welfare agencies probably would interest themselves in a plea for leniency for the boy, but the only verification that was forthcoming was the statement of Miss Jessie Binford of the Juvenile Protective association that her organization might take some action. What form of action she was not prepared to say. Miss Binford was in court yesterday.

Also awaiting the outcome yesterday was Mrs. Adeline Corry, mother of Varner, who took occasion to declare that she and her husband had given the boy every advantage since he was a baby, and that Judge Sabath, in criticizing his parents when sentencing the youth, had been too severe, in her opinion.

"He blamed us for letting Varner keep that gun," she said. "I didn't know it was a real gun. I thought it was a popgun. Why don't they do something to the man who sold him the bullets? He knew it was a real gun."

Varner himself, when he appeared before the bar, was unusually pale and showed the physical strain of his experience.

STRIKERS ORDERED BACK TO MINES BY OFFICERS OF UNION

West Frankfort, Ill., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Employés of Orient mines Nos. 1 and 2 of the Chicago, Wilmington and Franklin Coal company today received notices from the international officers of the United Mine Workers of America that they must return to work next Wednesday or face the possibility of losing their jobs and membership in the United Mine Workers.

The more than two thousand employés of the Orient mines, who have been on strike in defiance to the international union for several weeks, were advised in the mailed notices that under the contract between the miners and operators in Illinois the company is justified in discharging any or all men who fail to show up for work within two days after receiving the call to work.

COURT DEMANDS GRAND JURY ACT IN MINE SLAYING

Princeton, Ind., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Judge Claude A. Smith of Gibson Circuit court, in instructions to Arthur S. Wilson, Gibson county prosecutor, today issued a call for the grand jury to meet in special session tomorrow for a "complete, full, and careful" investigation of the attack and assault on miners at the Liberty Coöperative mine June 8, which has resulted in the death of one man and serious injuries to others.

Twenty of the men attacked were reported seriously beaten, kicked, and thrown into a field when they were waylaid by a group of men reported to be from Illinois, but who drove automobiles and motor trucks bearing Indiana licenses. Since the attack Melburn Littell, 65, has died, and it is reported at least one other man may not recover.

OUTLAWRY RULES CHINA; BANDITS ROB AMERICANS

Country an Armed Camp as War Zone Widens.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PEIPING, Aug. 3.—The foreign legations here are extremely pessimistic over conditions in China, which, observers here say, are becoming steadily worse. Warfare is extending to new areas, banditry is increasing, and disorders and holdups are becoming more prevalent in larger cities. Although martial law, including rigid censorship, exists in Peiping and Tientsin as well as in cities in the Yangtze valley, local authorities are unable to cope with the crime wave, which affects foreigners as well as natives.

Negotiations toward the removal of extraterritoriality are lagging and military operations are steadily widening, while enforced loans or levies by provincial leaders are seriously retarding all government activities.

Americans Are Robbed.

Twelve American tourists visiting the summer palace today were held up by bandits, and the chauffeur of one of their three automobiles was slain. No arrests have been made.

With the widening of military operations, evidence has been received here of communist activities over greater areas. President Chiang Kai-shek's army is completely occupied in an endeavor to overcome the reds in Kiangsi province.

Troops Get Munitions.

The powers are carefully watching these widening disorders, with their creditors heavier financial obligations and further possible increases in customs duties, no foreign country seems willing to advance further money to China. Munitions for various factions, however, continue to arrive in the country.

Conditions are becoming so serious that all foreigners are required to have exit visas for their passports, even when aboard foreign or coastwise steamers.

MOTHER DENIES SHE AIDED SON IN ROBBERIES

Physician Reveals She Is Cancer Sufferer.

Mrs. Anna Baranski, who is under accusations of having been an active partner of her son John in several robberies, testified yesterday at the inquest into the death of John, slain by Policeman Fred Kerchner on Saturday after a robbery. The mother denied knowing her son had any intention of robbing the store in front of which she was parked in an automobile, and on the witness stand her appearance was such as to cause policemen to say she was a drug addict.

This caused Dr. Herbert Schmitz, who has offices in the Field Annex building and who is in charge of out patients at the cancer clinic for women at the Cook county hospital, to issue a statement. Mrs. Baranski was a patient of his, he said.

Warns Son About Drugs.

"She has a cancer and has been in great pain," Dr. Schmitz stated. "I believe the son was led into robbery by his devotion to her. He used to bring her to my offices and a few months ago he told me he had to give her two or three morphine tablets to ease her pain. I warned him against repeating that, as her trouble was bad enough without making an addict of her, and he promised he wouldn't give her any more.

"She was in Mercy hospital last May, and then in June the son told me he had lost his job as a counterman in a restaurant. He signed notes in order that his mother might be given radium treatment, and he told me just last week that he expected to be able to pay the notes soon.

"I don't believe the mother is an addict. She doesn't speak English and she hadn't much to say when talking to me, except to say she had great pain."

The jury made no recommendation regarding Mrs. Baranski, but it commended the bravery of Policeman Kerchner, who fought a duel to the death with John Baranski, who was paroled from a Michigan penitentiary eight months ago.

Mrs. Baranski had driven her son and Harold Marcelle, another paroled Michigan convict, to the real estate office of Olsen and Sorenson at 4819 Irving Park boulevard, and after going into the office herself sat at the seat of an automobile in which John and Marcelle expected to escape after the robbery. Over Sunday she had been identified as the woman who visited other stores a few minutes preceding the appearance of robbers.

Denies She Aided Robbery.

Deputy Coroner Jacob Schewel informed her whatever she said at the inquest might be used for or against her. With that warning she agreed to testify and said so through an interpreter.

"I asked my son to drive me to Milwaukee avenue to shop," the interpreter quoted her as saying. "I don't know why he stopped at the real estate office."

"What about this cord?" asked Deputy Schewel, exhibiting a piece of the same kind as was used in tying up Charles Nation, manager of the firm, after Baranski and Marcelle had taken $130 of the firm's money. "What was it doing in your pocketbook?"

Her Daughter Is Witness.

"It was in the car and I didn't want it found there and that's why I put it in my purse," the woman answered.

Her daughter, Mrs. Sophie Primak, mother of two children, told the jurors her brother had not worked since he was released from prison.

Mrs. Baranski and Marcelle were returned to the detective bureau, where they are to be viewed by victims of other robberies.

Hoodlum Indicted with Capone Held in New Charge

Frank Conti, one of the 68 hoodlums indicted with Al Capone on charges of conspiracy to violate the dry laws, was held to the federal grand jury in bonds of $2,000 on a new charge by United States Commissioner Walker yesterday. Conti and Charles Bue were seized by police with a truck load of beer in South Wabash avenue.

DEATH PLACES I. N. G. BATTERY IN QUARANTINE

Rockford, Ill., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Members of Battery G, 202d Coast artillery, in summer training at Camp Grant, were placed under working quarantine today following the death of Private Raymond Levin from spinal meningitis.

Col. Arthur E. Lord, surgeon general of the division, in ordering the quarantine, said he and other medical officers believed there was little danger to the other soldiers. There are 7,500 National Guardsmen in camp. The quarantine restrains men of Battery G from mingling with other soldiers, but will not interfere with their scheduled training.

Levin, 18 years old, living at 3359 Beach avenue, Chicago, was stricken Saturday night in bivouac, near Belvidere, and was taken to the Highland hospital there. He was removed Sunday to St. Anthony's hospital here, where he died. It is believed Levin contracted the disease before reporting for duty.

Another Chicago soldier from the same artillery outfit as Levin died here today. He was Private Roland Mack, 25 years old, of 506 Diversey parkway, a member of Battery A. He was injured Sunday in a collision between an army truck and a sedan on Grant highway, 3 miles east of Cherry Valley.

Hamlin, who served as a major in the 33d division in the world war, was a member of the legislature from 1914 to 1918. He has been assistant corporation counsel, assistant attorney general, and assistant district attorney. In 1929 he was a candidate for the Superior court bench on the Peoples' ticket, the guiding spirit of which was Edward J. Brundage, but he failed to win election. Last year he was up for reelection.

Hunter's Shot Glances Off Ground and Kills Son

Sparta, N. J., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Samuel Goble went home happy today after he had killed a woodchuck, unaware that one of his shots had richocheted and killed his son.

Harold Goble, 3, and his brother, Aaron, 5, had been trundling a wheelbarrow along a road at the side of the woods.

"Something flew up out of the ground and hit Harold," the younger brother told his father later. "I put him in the wheelbarrow and took him home."

RUSSIAN BURBANK GROWS TOMATOES 3 POUNDS EACH

MOSCOW, Aug. 3.—A Russian Luther Burbank, named Zolotof, has been discovered working at the experimental cotton plantation near Bokhara. If half of what is claimed in a four column article in Isvestia, written by Zolotof's associate, Agronofski, is true, Russia will lead the world in cotton production within ten years. Agronofski declared the Zolotof method has produced an average of five tons of cotton per acre, ten to twelve times greater than last year's average for the Bokhara region.

Experiments with other vegetables have produced 170 tons of potatoes per acre, 110 tons of tomatoes, 96 tons of Egyptian beet root, and 175 tons of cucumbers. The tomatoes weigh from two and a quarter to three pounds each, cabbage from eight to fifty pounds and beet roots ten and a half pounds. Eggplants grow a yard and a half long.

Machine Age Man Looks at Mexican Life

Contrasting Simple Ways and Latest Devices.

BY EDITH WEIGLE.

WHAT happens when an economist, a student of the machine age, visits a primitive country, a so-called backward civilization like that of Mexico? If this student of the present era is an indefatigable brain worker like Mr. Stuart Chase, he proceeds to spend his five months' holiday in collecting material and writing a book on the subject of the two cultures: that of Mexico and that of the United States. Presto, "Mexico: A Study of Two Americas," the work of Stuart Chase in collaboration with Marian Tyler [Macmillan], and the August choice of the Literary guild.

STUART CHASE.

First of all let it be said this book is no weighty tome dealing in dry statistical language with an uninteresting problem. It is a conversational, clever, sometimes caustic, sometimes humorous description of life in Indian and Mexican communities and a comparison of the daily existence of the Indians and descendants of the Aztecs with that of the Yankee, the Texan, and the Hoosier, their northern neighbors. Plenty of statistics are given, but in such a casual and informal way that they do not impede the swift progress of the book.

Mr. Chase tells of Mexico before the Spaniards came, of the culture of the Mayas, the Toltecs and the Aztecs; their engineering, architecture, government and handicrafts; then of the Spanish conquest and the decline of Mexican civilization which followed it. As a typical village of present day Mexico he takes the town of Tepoztlan with its 4,000 inhabitants and places it side by side, for purposes of comparison, with "Middletown," the fictional name given to Muncie, Ind., which it was recently made the subject of complete economic and sociological survey by Robert and Helen Lynd.

On the one hand is a remote, scenically beautiful village, filled with simple, dedicated people who till the soil, carry on the native handicrafts of their ancestors in the self-same manner as practiced ages ago; who live and die without knowing a thing about radios, movies, tractors, electric refrigerators, typewriters, gold fillings in teeth, and Culbertson on bridge. They do not even know the value of money. Yet they are happy, contented, have all the leisure in the world to enjoy themselves, and are gloriously devoid of Freudian complexes, child training difficulties, and periods of business depression.

On the other hand is "Middletown," or Muncie, which Mr. Chase addresses thus: "You, my fellow citizens, do not desire to return to a handicraft economy, and one would not want you to. You could not if you wished. But there are certain features of the early American way of life as typified in Muncie which, if you could acquire them, would make you more human and more happy. As your unemployed swing from factory to factory, you might begin thinking about a modicum of regional self-sufficiency; about ease in the way of economic security, not in dollars but in goods. Even now your jobless are drifting back to the farms, but the farms are sinking, for they are largely innocent of cornbelt. You ought to know by now that business leadership is bankrupt, that 'prosperity' was but a flash in the pan, and that mechanical civilization can never give you what you want on the policy—or lack of it—heretofore pursued."

Mr. Chase believes that mass production has a useful function in severely restricted fields, but that big business has not learned to keep to those fields. He advocates decentralization of industry and sees a great future for small factories and plants scattered all over the rural communities of the country and using cheap electric power, each worker living a freer and healthier life than is possible in the congestion of the cities. As Henry Ford about the merits of this plan, he says,

Mr. Chase sees room for great development in the realm of athletics in Mexico, but he sees no field at all for "bridge tournaments, marathon dances, tree roosters, or publicity stunts by pushing a peanut up a mountain with the aid of one's nose."

He says there are four kinds of Americans in Mexico—tourists, who go about voicing the usual complaints; students, "the popular arts boys and girls"; residents, a small group which really treats the natives like human beings and gets along with them admirably, and the American colony, a large group circulating around the country club, representing primarily commercial interests, and all sighing for the good old days of Porfirio Diaz and discussing such military subjects as the servant problem, golf, and bridge.

"THE FIVE YEAR PLAN."

Th' world's watching to see if Russia can

Produced by Amkino.
Photographed in Russia.
Presented at the Apollo theater.
THE CAST.
The Russian Nation.

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

The picture at the Apollo is a news reel-like assemblage of data forming a silent pictorial record of Russia as it is today after three years of its "Five Year Plan" for the nation's remaking. Dialogue written by some economist and delivered by Mark Hawley accompanies the action.

This pictorial document of Russia's development starts with views of various of the peoples from Siberian Eskimo to Tibetan peasant that compose the Union of Soviet Socialist republics, and you learn something of the geography of the land.

You see the building of factories for the production of automobiles, farm machinery, steel; the erection of schools; the effort toward the betterment of homes and sanitary conditions. Dams and power plants are discovered in course of construction and you learn that American engineers are the spinal column of the industrial development. You perceive the unloading of cargoes from American ports on the docks of Leningrad. . . . Stalin is introduced . . .

There are scenes of the former empire of the czars, of Moscow, "the nerve center of the soviet movement," of Vladivostock, of fisheries, fields of blowing wheat and snowy cotton [the photography is excellent], peasants washing their hands [THAT is a satisfactory sight!], cooperative farms, steppes, Caucasus mountains! And everywhere humans laboring, laboring, like beavers and ants, endeavoring prodigiously to accomplish a prodigious task.

Kaleidoscopic? You've said it. Propaganda? Assuredly. A hodgepodge? Yes. But the picture will be of intense interest to economists, to Russians, to those who believe that the "Five Year Plan" is practical and bound to be successful, and to such as fear it and think it already a failure.

What this cinema should have had was the direction of Eisenstein to give it the human touch. As it stands it's too much like an adding machine. Eisenstein would have made the robot glow and palpitate. Remember his "Old and New"? But Eisenstein went to Hollywood which pleased him not at all—and at last reports he was down in Mexico putting new life into peons. Doesn't he hear Russia calling him, I wonder?

See you soon.

Movie Gossip from Hollywood

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 3.—Two openings during the last week presented Hollywood boulevard with its most interesting occurrences in some time. One was the big splurge attending the opening of Embassy Roof garden, for whose lavish setting Harold Grieve, interior decorator, and Jetta Goudal [Mrs. Grieve] are responsible. The other opening was that of "The Studio," a theater with exactly 303 seats. This little spot boasts "every seat a center seat." It has no aisles, and is interestingly decorated. It's equipped so that adaptation for television would be easily possible.

The Paramount corporation is betting a lot of money that the rest of 1931 and the year 1932 will bring a decided business pickup. Paramount broke its summer dull season by scheduling eighteen talking feature films to be launched in August.

Anna May Wong has taken her beach cottage at La Guna, 120 miles the other way from Malibu, where the rest of the screen colony goes for its summer surf revels. "So I couldn't be pointed out as Anna May Wong," she explained.

The ceremony was performed in Mrs. Curtiss' suite. She is 51 and Wheeler is 39.

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

One has only to look at my mail these days to learn how enthusiastically the boys and girls in Chicago are looking forward to the arrival of Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey circus. Letters fairly pour in from the young applicants who want to be invited to our party on Thursday, Aug. 13, and keeping my list of guests down to one hundred boys and girls will be a mighty difficult task.

I don't believe any one should miss the spectacle of this marvelous show when it takes up quarters on the lake front, for it ranks among the biggest and best of the amusements which visit the city. Acrobats, trapezists, tight rope walkers and equestrians; performing dogs, musical seals, gigantic elephants, and wild animals; Wild West riders and one hundred of the most amusing clowns on record join forces to entertain you.

The newest and probably the most daring of the acts in the circus this year is the Orland-Mara feature. From the edge of a small pedestal high above the heads of his audience, with a girl clinging to his back, Orland lunges below to a slender, curving, toboggan chute. In the manner of skijumpers they speed along the chute—down, out and up—and finally land far out in front upon a canvas net held by fifty men. You'll hold your breath during this spectacle and there are many others almost as exciting.

Of course, you don't want to miss any of this fun so you had better begin working on that winning letter immediately. Remember, it must reach me no later than next Thursday morning and it should include your name, address and age. The boys and girls who write the best letters—that is, whose letters sound like they are most anxious to attend this party—will be invited.

Crowd Hails Deems Taylor for His Opera

"Peter Ibbetson" Has Debut at Ravinia.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

"Peter Ibbetson" is apparently due to be the most popular American opera yet written. If at times its book should seem to outweigh its music in importance, that is not in the least going to hurt its popularity. Anyway, it is one of the best books ever chosen for musical treatment.

The work was presented at Ravinia last night for the first time in this part of the country, for that matter, for the first time away from the Metropolitan Opera company of New York. It was a good bit of an event. The park was crowded, the singing actors were up on their toes, applause shook the pavilion, and Deems Taylor, the composer and co-author, had to come out of his concealment in Mr. Eckstein's box to take part of the applause for himself, also to make a brief speech from the stage.

He has done a wonderfully canny act in choosing this play as a libretto. It is a striking play in itself, and it lets itself be emotionally helped by music. Much of Peter's dream scenes are accompanied by a concealed chorus, and here the effect is unfailingly tender and touching. Mr. Taylor has an extraordinary gift for choral writing. A good part of it is in folk character, some perhaps borrowed and adapted from folk sources, some invented by himself, but always with a vivid sense of the theater.

There are times in the dramatic action when one suspects Mr. Taylor of a desire to write straight melody, but purposely and deliberately warping it into modernized idiom. In such spots the book gets ahead of the music. But when his fancy turns upon the chorus, the music becomes as heartbreaking as the scenes between Edward Johnson as Peter and Lucrezia Bori as Mary. And I submit that it is taking an unfair advantage of the emotions of any audience to put two such artists into a piece like this.

Did I remember to say that the opera is in English? Remarkable English it is, too. Mr. Johnson sings English as plaihly as any actor you ever heard speak it and Miss Bori, slight accent and all, is not far behind. There are other fine demonstrations of the advantages of our own tongue from Alfredo Gandolfi as Col Ibbetson, Louis D'Angelo as the prison chaplain, and a number of others. But the cast is a long one and it and several other interesting items of the opera will have to be left for future consideration.

FRENCH AND GERMAN VETERANS FRATERNIZE IN MAGDEBURG FETE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MAGDEBURG, Germany, Aug. 3.—French veterans returning from Prague, where they attended a congress of an international association of veterans, stopped over in Madgeburg, near Berlin, an industrial town where Germany's republican association, Reichsbanner, makes its headquarters.

Men who prepared to fire on each other 17 years ago exchanged speeches of peace.

The French delegation was received by Friederich Hoersing, chief of the Reichsbanner and representatives of the states of Prussia and Saxony. This afternoon they were guests of honor at a mass meeting at Madgeburg station.

Herr Hoersing told his guests to realize that the republican millions of Germany have nothing to do with the spectacular radicals.

"On Aug. 9 the Reichsbanner men will go to Coblenz, where a month ago the Steel Helmet men shook their fists at France. We will extend the hand of a brother to France. She may rest convinced that a vast majority of the German people do not want war and are asking only for understanding with the whole world, including France."

Prof. Cassin, a Frenchman, told the Germans how distrust was fostered by the Hitlerite victory of last September and that "France cannot take the responsibility of lending Germany money which might get into the hand of Adolf Hitler, Alfred Hugenburg, and Hjalmar Schacht of the Steel Helmets."

Through development of factories the two countries can produce much more than their markets can absorb, Prof. Cassin said. Therefore a systematic organization must work out coördinate production and distribution.

$1,000 Check to Give 100 More Mothers Trip to Algonquin

Bearing the letterhead of a popular Colorado Springs hotel, a message reached the Camp Algonquin editor yesterday and when the envelope was opened, out dropped a check for $1,000 from the best friend the fund ever has known.

"Please see that as many poor mothers and children as possible get an outing at Camp Algonquin," wrote the donor, directing that the name be kept secret. This same person with another check for $1,000 gave the camp fund courage at the beginning of the summer. This donor could not start a vacation without being perfectly sure that a good many tenement mothers and their children would get vacations, too.

One hundred more vacations! That is good news to the camp superintendent, Mrs. Astrid Save, who knows how very many Chicagoans living in the congested districts need vacations. And better news to those mothers who had given up hope of getting to Algonquin this year.

The $1,000 gift will give the Camp Algonquin fund a renewed impetus to complete its task, probably the most difficult in many years because of the depression. Gifts have come slowly because many who in previous years have given do not have it to give this year.

Sacrifices have been made in order to send a few dollars to the fund. For these loyalties the fund is truly thankful. Providing two weeks vacation for half the 1,800 needy persons to attend the camp during this season is a tremendous financial undertaking for TRIBUNE readers.

Another lemonade stand benefit, one of the many this summer given by Chicago youngsters, brought eighty-five cents to the camp fund. This was earned by Marvin and Howard Wolfberg and John Tait. Ten dollars each came from Anonymous and Josephine M. Powers and $1 from Ella J., making a total of $3,543.96 in the Camp Algonquin fund, including the $1,000 gift that just arrived.

CLEVELAND OPERA, AT 25 CENTS TO $3, HAS 88,708 IN SIX NIGHTS

Cleveland, O., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Cleveland's first season of outdoor grand opera ended last night a tremendous success. There was a total attendance of 88,708 in six nights.

Admission prices ranged from 25 cents to $3, and the profit was to go to the children's milk fund of the Cleveland Press. The profit had not been computed last night.

Presented in the Cleveland municipal stadium, the operas had the benefit of the largest operatic stage ever used, plus a large grassy plot in the foreground, where such processions as that in "Aida" became an unusually magnificent pageant.

Stars from the Metropolitan, Chicago, and Philadelphia Opera companies appeared in the principal rôles, to assure a high standard. Nearly 800 other persons were especially trained for the choruses and secondary rôles. In addition there was a 100 piece orchestra and 100 ballet dancers.

Winter Styles Buyers Arrive; Discuss School

Hope to Put Science Into Country Stores.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

Fall styles are edging onto the stage already, long before summer is due to take a curtain call. Yesterday they managed successfully to monopolize public interest especially in the loop and its vicinity, aided and abetted by the presence of the vanguard of 2,000 buyers who will concentrate in earnest this week on their winter stocks.

Coming from all parts of the country to survey the result of summer activities in the Chicago manufacturing districts, these business men and women will focus their attention chiefly on the program of the Interstate Merchants' council at the Palmer house, and on the exhibits of the Chicago Merchandise fair at the Coliseum. A specialized attraction will be the pajama style show at the Hotel Sherman.

Models from the latter revue promenaded loop streets yesterday in vividly colored creations, displaying the most recent style trends in street pajamas. Beach suits also were shown, and the craning of necks that followed their progress along Michigan avenue testified to the chic of the ensembles.

Last night at the Palmer house hundreds of the visitors concentrated on familiarizing themselves with the salient features of the 1931-1932 winter mode, as demonstrated by scores of young women who tripped forth on a long runway in dozens of variations of the dresses, suits, hats and coats that will be worn when cold weather comes again. The fashion show is to be held nightly up to and including Thursday.

Empress Eugenie hats, coquettishly tipped over one eye and with frothy plumes caressing one cheek; tippet capes, flounced skirts, raglan sleeves and pinched in waists proclaim the novelty of the mode that lingers just in the offing. Generally speaking, it achieves a satisfactory compromise between the ultra-feminine and the severely tailored, utilizing something of both while refusing to be entirely dominated by either.

Directors of the Interstate Merchants' council, gathered for a preliminary meeting at noon discussed the advisability of establishing in Chicago a school of instruction for the small town merchant, to focus his attention on the mathematical phases of his business. It was the consensus that the merchant in the smaller community is too often a shopkeeper rather than a business man.

The proposed school, if opened at one of the Chicago universities, would instruct and advise him on the proper method of keeping his records, how to rate his overhead, what percentage of his income should be expended for rent, and similar important items.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

Just as they have for the last fifty-seven years, old settlers of Chicago and Cook county renewed old friendships and relived bygone days beneath the tall trees of Riverview park yesterday. Members of the Chicago Turngemeinde, sponsoring the annual old settlers' picnic, said that between seven and eight thousand visited the grounds between 1 and 7 p. m.

There were games for children and prize awards in true picnic style. But the real guests of the party were the silver haired men and women who formed in little groups to visit, dance the polka or the waltz, or nod their heads to the familiar tunes of the German band.

A tiny grandmother stood on tiptoe at the outskirts of a crowd that had collected to hear 84 year old Andrew Specht sing an old German love song very popular years ago. She swung her head from side to side as the crowd took up the tune. The leader, dressed in black broadcloth, his coat had silk lapels, stood grandly in the center of the group beating time with his hands.

Scarcely ten feet away another knot was gathering, coaxed by the roving band. There was a hub-bub of talking, and the band began to play a waltz. Those fortunate enough to edge to the inner circle saw a beau and a belle of civil war days dancing almost as spryly as they did 70 years ago.

"If that isn't Johanna Alm dancing," an onlooker said. "She'll be 98 years old in November. I don't believe she ever misses one of these picnics, with about four of her five generations of descendants.

The next event on Mrs. Alm's program was holding on her lap her great-great-granddaughter, Joan Alm, 2 months old, the youngest of her 96 descendants. She explained that when she came to the picnic five years ago, she could only boast of 78 children and grandchildren.

For 84 years, ever since he was born here in 1848, Maurice Prindiville, 6641 Glenwood avenue, has lived in Chicago, but yesterday was the first time he had attended the old settlers' picnic.

"My father Redmond Prindiville, settled at State street and Chicago avenue in 1836 in a log cabin when there were 3,000 white people in the town and more Indians here than whites," he related. "He helped to build the old Galena and Chicago railway, now part of the Chicago and North Western, and he named the first engine that ever came to Chicago. He called it the Pioneer.

"And I expect I'm the only Chicagoan, now here, who took the first train out of Chicago on Jan. [illegible] 1849. I was just ten months old and we rode to Oak Park. There were heavy snows and I've heard my father tell the joke he played on my mother. He went ahead carrying me and suddenly tossed me in a snowbank, leaving my mother to pick me up."

William H. Spekings, 4853 North Crawford avenue, 83 years old, was another who was born here in 1848. He lived for seven years in a log cabin, built by the Indians and previously occupied by an Indian chief.

"This cabin was located [illegible] two miles from my present home," he explained. "My father bought [illegible] res for $1,400. We used to drive down to the courthouse. It was a long drive. All of seven miles."

The most exciting moment of the picnic came early last evening with the announcement of the award of eleven medals. They were distributed as follows, the first six going to men and women for length of residence in Chicago:

Maj. Albert E. Gaze, business address, 10 North La Salle street, 86 years old, here since 1845.

Marie Buertsch, 1527 Howard street, born in Austria, here since 1871.

Other awards were:

Longest in employ of same business concern—Louis Heitbrink, 2040 Fremont street, teacher and organist of St. James' Lutheran school, Garfield and Fremont, since 1880.

Oldest veteran U. S. army or navy—Louis Volkmann, 4111 Addison street, 91 years old, 57th Illinois infantry, company G.

Medals were awarded only to those who never before had received them, officials of the picnic said.

FLOWER OF THORNS

By Marie Conway Oemler

SYNOPSIS.

Sally Rutherford, the last of a proud old southern family, following the ruin and suicide of her grandfather, determines to keep the heavily mortgaged Oakleigh plantation for her grandmother. She opens a hot dog stand on the Dixie highway. The estate of the Winsteads, of carpetbagging stock, adjoins Oakleigh. Henry Winstead holds the Oakleigh mortgage. His only son, Sam, is a great help to Sally, although she doesn't know his real identity until the stand is successfully started. Sally falls in love with Lowndes Jennings. Sam forces Lowndes to admit in front of Sally that he is engaged to the wealthy Gertrude Reinert. Sam asks Sally to marry him, although he knows she doesn't love him. Sally becomes Sam's wife in name only. Sam gives Oakleigh back to Sally as a wedding present. The night of the wedding Sally's grandmother dies. Sally collapses and is brought to Winstead's while she is still unconscious.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

RENUNCIATION.

"Please, Sam, I don't understand," said Sally faintly. "You said you knew exactly what you were doing and why you did it!"

"I knew exactly what I was doing, and why I did it—when I did it. But I have begun to question the wisdom of carrying on further. Had your grandmother remained, I should have held to my original plan. But now that she is removed I see no reason why you should continue to be held to a bond that may grow more and more irksome to you."

"And you wish to break that bond?"

"I wish you to be free."

"But I pledged myself. I promised. I am married to you!" she cried.

"Because circumstances forced you to. Left to yourself, free to follow your own inclinations, you wouldn't be. Because you don't love me. Held in what you think bondage, it isn't probable that you ever will."

"I gave you my word," said she, simply, as if that were enough.

"And you mean to keep it, I know. But I wish to give you back your word. I am not a slavedriver, Sally."

"But we are married!" she cried, aghast.

"Are we, Sally? Are we? Am I your husband, are you my wife? Can you face that without cringing? Do you think I can face the fact that your inmost heart would recoil?"

"Don't let's talk about being husband and wife, please. I know better. My mother and father loved each other. I was born of their mutual passion. I would be willing to give—and take—nothing less than that. You do not love me. I question now whether you will ever love me. So I shall release you. You are young, you are lovely and desirable, it is natural that you should love again and be loved." He winced at that.

"You gave me Oakleigh—for a wedding present," she said in a low voice, irrelevantly.

"A bridegroom may give his bride what a mere neighbor could not hope to offer a young lady, even granting that she were willing to accept the gift," said he. "You were legally married to me. I could give you anything I wished to give you—and I chose to give you Oakleigh. You need not scruple to accept it. I think you have won it fairly."

"It sounds—wicked," she protested.

"I am . . . bewildered," she said. "I must have time to think." And she asked: "Do you hate me now? You should, for I have given you nothing but trouble."

"What do you think?" he asked her, and gave her a deep, straight look.

"I—I can't think. I am too confused," she tried to explain. And then exclaimed suddenly, her voice trembling: "You wanted to marry me, you know you said you wanted to marry me! And just as soon as you marry me you want me to go! You give me back Oakleigh and ask me please to go! I feel that you mean to be generous—I know you are generous—but—what is the matter with me, please? One man jilts me for money, another man marries me and right away he wants to let me go!" Tears of mortification, of flayed pride rose in her eyes. "I don't understand!" she whispered.

This view of the situation, this feminine logic, took his breath away. He said, with a gasp:

"Sally, forgive me! I am a ghastly ass! I haven't made myself clear! You can forgive me when you stop to consider that I was only considering your happiness, not my own inclinations. I would never let you go if only you wanted to stay! But you do not. You were honest and brave enough to tell me exactly why you consented to marry me—you wanted to secure the roof over Mrs. Rutherford's head. You didn't love me. You told me so, but you were willing to sacrifice yourself, and I—I ran the risk. And then your grandmother died. Do you think I would hold you to such a bargain? It would be monstrous. You couldn't be happy, and I couldn't be happy while I saw you wretched. I care too much. But at least let me try to insure your peace."

"You are such an astonishing person!" she said.

"Sometimes I astonish myself," he admitted with a pang. He was letting her go, he was letting her go! his heart hammered. He had to insure her happiness. But . . . O, Flower of Thorns! . . . Flower of Thorns! . . . He held himself rigid—and to her resentful eyes he appeared to be quite at ease, composed, perfectly willing to let her go, well knowing that her destiny lay in his hands and that whatever it was to be, he would have made it! "However, don't let's talk about me. Let us talk about what's to be done about you." And he managed to smile.

"Yes. What's to be done about me?" she agreed, dully.

"You have been through so much, mostly unpleasant. Now reflect that you're going to be free, you're going to be mistress of your own life. You are young. You . . . may—will—love again, be beloved. You will look back upon all this as one remembers an evil dream. It is nothing but an unhappy dream, Sally. Now wake up!"

"You talk," she said, "as if I alone were to be considered. But what of you?"

"Me? I have my work, remember. In the long run, nothing but his own work can satisfy any man."

"But how are we to manage? You told me I had a part to play, but before I have the chance to study it even, you propose that I shall change the rôle altogether. I was to play the happy bride. Now I'm asked to play the free and happy divorcée-to-be. What is to be your rôle, may I ask?"

"My part is to decamp. I shall visit Denmark again. There are some people in England I should like to confer with, too. And I've always wanted a closer acquaintance with the hills of Uganda."

"What of your father?"

"Dad has his business."

"Does he—know? About us, I mean?"

"No. I have never told him, because I don't wish to make him unhappy. Nobody knows anything about us except ourselves."

"But if you go away now, everybody will suspect that something is wrong, won't they?"

"I shan't act precipitately. It will take some time to get all my business in order. The dairy is in pretty good shape, and Joe Dixon can carry on just as if I were here. Joe is a fine fellow. By the way, Joe is to be married shortly and if you want to do me a real favor, please be nice to the new Mrs. Dixon. She's a Virginia girl."

"I will be as nice as I know how to be," said she, simply. "And—and what else, please."

"You must meet the occasion as it arises, for awhile. Then, later, you must sue for your freedom. Say we had an irreconcilable difference, and I refused to live with you, and you want to be free of me. Mr. Sinclair will act for you."

"It sounds . . . wicked!" she protested. "It's not true!"

"It sounds sensible," he corrected. "It is the best I can do under the circumstances."

"I wonder!" said Sally. "And how long do you wish me to keep up the . . . farce?"

"I'll be here for a few months more. It won't be long," he told her. It wouldn't be long! Just a few months—and then all the remainder of his life without her! A few months more she would be here, bound to him, he could see her daily, she would be within reach. Afterwards—emptiness. Empty days, empty nights, weeks, months, years, in which she would have no share. Strange, that a dead heart could so torture him, he thought, with a sick qualm. And strange, that when Sally was so freely offered what she had most craved, and when she should rejoice, that she couldn't!

His generosity all but stunned her. He was always surprising her, astonishing her by some new angle of a character whose depths she was but partly conscious of. This last evidence swept her off her feet.

Sally looked at him curiously, with a sort of reluctant homage, and a touch of exasperation. She had to readjust her estimate of him. He was like no other man she had ever known or heard of. And she thought of Lowndes—and Lowndes shrank to small proportion beside this gold haired colossus.

"Stay here long enough to teach me exactly what you wish me to do—to be sure I can meet any emergency as you would have me meet it.

"I am trying to be an obedient pupil," she corrected him gravely.

"I am sure of your intelligence and loyalty," he told her calmly.

"You asked me not to make you consider me a fool," she reminded him.

"You can afford to forget that. You won't have to remember it—presently," he reminded her. "Now is there anything more you would like to ask me, or have I made everything plain to you?"

"No, there is nothing more to be said. I think I am beginning to understand."

"I will go back to the office, then—I have some work I must finish. You do not need or want anything? A book?"

A FRIEND IN NEED

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Young Widow Needs Help.

"I am writing for a young expectant mother who is in a difficult situation. Her husband died a few months ago and the girl has no one to go to for help. She will need clothes for the baby but cannot buy them. She will be so grateful for any you could secure for her through your column. She needs clothing for herself, too, in size 18 or 20. Mrs. G. K."

Can you help this young, expectant mother who has been left to face life alone? Being prepared to take care of the baby when it arrives would lift her spirits immensely and relieve her of a great worry.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

A considerable amount of eyebrow dyeing has been done this summer to meet the needs of the "water-sprites." Such are the demands of the day that a girl must appear at her level best every minute the clock around, no matter what duty she's performing or what sport she is enjoying. The bathing beauty must keep up her artificial cheek bloom and her eyebrow distinction, too. So, any number of girls have rushed in on a sister enthusiast's advice and had eyebrows dyed to meet the outdoor emergency.

Now, eyebrows can be dyed with the same success that hair often is dyed. Also, they can be dyed with the same lack of success, pictorially speaking, that hair frequently exhibits. And when the eyebrows are badly dyed you have a real facial disaster to reckon with for months, at least. The color will last approximately three months and if you happen to draw upon your brows a too heavy color or a shade that is not consistent with your regular coloring, you're just about due for a three months' retirement or face a battery of startled eyes.

If the eyelashes are dyed cleverly, there is the advantage to the bathing girl of not coming out of the water with a spotty, smudgy frame around her eyes, common to other eyelash treatments.

But all of this dyeing stuff calls for skilled work. There is nothing in the beauty game that calls for quite the same scientific understanding of hair reaction to false color and hardened experience about its application. You can look simply awful with eyebrows and lashes dyed an off shade or a too heavy color.

So, I'd suggest that if you are having the work done that you do not go in for any economizing. Pick out the best hair dyeing artist, and order him to err on the light shade if there must be any erring done. That is, don't plunge in on a radical change in eyebrow and eyelash coloring. The effect is more startling than hair on the head switched from a negative shade to a vivid one.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

E. Mc.: BUNIONS ARE DISLOCATIONS of the joint of the great toe. A broader toed shoe will give the joint a hance to right itself if the bunion has just appeared. Unless cared for early, only an operation will remedy the disfigurement. My leaflet on the feet may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

T. N.: DEPILATORIES MAY BE used for the removal of hair other than on the face. After the use of a depilatory it is well to apply a soothing lotion or cream. My leaflet on superfluous hair may be had for a stamped, addressed envelope.

Here's Book That Will Add to Child's Outdoor Knowledge

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Do your children love quiet brooks and ponds? Little streams and tiny waterfalls and reedy swamps? And do they come back from these expeditions happy and wet and hot and satisfied, lugging star grass and cat tails, with minnows, caddis worms and newts in handkerchiefs, hungry for food and information?

With such people in mind, both children and grownups, Ann Haven Morgan has written her "Field Book of Ponds and Streams," and G. P. Putnam's Sons has published it [$3.50].

Four hundred and fifty pages of text, 300 line cuts, 15 black and white illustrations, 8 color pages, and a detailed index make this book one of the most convenient, complete, and valuable books on the subject of fresh water life that has been published. The book covers both plant and animal life, and includes information on collecting and preserving water animals and for keeping them in aquaria.

To those children with a great interest in the natural world this book is especially helpful in increasing their powers of observation and their interest; in making the whole reproduction of life a natural thing which fits perfectly into their whole knowledge of life.

The quiet deserted pool is in reality swarming with exciting life—snails who have not yet invented the wonderful hinge of their progenitor, the mollusk; caddis worms, who inhabit the hollows of straw and walk safely on the stream bed; dragon flies, delicately hovering and darting but seldom landing; painted and spotted turtles sunning themselves on water soaked logs; blood suckers, who carry their babies swarming on their bellies; cattails that used to ornament the Victorian parlor. This whole fascinating household of nature is revealed and explained in this little book. It is pocket size and especially arranged for field reference.

Other books for children with various outdoor interests are listed in our leaflet, "Books of the Outdoor World," which will be sent on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Owsleys Give Lotus Picnic at Grass Lake

BY THALIA

GUESTS at the Randolph Owsleys' picnic party to the lotus beds last Friday night are telling how very original and cute it was. There were about 40 all together, and they convened first at the Owsleys' home in Ridge lane in Lake Forest. The men were each given a boxed picnic basket containing sandwiches, tarts, salad and things for two people, and also was told to ask one of the feminine guests to partake of it with him. [This resolved itself into the ladies doing the selecting, I understand]. Then they all drove out to the lotus lake near Grass lake.

They had a boat ride through the lotus, everybody got a lotus blossom, and they had the picnic on the shore. The Owsleys are departing on Saturday with the Corwith Cramers on their yacht for a cruise of several weeks in Georgian bay.

Mr. and Mrs. William T. Lusk [Kathrine Adams that was before their marriage on June 25] have concluded their wedding trip in Bermuda and for the rest of the summer are to occupy the Briars, the summer place of Mr. Lusk's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Graham Lusk, at Syosset on Long Island. Dr. and Mrs. Lusk having sailed last week on the Mauretania for a European trip.

The most beguiling of recent innovations in Lake Forest is Lloyd Laflin's new water bicycle. It's like a motor bike only it's set on pontoons and sits up quite high out of the water. Mr. Laflin uses it in Lake Michigan and makes good speed and dispenses with it. He lets people try it on it, too, and they say it's lots of fun, and everybody wants one.

Another unique vehicle is Secor Bowne's high wheeled bicycle, one of them gay '90 affairs, on which he goes about over the Cape Cod countryside. He and his brother, Aldis Bowne, Jr., and the young lady of the family, Chou-Chou [it will be Elizabeth on her calling cards when she gets old enough to have them], have been at Osterville since June, and Mrs. Bowne went down recently to join them.

Week-end picturettes—The Charles Glore young son [who just can hardly wait until he's old enough to play polo astride the wooden polo pony of Dauntless. Sunday afternoon, practicing a lot of swashing big strokes, and totally oblivious to the tennis matches that everybody else found so exciting. . . . Mrs. Leroy Fuller on her head swathed in billows of green veils, setting out with Mr. Fuller to motor in the touring car to Arlington for the final races. . . . Gladys S. Dewey's dun colored straw hat with the vari-colored band. . . . Mrs. John T. McCutcheon's very casual looking shade hat that she wore at the races Saturday. [It came way down over her face and had a floppy edge, and MUST have come from Miami.]

Miss Alice Gerstenberg has, on the advice of a numerologist, added the name "Eyra" to her name, and is requesting her friends to call her that. She'll sign herself Alice Eyra Gerstenberg. The new name makes new vibrations, according to numerology and will be propitious for her future endeavors. Miss Gerstenberg has been visiting in Indiana, and her brother, Mrs. Erich Gerstenberg, has returned from Palm Beach, where she has been visiting Mrs. Caroline Kohl.

Mrs. Charles H. Swift gave a dinner on Friday night on the roof garden of the St. Regis in New York for Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur C. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. John Dunbar, and George H. Swift. . . . Mrs. Morrow Evans and Mrs. David Peck are going up to visit the Sidney Adlers at their place in northern Wisconsin Friday night. . . . Miss Gwethalyn Jones is getting back from Europe some time this week. . . . The Alfred Wolfes evidently came down from Elkhorn to welcome Mrs. Wolfe's parents, the Frederick Stocks home from Europe, for they were at the tennis matches on Sunday.

Mrs. Cyrus Bentley and Richard Bentley are among the passengers aboard the Olympic, which docks today in New York City . . . The Alfred Duroy Jrs. and the Philip B. Dickeys gave a luncheon at the Madison hotel in New York before they sailed on the Vulcania for their trip abroad. . . . Eleanor and Patty McCormick, Louise Hunt, Jarvis Hunt's daughter, and Margaret Chapman are in model gowns in a very swanky fashion show to be given at the Bar Harbor club on Aug. 11 for the benefit of the Bar Harbor hospital. . . . Mrs. Frank R. Meadowcroft of the Webster hotel usually goes to Wisconsin, Me., early in the summer, but she's been ill this year and didn't get off until yesterday. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Clarence B. Mitchell, her brother, Harold King, and Mr. and Mrs. Alden Pelletier, who have been on a trip to Alaska since the end of June, are back in Montecito, Cal. . . . Mrs. Donald R. Wegg and her son, Talbot, have gone to Watch Hill, R. I.

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' SPORTS DRESS.

White cotton mesh, with a bright red belt and matching red buttons will be smart, while flat washable silk crepe, shantung and linen are suitable.

The pattern, 3170, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years, and 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¼ yards of 39 inch material.

Doris Tells Young Wife New Mate Will Have Faults of Old

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have been married over a year now, and find myself not in love with my husband, but with a single man. I realize my marriage was a big mistake. The bad part of it is that my husband doesn't know this and is still in love with me and very jealous of me. I would hate to hurt his feelings, but I can easily support myself as I have a good position. The other man is still going to college. I am 23. My husband 25. Mrs. D."

Sometimes I wonder if some of you restless young wives aren't inflicted with the same changeable nature that is experienced in a certain brand of cafeteria diner. Always that which is on the other fellow's plate looks more tempting after you've made your own choice.

Or, if these discoveries that big mistakes have been made aren't, perhaps, the result of rather idiotic ideas of what marriage constitutes. Some of you restless wives, though you use good sense about the realities of life as they are met in your work-a-day rounds, still cling ridiculously to dream castles anent your marriage careers. Then, up bobs that symbol, to you, of what-might-have-been in the shape of a man still attending school, or still unmarried, anyway.

You dress up the figure with a great deal of plain hooey about what marriage with him would have brought you. You never get down to brass tacks about what actual living with him would be; how it probably would be little different from life with the man you are legally bound to. In other words, it isn't the man that is causing the big mistake but an unwillingness to compromise with the real facts of married existence.

Then the clause about being able to support oneself has a stinger in it, too. It encourages the tendency to refuse to compromise with married life as it must be led to be successful. Frankly, I don't believe these "burning passions" for the outside gentleman are, in most cases, more than an attempted escape from the actualities of life that confront a young married woman.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Accept His Invitations.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 16 and like a boy of 20. Should I accept his invitation to go out with him?" "PEGGY."

Yes, if you like him and your parents are quite agreeable.

Disregard Hearsay.

"Dear Miss Blake: I know a girl and I love her very much. I've taken her out once and she seemed to enjoy herself. I have just heard that she likes some one else. FRED."

Why be influenced by hearsay, Fred? You want to win her, so ask to take her out again and make the evening such an enjoyable one that she'll want you to repeat the invitation, and soon.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Browns had had their house painted and reshingled. Mrs. Brown, on the receipt of the bill, remarked to a neighbor: "Every time I wish we were going away for the summer I walk around my house and say 'this is my vacation.'"

Some time later 6 year old Joan was overheard excitedly telling her younger brother:

"Do you know where we're going this summer? We're gonna walk around our house in a circle and look at it. That's our vacation. Mother said so." M. L.

Joseph, aged 8, received a pony for a birthday gift. He proudly rode it down to my house for me to see it and while I was watching he urged the pony to canter. The young owner, not being an expert horseman was unseated and tumbled into the soft dirt in the lane.

Rising slowly and brushing the dust from his clothes young Joseph explained, "I wanted to get off anyway." M. S.

Paris Removes Sheen from New Fall Velvets

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—Velvets are going to be valuable materials in fall fashions. They have been made practical, according to the claim of the Paris authorities. French weavers have created a new velvet without the sheen that made it as fragile as a picked poppy—the sheen that kept a permanent register of raindrops, wrinkles and every little vicissitude to which the cloth that makes our clothes is subjected. The removal of the sheen from velvet also makes this luscious material suitable for simple daytime clothes, where shiny surfaces are as fatal to chic as they are to the nose and blue serge.

The French dressmakers showed simple runabout frocks of delustered velvet in their mid-season fashion collections, dresses like the Jean Patou frock, sketched today. This dress, in addition to being made of the new velvet, is dark green in color, a second point that makes it smart. Thirdly, it is trimmed with narrow edgings of thread lace, around the sports shirt collar and down the notched front of the blouse, and at the borders of the pointed cuffs. Fine, white lace edgings are new trimmings for simple daytime dresses, for autumn, 1931.

The wide velvet belt of this Patou frock has a double ring buckle of onyx and jade, which is a Patou feature. The side panels of the skirt that ripple downward toward the hem in the back are another new Patou detail for fall frocks.

Food Talk.

Cole slaw may be the drabbest of salads or it may be the most attractive. Whether it repels or attracts, our interest depends upon the way it is made. Cabbage that will produce the finest of slaw is available now. It is home grown cabbage, the kind that is brittle and crisp and a pale green on the outside, shading to a rich cream in toward the heart. It is not particularly solid cabbage but it is wonderfully flavored, colored, and textured.

A trimmed, cleaned, fresh cabbage should be shredded with a clean, sharp cutting instrument. An ordinary case or butcher knife that is sharp will do, but a good vegetable slicer is better. It matters not whether the shreds are fine or medium in thickness. The crisp quality should never be allowed to decrease in the least. It is best, therefore, to add the dressing and serve the slaw immediately. The kind of dressing depends upon the mood of the cook. Many dressings add to the deliciousness of the slaw and no matter which is used the product is almost sure to please.

The slaw that delights most is made by first seasoning the cabbage with salt, sugar, black pepper, then different dressings may be added to vary the slaw. Just at this point dilute vinegar [half vinegar and half water makes a delicately flavored light salad.] Another method is to add to the seasoned cabbage either mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing combined with sweet or sour cream, to produce a slaw sufficiently moist. Still another is to add to the seasoned cabbage sour or sweet cream to cover the surface of cabbage shreds and then enough vinegar to give a pleasant flavor and moisture. A favorite way of preparation on the farm is to add beaten raw egg yolks to the seasoned cabbage, then dilute with vinegar to give desired flavor.

It is important that the vinegar be not too acid. Vinegar of standard strength [4-6 per cent acetic acid] needs to be diluted so that the actual acid strength in the salad is not more than 3 per cent.

Serve slaw as soon as it is made. It is in its prime during the first half hour of its existence. Cabbage should not be shredded and put into cold water to retain its crispness. The soaking takes out the delicate flavor.

Flavoring substances in cabbage are volatile and when the cabbage is shredded these substances evaporate much more readily than when the cabbage is in the head. Cut the cabbage only as it is needed.

Cole slaw makes an excellent accompaniment of any vegetable served in the main course, and there is no meat with which it conflicts. It is also an excellent filling with which to stuff tomatoes, and it is a good sandwich filler, but for this last use the cabbage should be chopped finely and left to stand in the dressing sufficiently long to produce a slightly wilted condition.

Boasts of immunity to poison ivy infection usually are unwise, for it is doubtful if any one is immune, says Prof. W. C. Muenscher of the New York State College of Agriculture.

In studies he recently has undertaken he has investigated the cause and treatment of the rash that proves painful to most of those who come in contact with the noxious plant. Texicodendrol, a nonvolatile gummy substance produced in the leaves, flowers, fruit and bark or stems and roots, contains the poison. The wood, pollen grains and hairs from the leaves are not poisonous in themselves, he says. The three leaved vines are often found on trees and fence posts or in a scrubby growth along highways and in woods. They can be eradicated by salt applications or, if the vines are numerous, a spray application is recommended.

For those who are poisoned, appearance of a rash usually occurs in 12 to 24 hours after contact, sometimes in a few hours, or it may be delayed several days, according to Muenscher. One treatment is to wash the hands and face freely in a solution of five per cent iron chloride in a half and half solution of alcohol and water. If this treatment is taken before going where the ivy is known to grow, no harmful effects need be expected, says the plant expert.

Another treatment he advises is ordinary laundry soap containing an excess of alkali. A heavy lather should be made in warm water and this should be washed off three or four times. Persons poisoned by ivy are advised to avoid, for a time, soaps which contain oils, for the poison is soluble in oil and will be spread to other parts of the skin.

HAY FEVER SUFFERERS!

Prevent irritation from damp handkerchiefs— USE KLEENEX

Inexpensive . . . use and destroy —no laundering

HAY FEVER victims . . . join the thousands of fellow sufferers who have rejoiced in the discovery of Kleenex!

You know how marvelously soft Kleenex is—those super-absorbent tissues so widely used for removing face creams.

Used in place of handkerchiefs, they relieve much of the wretchedness due to hay fever.

You know only too well how miserable a damp handkerchief becomes. Embarrassing to carry, disgusting to look at, irritating to use, unpleasant to wash.

Inexpensive—use and destroy

Kleenex costs so little that you may destroy each tissue immediately after use. Thus each tissue that touches your face is dry—so essential to comfort during hay fever. Kleenex absorbs twice as fast as the softest old linen handkerchief.

Why should you suffer? Why should you wash countless handkerchiefs all through the season? Don't do it. Try Kleenex at once, and you'll find it utterly impossible to return to the old, irritating way.

You'll find Kleenex at your nearest drug, dry goods or department store. It comes in convenient packages. Insist on genuine Kleenex, the tissue that can be removed from the box with one hand.

So useful in many ways

Use Kleenex for dusting and polishing, in place of unsanitary cloths. Mothers find these absorbent tissues invaluable in caring for young babies. Use for wiping razor blades, to avoid cutting towels. Buy an extra package to keep in the automobile. It's handy in a score of ways when motoring.

JEANETTE LOFF

"Early in our careers, we movie actresses learn to use Kleenex when removing make-up with cleansing cream. It's so absorbent that it picks up all powder and dirt, leaving the pores really clean. And Kleenex is absolutely sanitary in itself, unlike the soiled towels and cloths that some people still use."

KLEENEX disposable TISSUES

"If I expect to exercise I eat Shredded Wheat"

"We are inviting trouble when we rush out from work, eat a hearty lunch and then try to play golf. I confine my lunch to two Shredded Wheat biscuits with sliced peaches and a pitcher of cream and milk! All the nourishment I need—and so easily digested that it doesn't interfere with my game."

Drivers of sixes never want less

Ask some of your friends who own sixes if they would ever consider driving a car with fewer cylinders again. Their answers will give you a good idea of why sixes are so popular today.

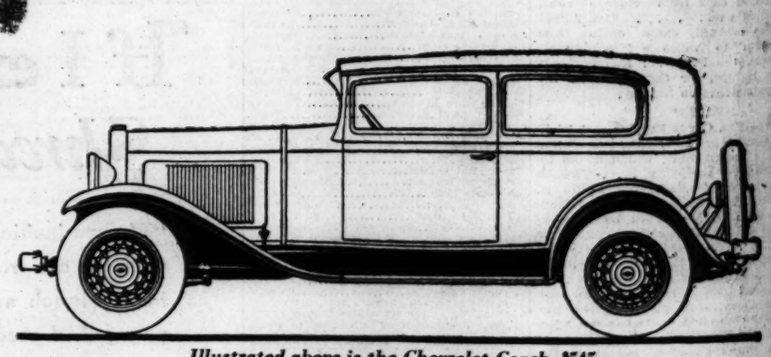

Drivers of sixes are spoiled for anything less. Drivers of sixes are "sold" on multiple cylinders. They would no more think of giving up "six" performance than they would consider giving up any of the other real advancements of motoring. To them, the whole cylinder question has been settled, once and for all.

Slip behind the wheel of a Chevrolet Six, and you'll know why these drivers feel as they do. Get the inside facts about "six" performance through first-hand test, in your own special way.

Step on the starter, let the motor idle—and notice how serenely, silently it runs. Throw in the clutch, shift into "low"—and feel that steady, unruffled flow of power. Change into "second," hit a faster and faster clip, slip the lever into "high," sweep along at top speed—then throttle down to barely a crawl. The smoothness and flexibility you always get are six-cylinder smoothness, six-cylinder flexibility. Gone are annoying tremors and vibration. Every driving moment is enjoyable!

Then, before you leave the six-cylinder Chevrolet, raise the hood while the engine is running—take a look at the source of its performance. The smooth steady operation of six cylinders means dependability through the months and the miles. Wearing vibration is reduced to a minimum. The whole car stays young longer as a result. There is less need for repairs.

Over two million owners have proved the value of Chevrolet's six-cylinder design. They have found that Chevrolet actually costs less for gas, less for oil, and less for upkeep than any other automobile. They have found it smoother, quieter, more enjoyable in operation! They know a six is better—and they would never be satisfied with less!

KNIGHT COMMANDER WINS HAWTHORNE INAUGURAL

CHIAVETTA'S ROUSING RIDE EARNS VICTORY

Silverdale Second in $5,500 Handicap.

BY FRENCH LANE.

[OTHER RACE NEWS ON PAGE 26.]

Al Frank Chiavetta, a battle scarred veteran of many tough turf campaigns, became the hero of the closing program of Hawthorne's summer racing season yesterday when he whipped and kicked Knight Commander to victory in the renewal of the Hawthorne Inaugural handicap, which had a total value of $5,505. It was old Frankie's kicks into the flanks of Knight Commander, his duties with the leather, and his ability to pick the shortest way home that made possible Knight Commander's victory by a half length over Silverdale. He beat Brown Wisdom, who finished third, by three lengths.

The triumph of the Chicago 5 year old from the Fecenic stable of young Jack Keogh brought a rousing cheer from the closing day crowd of 15,000. Knight Commander, having won four of his five most recent races, was heavily backed at post time, but he paid off as dividends of $10.08 for a $2 ticket to win, $6.04 to place, and $3.60 to show. Silverdale was at 10 to 1 to place and $6.30 to show, while Brown Wisdom, running coupled with Al Reddy, My Dandy, as the latest Brothers entry, paid $5.24 to show.

13 Named; 10 Start.

Even an overnight entry of 23 caution reduced the starting field to ten. A heavy rainstorm had visited the track on Sunday and trainers of many of the Inaugural handicap candidates were so uncertain as to what the track conditions might be by post time that they took no chances and withdrew their horses.

By the time the field paraded to the post around 4 o'clock the going was good and Knight Commander ran the six furlongs in 1:12 4-5 by the tick-tock of the electric timer over in the infield on the judges' stand.

Chiavetta became the hero when he outrode Jockey Herman Schutte on Silverdale. Most of the folks who watched yesterday's feature will cling to the belief that Silverdale was a better horse than Knight Commander in this race.

Schutte Goes Wide at Turns.

Schutte, away a trifle tardy on Silverdale, began to take the overland route immediately and was going far wide as they hit the first turn with Silverdale fairly flying out in the middle of the track. Hot Shot, No More, Knight Commander, My Dandy, and others were leading him.

Rounding the turn Chiavetta, picking the better going and losing but little ground, rushed Knight Commander up with the leaders. Schutte also pushed Silverdale into fourth place, but taking the last turn into the stretch he again went far wide, losing at least a half dozen lengths by these tactics.

Schutte rode desperately down the stretch and Silverdale was going with all ultimate speed and courage. He surged past My Dandy, then charged at past Brown Wisdom and No More. He tried with all his might to catch Knight Commander. But he couldn't. Knight Commander was picked up by young Jim Norris at a very low price not long ago. He immediately started to win for the young Chicago sportsman. He has been at it ever since and has demonstrated he can just about hold his own with any sprinter in the country. He carried 112 pounds in the Inaugural to Silverdale's 119.

THE GUMPS—HEARTS AND FLOWERS

Ailing Greens Baffle Clubs; Call Doctor

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Last year's drought may have had Farmer Perkins fretting about his corn down in the south forty, but his predicament is as nothing compared to that in which golf course greenkeepers throughout the country, and particularly in the central states, now find themselves. Perfectly conditioned greens, fairways and tees were either completely or partly destroyed almost overnight, and experts in this most intense form of agriculture could not find the answer, no matter how they added it up.

A survey among greenkeepers and chairman of greens committees in the Chicago district, however, does reveal one general diagnosis for this new malady. After all of the old remedies for the four common scourges of golf grass—large and small brown patch, pythium and scald—had been applied, and with reasonable success, greenkeepers and others interested in the situation noticed that the epidemic traced itself back to the heat waves of the last two months. The sun, then, with its accompanying humidity in these parts, appears to have been to blame for the present ailment. While most of the greens are now able to sit up and take a bit of nourishment, their nurses are having a pretty time of it to prevent them from sliding back into a relapse.

Chicago district greenkeepers have held emergency meetings during the last few weeks to combat the present difficulty, but their campaign still is a matter of comparing notes. Whenever they have been able to decide definitely that one of their greens has been attacked by one of the aforementioned scourges, they have applied all of the proper fungicides. Unfortunately, these latter generally come at fancy prices, and for many clubs, this expense has made the task of keeping within an established course maintenance budget almost impossible.

An authority in constant touch with Chicago district greenkeepers and course superintendents stated recently that at least 20 per cent of the greens in this neighborhood have been affected by the current heat wave. When the fact that it usually takes 40 per cent of the general maintenance cost on an average 18 hole course to keep the greens true and healthy is taken into consideration, it can be seen that the new problem requires an expensive solution.

To a duffer in matters of greenkeeping, the terminology of the profession is very confusing, as one discovered

BY BOB BECKER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Yorkville, Ill., Aug. 3.—All navigating instruments that ordinary mariners find useful in charting a course failed to locate a channel today for THE TRIBUNE'S canoeing party, which is traveling down the Fox river to obtain information on this stream's availability for canoes and other craft.

From Aurora to a point about a mile and a half above Yorkville the Fox is so choked with weeds growing in the shallow water that the channel is lost. In this section the river bears a sad, depressed look. It seems to have given up the fight and the weeds have conquered.

Lacking enough water to keep a channel open, the Fox today presents an appearance of solid green instead of a sparkling, rippling current flowing over a sand and gravel bottom.

After buying our copy of THE TRIBUNE shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, we wrestled the canoe over the Aurora dam and then the hunt for a channel began. Nary a boat or canoe did we see below Aurora. This was not surprising considering the condition of the river.

Engineers to Hold Parley.

It is so low and filled with vegetation that it took THE TRIBUNE canoe more than five hours of pushing, weed cutting, shoving, walking and paddling to travel from Aurora to Yorkville this morning. However, there may be better times ahead of the river, which this summer is being choked to death by weeds over many miles of its bed.

Tomorrow morning, state and federal engineers will meet in Geneva with officials of the Fox Valley federation to discuss the condition of the river and establish some method of uniform use of water for power purposes so that the river, instead of having a teacup of water here and 10 feet there, will be more equally distributed over its channel. The Fox Valley federation is an organization interested in all things affecting the welfare of the valley. Lester J. Norris of St. Charles is president. Rodney H. Brandon, state director of public welfare, is one of the vice presidents.

Condition Is Serious.

According to E. A. Keplar, secretary of the federation, who discussed the condition of the Fox river with us yesterday, the low water levels of this summer are so serious that the federa-

Where Home Runs Are Really Made—in Baseball Factories

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—Although they have been very coy on the subject, the results to date confirm the old suspicion that the magnates of the two major leagues can and do regulate the hitting and the pitching by regulating the ingredients in the officially accepted ball.

For ten years the magnates and the manufacturers insisted that the ball which primitive, shut-eye hitters were hoisting out of the parks with one-hand home runs and handle hit home runs was the same ball that Ty Cobb dealt with the season before the war when he led the American league with nine homers.

Last winter, the home run having lost much of its old dramatic value and consequently some of its commercial value, due to overproduction, the magnates issued the paradoxical announcement that this year's ball would be slightly different, though essentially the same as the exceedingly nervous ball of the preceding decade. This one in turn had been represented as being in no way different from the old pre-war ball.

Hitting Falls Off in National.

Just how accurately the ratio may be adjusted from the council room of a committee sitting in the dead of winter in a New York hotel, is indicated by the most recent batch of statistics bearing on this highly statistical game. The National league, it may be remembered, adopted not only the raised stitch for the seams, but a slightly thicker cover. The stitches were intended as handles of a sort to favor the pitchers in the performance of their art and the increase in the hide to soften the blow to the sensitive nervous system of the ball.

The American league adopted the raised stitch but the American league was more in debt to the home run and more particularly to Babe Ruth's home runs for its prosperity, so the heavier cover was not adopted there. If the hitters could get hold of the new ball in the course of the more abrupt hops attributable to the stitching, the ball would still travel as before.

So now the deadly statistical parallel shows that the athletes of the National league have fallen off 256 home runs to date, but that in the American league, where the thin peel is still being used the decline has amounted to only 72. In the National league, the team batting averages are down 27 points, but in the American league the decline has been only 7½ points. So there are really two separate types of major league baseball being played this year.

Amateurs Have No Say.

The amateurs, being comparatively few in number and not well organized, have virtually no authority in such matters. A few years ago, at one of the meetings of the officials of intercollegiate athletics, it was discovered that owing to the fact that the rules were designed for a professional game, the manager of a college team had the right to fine a player as much as $50 for gross infractions of the team discipline. Inasmuch as the college players were presumed to be amateurs and the majority of them were presumed to be constantly broke or almost broke, it was felt that the colleges themselves ought to adopt some special alternative rule to cover such cases.

Golf, on the other hand, is conducted almost exclusively for the pleasure of the amateurs and the professionals are not given much consideration. When the golf association decided to change the weight, size, and general disposition of the golf ball the decision was taken quite openly. The fact that the amateurs afterward discovered that they didn't like the new ball does not alter the fact that the change was made in a mistaken effort to serve their interests. Soon it will be changed back, also in their interest.

The size and shape of the regulation college football came into controversy when it was discovered that some of the coaches having forward passers with small hands were having the football tailored along the general lines of a frankfurter or, possibly, a cigar. The slim footballs were easy to throw and control, but as the ex-

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 3.—The all important cellar series between the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers reached a high pitch of excitement when the Tigers this afternoon took the third game of the dramatic four day struggle by a score of 7 to 2.

Red Faber was presiding at a neat 2 to 2 contest in the Tiger eighth but the sparkling Tiger offensive broke loose with seven hits, two more than they had made during the previous seven innings. These hits, combined with bad errors by Grube and Blue, gave the present tailenders five runs.

The team that loses in the final tomorrow will be in the cellar. The Tigers, being there this evening, will stay there if they lose tomorrow and the Chicagoans will plunk to the bottom by a margin of five percentage points if they drop their third in a row.

Frasier Works Today.

Manager Donie Bush will ask Vic Frasier, who won a 6 to 0 shutout in the opener, to come back tomorrow. Victor is all hopped up to this great assignment so that our fellows can make a proud entrance to the I Will city on Wednesday.

The Sox are anxious to get back to the city whose baseball honors they defend in the American league. They just learned today that Owner Comiskey had signed an 18 year old left handed amateur pitcher from some place around Milwaukee.

This is expected to make for great revival of spirit on the south side. At least the youngster can help spread the misery by stepping in and getting his ears knocked off occasionally. If enemy batsmen knock off the lad's ears they won't be knocking off those of some seasoned veteran quite so often, some one with an anatomical flair and a mathematical urge figured today as the fellows were taking their shower baths.

Quellich Hits for Circuit.

In the first inning and a half of this afternoon's affair not a runner reached first but in the last of the second inning Alexander led off with a single and walked home ahead of Quellich when the rookie knocked a homer over the left field wall. The next three batsmen were retired in rapid order.

The Sox had to have three singles

In the WAKE of the NEWS

FRIEND ARCH: Well, Arch, I thought I better write you a few lines to tell you why I'll have no Wake for today and several subsequent days. You see R. H. L., who conducts The Line, has gone in for original research. That's the penalty, I suppose, of being high brow.

Well, Dick has been reading a lot about the hot and dry weather. So what does he decide to do but try to learn from personal experience whether the drought is more severe in Canada than in this country. So, according to office precedent, with which you are familiar, The Line and The Wake will be combined as the Wake-Line on the editorial page during the time of my annual penance. Anyway, it'll be interesting to know what R. H. L. thinks of drought conditions across the border.

But Arch, there is no Line on Sunday. So, if you'd like, I'll write a Wake every Sunday. It's a little more work all right, but you know I'm not afraid to work—remember all that hard work I used to do for you down in Florida—and another thing, I don't want my sport page friends to forget all about me.

So the only thing that really worries me is that R. H. L. neglected to tell me whether or not he has an expense account. But I'll try to think up one for you just to keep my hand in. I'll be down nights more now. Let's go out to dinner together some night. Regards,

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

BOB SMITH AIDS CINCINNATI IN RUNLESS MARK

40 Innings Without Scoring.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The right handed services of Bob Smith were used yesterday as a means of perpetuating a new record the Cincinnati Reds are endeavoring to construct. The ex-Brave's pitching, combined with some timely hitting by his co-workers, enabled the Cubs to take the series opener, 8 to 0, thus improving the aforementioned record which involves irreducible scoring. The meek Reds in four successive games and the hangover from another have gone runless for 40 innings.

Smith, now the owner of ten victories for the season, handled his assignment so skillfully that the enemy spent the entire afternoon assembling five hits, one of them a scratch. To ease the pain a bit Smith tossed in the same number of passes, but even with these ten chances to start something the Reds were able to cause uneasiness in only one inning. That was in the fourth, when the Cubs lead was only three runs, and the visitors gained nothing from a full house with none out.

Barton Shines in Hack's Place.

Vin Barton, the young man who proved a bust after being hurriedly summoned from Los Angeles, finally put on a day for himself. He was put back in circulation because of a vacancy caused by another bench order for Hack Wilson and proceeded to show that it is yet too early to count him a total loss. He walked in the first, slapped a homer into the seats with a mate waiting in the third, and in the seventh singled to shove across the last pair in a five run rally. His second smash was off Ray Kolp, who had just rushed to the rescue of Silas Johnson.

The figures on recent performances attest to the season for Hack's return to the seclusion of the dugout. The uncrowned home run king returned from his last banishment when Stephenson's ankle was broken. Since then Hack has been in seven battles. He was officially at bat 23 times, for a net total of one hit. And yet people wonder why the Cubs aren't what they used to be. Hornsby also removed himself yesterday, but merely to rest his legs.

Double Header Today.

The Reds, if they so choose, can increase their scoreless record considerably this afternoon. They are billed for two games with the Cubs. Sweetland and Bush will work for the latter. Frey and Benton are the Cincinnati nominees.

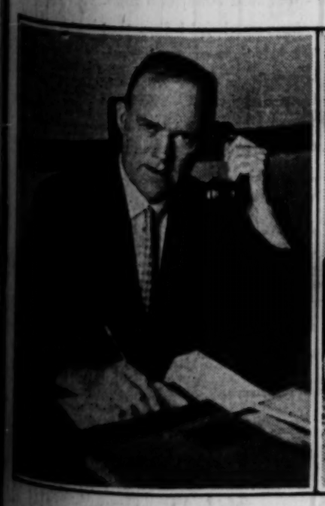

The Cubs were given a run in the first inning, but if they had mixed one more hit into the proceedings their advantage would have been considerably larger. Blair led off by beating out a single to Hendrick, after which he stole second. English flied to right and passes to Cuyler and Barton loaded the bases. Dan Taylor also walked and this forced Blair to score. Then a hit by either Grimm or Hemsley would have produced a fat dividend, but the former flied to short left and Hemsley popped up in front of the plate.

Barton's Homer Scores English.

English helped to make Barton's homer doubly profitable in the third. Woody led off with a single to left. Cuyler popped to Cuccinello, but Barton gave the ball a healthy ride into the right field seats for two runs. D. Taylor kept things moving with a line drive to right, but he tried to stretch it into two bases and was nailed. Then Grimm was hit on the back of the head by a pitched ball. The blow also must have stunned Umpire Klem because another ball was pitched to

MACKS TAKE 2; LEAD LEAGUE BY TWELVE GAMES

A's Conquer Senators, 3-2 and 6-5.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Thirty-two thousand packed the stands at Shibe park today as the Athletics increased their lead in the American league pennant race to twelve games with a double triumph over the second place Senators.

The scores were 3 to 2 and 6 to 5.

In winning the first game Bob Grove turned in his fourteenth consecutive victory and his 22d of the season. The Macks bunched five hits in the third inning to take the advantage. Phil Todt's home run over the right field fence in the eighth inning decided the second game. Scores:

YANKS, 9; RED SOX, 8.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Brilliant catches in the outfield by Babe Ruth and Earl Combs and fine relief pitching by Vernon Gomez enabled the New York Yankees to emerge with a 9 to 8 decision over the Red Sox in a free-hitting game today. The victory gave the Yanks a three to two edge thus far in the seven game series.

After being kept well in hand by Ed Wells for six innings, the Sox came to life to score twice in the seventh, driving him from the mound, and then rocked his successor, Johnson, for four more in the eighth. The tying run was on second when the rookie Gomez went to the rescue and halted the Boston rebellion.

and a double to tie the score but the inning was memorable because Reynolds arose from his slump of fourteen futile trips to the plate and batted in one of the runs with a nice line double to left. Cissell got the first passage to first off Whitehill when he started the third with a single to center, paused while Grube fanned and stopped at second on Faber's single to right. Cissell stole third and scored while Blue was forcing Faber. Jeffries singled to right, Blue stopping at second. Reynolds then got his double, Blue scoring and Jeffries stopping at third. Owen threw out Fonseca.

Double Comes to Nothing.

It looked like the Sox were going to take the lead in the fifth, but they didn't. Grube pushed off with a double off the scoreboard and moved to third on Faber's bunt. Blue walked, but Jeffries tapped to Whitehill and Grube was run down between third and home, Blue taking third and Jeffries second during the course of the maneuver. Reynolds then was called out on strikes.

The Tigers staged a similar foldup in their half of the fifth. Owen started things with a double and moved to third on Grabowski's sacrifice. Then Whitehill grounded to Kerr and Johnson fouled to Jeffries.

In the seventh Grube walked with one out and reached second on Faber's second sacrifice, but Gehringer threw out Blue. In the eighth Fonseca doubled with two out and Fothergill was given an intentional pass. Then Johnson made a nice running catch of Kerr's fly.

You know about the sad eighth.

GROVE NEEDS 5 MORE WINS TO TIE MARQUARD

As Lefty Grove of the Philadelphia Athletics accumulates successive pitching triumphs, baseball fans are beginning to wonder whether he's going to establish a record. The lanky left hand speed ball hurler has won 22 games this season and 14 of them have come without interruption by defeat.

SIMMONS TAKES A. L. LEAD WITH AVERAGE OF .381

Al Simmons, siege gun of the champion Athletics, has come back to claim his own. After having watched various rivals set the pace most of the campaign, the big outfielder who led the American league in batting last season finally overhauled the last one yesterday and took the leadership with an average of .381. In taking the lead from Babe Ruth, Simmons made three hits in seven times at bat against Washington while Ruth was hitting only once in five trips.

Cubs Trounce Reds; Barton Hits Homer

Smith went two innings before yielding a hit. The first one came when Sukeforth singled to start the third and Crabtree beat out a bunt with two out. Cullop's foul to Hemsley ended that. Then in the fourth Smith proceeded to show how no runs could be scored even after the bases had been filled with none out. Hendrick doubled to right and Cuccinello and Beck walked. Durocher was set down on a fly over the plate and Lukeforth tapped gently to Smith, who wheeled and tossed to English to start a snappy double play.

Reds Blunder in Field.

It was the Reds' own fault for getting into the predicament from which the Cubs extracted five runs in the seventh. Johnson walked Jurges and then messed up Smith's bunt, which was recorded as a hit. Blair also bunted and Hendrick came in to field it, but Blair beat the throw to first, filling the bases with none out. English whistled a single to left, Jurges scoring. Cuyler singled to center, sending Smith and Blair home and English to third. Cuyler took second on the throw in. Then Kolp took charge and Barton singled to right to score two more. A fly ball and a double play ended the rally in a hurry.

BERGHAMMEROUT AS BREWER PILOT; O'ROURKE PICKED

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Louis Nahin, president of the Milwaukee association baseball team, today said Frank O'Rourke, infielder from the St. Louis Browns, would replace Marty Berghammer as manager of the Brewers.

O'Rourke is to join the Milwaukee team at Indianapolis tomorrow and take over third base, a position noticeably weak in the Brewer infield.

O'Rourke has had varied experience at infield positions. The change was made, Nahin said, because Berghammer apparently was not getting the results expected from the material the Brewers have this season. Berghammer came to the club from Tulsa in the middle of the 1929 season.

U. S. MEET OPENS TODAY

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Dick Whittingtons of American golf—the butcher, the baker, and the candlestick maker among them—open their annual struggle over the Keller golf course tomorrow for the national public links team and individual championships.

Thirty-six holes will be played in the qualifying round—18 holes tomorrow and Wednesday—and the team with the lowest medal score for the 36 holes will be victor in the annual struggle for the Warren G. Harding team trophy. Brooklyn, which captured the trophy last year, at Jacksonville, Fla., with 617, was the favorite to repeat but was faced by strong competition from 29 other cities, including former titleholders from Chicago, Pittsburgh, Washington, and New York.

Robert Wingate, Jacksonville, was the defending champion in the individual play. His foremost foe was the golfing clerk from Pittsburgh, Carl Kaufmann, the Bobby Jones of the field. During the last five years, Kaufman has captured the crown three times, finished runner-up another time, and lost in disqualification once—in 1930. He held the title from 1927 to 1929, inclusive.

East, West Share Alike in Lineup for Wightman Cup

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Three women stars from the far west and three from the east were selected today to represent the United States in the Wightman cup matches with Great Britain at Forest Hills Friday and Saturday.

Harper of Oakland, Cal., Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass., and Mrs. Marion Zinderstein Jessup of Wilmington, Del.

Of this formidable squad, Mrs. Harper and Miss Morrill, the country's first and second ranking players, will be newcomers to Wightman cup competition. Mrs. Moody has been on every American Wightman cup team since the series was started in 1923, except in 1926, when illness kept her off the courts. Mrs. Wightman, as a doubles player exclusively, has been on four teams, as has Miss Jacobs. Mrs. Wightman participated in the 1923-'24-'27-'29 series and Miss Jacobs, called out for service first in 1927, has been on every team since. Golf Clubs Call the Doctor; Mystery Malady Hits Greens last night at a meeting of the Midwest Greenkeepers' association at the Great Northern hotel. It seems there are two general types of green, mixed and solid. One of the popular types of grass used in mixed greens is known as poa annua, and it is this which appears to have suffered the greatest damage during the recent attack. Greenkeepers in attendance at the meeting pointed out that the mixed grass greens have been the hardest hit, while the solid type, composed of various types of bent grass, holds up much better, and in many instances has not been affected at all.

Alfred Buller, greenkeeper at the Chikaming Country club, Lakeside, Mich., said that his problem started with a heavy rainstorm on June 28, followed by ten days of severe heat. Seven greens have been hit at Chikaming, and most of these are located in heavily wooded parts of the course which do not allow for adequate circulation of air. Mr. Buller declared that he has seen nothing to equal the present condition during his 12 years of greenkeeping. He is slowly reviving the seven affected greens by the process of hand watering every night.

The Chicago District Golf association is endeavoring to solve the problem or at least ascertain its source by means of a questionnaire sent to greens committee chairmen and greenkeepers by Guy M. Peters, chairman of the association's green section, after the early July hot spell.

John McGregor, greenkeeper at the Chicago Golf club and first vice president of the National Association of Greenkeepers of America, accused the excessive heat as the direct cause for the trouble. Poa annua, he stated, was hard hit on the greens because of its shallow roots and also because of close cutting. The tees, on which poa annua also is used, did not suffer nearly as much because they are not cut as short as the greens, and thus developed a deeper root system.

R. H. Folwell, chairman of the grounds and greens committee at Glen View, one of the hardest hit clubs in the district stated that considerable damage had been wrought by small brown patches on green and fairway, and a portion of the fairway by what is called leaf spot, a brownish spot resembling sunburn. He reported that there was no sign of brown patch on the four Washington bent greens at Glen View, but the older greens, in which mixed grass is used, appeared to have suffered the worst. The greatest damage at Glen View, occurred on those greens in which the air was confined by surrounding woods, and the mixed grass greens in the open were hurt comparatively little. The poa annua grass at Glen View, too, was the type which took the worst licking from the sun.

Among other clubs which appeared to agree on the heat as the source of the trouble were Exmoor, Rolling Green, Park Ridge, Kildeer, Midlothian, Olympia Fields, Tam o' Shanter, and Evanston. Four clubs—Knollwood, Briergate, Calumet, and Edgewater—reported that their greens have escaped comparatively whole.

"I would like to suggest that the subject of golf course maintenance needs a scientific study close at hand, a study of conditions under our own central western climate and soil conditions. It should be quickly available to the greenkeeper in need of assistance. What better equipped organization is there for undertaking this work than the agriculture experimental station of the University of Illinois?

"If a farmer in McLean county has a sick grain growth or a dairy farmer in Kane county a sick herd, or a Cook county truck gardener's onions are not doing so well, what do they do? The progressive man calls on the university and gets help.

"I am certain that if a committee of club officials and greenkeepers present this matter to President Chase and Dean Mumford of the University of Illinois they will receive immediate cooperation. Other state universities render this service. Why not Illinois?"

Billiard Stars to Compete in Oval Table Meet

Charley Morin, veteran Chicago billiard player, has been invited to enter the first oval table three-cushion billiard tournament which is to be played this fall. Morin, one of the leaders in three-cushions 20 years ago, and still a fine player, is expected to compete. Other stars who have forwarded their entries to the National Billiard association are Arthur Thurnblad, world's three-cushion champion; Allen Hall, the 1931 runner-up for the crown; Augie Kieckhefer, a nine-time holder of the title; Frank I. Fleming, national amateur champion; Otto Reiselt, a former world's titleholder, and Charles C. Peterson, the inventor of the oval table.

Jake Schaefer, the world's 18.2 balkline champion, is virtually certain to be seen in three-cushion competition during the coming season. Schaefer has been invited to take part in the oval table championship but has not committed himself. Schaefer is the only member of the American Big Three who has not entered the three-cushion field, as Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran have been engaging in this style of play for some time.

The first definite action on billiard tournaments for women has just been taken by The Greater New York Room Owners' association. Ed Lawler, president of the association, has announced that a metropolitan women's tournament has been added to the program. A series of preliminary tournaments will be held and the eight survivors will meet in a round robin tournament for the championship.

Percy N. Collins of Chicago, the national amateur 18.2 balkline champion, claims a record. While playing over the Acacia golf course near Joliet, Ill., he scored a hole-in-one, but on the wrong hole. He drove for the 210-yard eleventh but hooked the ball and it rolled into the cup on the 230-yard eighth. In scoring two 39s he required only twenty-six putts.

CARDINALS GET MOSS ON WAIVER FROM BROOKLYN

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Secretary Clarence Lloyd of the St. Louis Cardinals announced here today that the Cardinals had been awarded Pitcher Ray Moss on waivers from Brooklyn. Moss, Lloyd said, earlier in the season was awarded to Boston, but reverted to Brooklyn. Since the Cardinals already have the summer limit of twenty-five players, it is regarded as likely that Moss will be sent to one of their minor league farms.

Weeds Spoil Canoe Trip on Fox River

tion is moving to correct the situation. In commenting on THE TRIBUNE'S canoe cruise to check on the Fox river and the need for action with respect to the present unequal distribution of water in the valley, Mr. Keplar said yesterday, "THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE is the first Chicago newspaper to recognize the recreational values of the Fox river and its importance as a summer playground.

"Thousands of Chicagoans come here to enjoy this beautiful valley. The federation takes the position that the waters of the river belongs to the public and, although industry must use it to turn its power wheels, it is imperative, in view of the deplorable water levels which now exist, that some reasonable regulations governing flow control be worked out for the benefit of the entire valley."

If the water of the Fox can be spread over the river bed so that miles now choked in weeds will offer at least a narrow channel for water craft, this stream should increase in popularity, because scenically it is a gem, but at this time of the year it is no route for the canoeist unless he comes marching down the river with a scythe in one hand and a pike pole in the other.

Ideal for Camp Sites.

Although extremely low this summer, the river continues to be clean and clear. Aurora does its share to keep it in this condition by maintaining a big sewage disposal plant, which we passed this morning on our way down to Yorkville.

In this section the Fox river presents some of its most beautiful vistas of rolling hills, heavily timbered knolls and valleys, small islands and high dry banks, which the camper wants for his tenting expeditions. Gone are the solid rows of cabins and summer houses which are so numerous farther up stream.

Although sought by the fisherman and the nature lover who knows the character of this section, this part of the river is not nearly so densely populated as parts farther up stream and as such, gives the canoeist a glimpse of the black crowned night heron, bittern, flocks of sandpipers and other interesting water birds.

Allison Beats Dauphinot in Southampton Tennis

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Wilmer Allison of Austin, Tex., defeated Clarence Dauphinot of Southampton, 6-2, 6-0, today to open the annual Meadow club invitation tennis tournament, which has on its entry list nine of the first ten and seventeen of the first twenty ranking American amateur players. Frank X. Shields is the only missing player in the first ten.

"Make Hair Grow while the sun shines"

"It is a well known phenomenon that in the summer the growth of hair is more rapid," says Dr. Arnold Lorand, Vienna Dermatologist.

THAT Hair grows faster in the summer than at any other season is an established scientific fact. You can take advantage of this seasonal peculiarity by starting Thomas' hair and scalp treatment at once.

Your hair will respond more quickly to this famous proved method of treatment now than at any other time. Within an unusually short time your dandruff will disappear, hairfall will stop, and new hair will actually be visible on the thin and bald spots. Call at the Thomas' office and talk your problem over with the specialist in charge. He will gladly examine your scalp without charge or obligation and frankly tell you what Thomas' treatment can do for you.

ATHLETICS LOSE HAAS THROUGH WRIST INJURY

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3.—(AP)—George (Mule) Haas, center fielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, has a fractured left wrist and will be lost to the champions for at least three weeks. The extent of the injury was discovered today when the wrist was X-rayed.

Haas injured the wrist on July 25. He played in both games that day, but suffered so much pain he could not play the next day at Cleveland. The injury was diagnosed as a sprain, but the soreness continued, and it was decided to X-ray the wrist.

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Giacomo Bergomas, Italian heavyweight, outpointed Con O'Kelly of Boston, Mass., in a 10 round bout in Madison Square Garden tonight. Bergomas weighed 224½, O'Kelly, 196. The fight was uninteresting except for a brief flurry in the eighth round.

MAGNATES CAN'T PLAY BALL, BUT MAKE HOMERS

Commercial vs. Artistic View.

The new National league baseball seems a more appropriate ball for the game than the American league ball, but I am considering the matter strictly from the artistic, not the commercial, point of view. The American league magnates are good business men and, with their investments in the game, they may be allowed to decide for themselves just how frisky they want their ball to be, but theoretically the most appropriate ball would be one which would give the pitcher a good chance to throw his hooks and would not leap out of the park at a mere threat. The home run roughly corresponds to the touchdown from the kickoff in football, the knockout in prize fighting, and the birdies or possibly the hole in one in golf, and it speaks well for the imagination of the baseball customers that they were able to rouse themselves over the synthetic home run so long after they were convinced that it was built into the ball at the factory.

Amateurs Can Use Any Ball.

I said that the amateurs in baseball have virtually no authority in deciding the character of the baseball they wish to play with. That is not exactly so. Ordinarily they like to fancy they are playing the same game that the major leaguers play and therefore one or the other of the major league balls. But the only strict regulation regarding the ball is the one governing its size and weight and there are a dozen manufacturers in the country who are willing at all times to quote prices on the manufacture of ball of any composition that any league, amateur or professional, desires to use. If the ounces and inches conform to the rule, the ball may be wound entirely of rubber thread or stuffed with horsehair, old rags and hay.

It is a credit to the sportsmanship or sportswomanship of Vassar, Wellesley and Smith college that there has never been any disagreement over the standard bean used in the official intercollegiate bean bag. If bean bag ever becomes a major league professional sport, you may be sure that it will not be long until the magnates begin stimulating the official bean-bag with Mexican jumping beans.

TOTALIZATOR IS SLOW IN FIRST TEST AT RACES

The totalizator of place and show bets as introduced at the Hawthorne track where the summer race meeting began yesterday added to, rather than lifted, the "mystery" of pari-mutuel betting in the opinion of many persons in the opening crowd.

For the big board in the infield which was expected to show the total amount of money wagered on each horse to place and to show did not function with the speed expected.

Fans Are Bewildered.

The racegoers who traveled to Hawthorne ready to multiply, add, subtract, divide and apply their algebra and see what the actual odds on each horse were going to be to place and to show were bewildered most of the afternoon.

The board eventually showed how much money was bet to place and to show on the horses. But the calculation came so slowly that most of the mathematicians in the crowd were busy wagering on the next race before they had a chance to figure up the odds on the race that had been run several minutes earlier. But those who did figure the odds from the amounts posted discovered they were fairly accurate.

"Our aim in introducing this totalizator is to educate our patrons in the way the place and show odds are determined," President Schank said last night. "We can't condemn the machine on our opening day test and will give it further trials. We are hopeful it will work much better as soon as the members of the crew in our pari-mutuel department become familiar with the operation of the board, and I expect to see a big improvement within a day or two."

Figuring Delays Betting.

Nearly everybody in the Hawthorne first day crowd paid much attention to the board. It was the first totalizator of any kind that has been introduced on a Chicago track. In fact the spectators devoted so much time trying to figure the odds from the amounts of money posted it slowed up the betting. Scores of track visitors who had intended to wager on different races put in so much time trying to calculate the place and show prices there was much confusion as post time neared and many persons were shut out and unable to make their wagers.

The totalizator functioned better as the program went along. The track officials said this indicated it may eventually operate with but little confusion either to the track employes or to the spectators.

About ten minutes after the last race was run the board showed that $15,624 had been bet to place and $16,647 had been wagered to show. These were the exact betting figures, a checkup in the mutuel department revealed. But the actual place and show odds were posted just as quickly as the total amount of money wagered was displayed.

The calculators had worked faster figuring the odds than the electrical device could carry over to the big board in the infield the total amount of money wagered.

TONY CANZONERI IS OFFERED £10,000 TO MEET KID BERG

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Sammy Goldman, manager of Tony Canzoneri, received an offer by cable today from Jeff Dickson for a lightweight championship match between Canzoneri and Jack Berg, to be staged at the White City, London, on Sept. 7. Dickson offered Canzoneri a guarantee of £10,000 for his purse.

Should the bout take place, it will mark the third meeting between the boxers. In their first contest Berg received a decision in ten rounds, but the second match, held in Chicago for the championship, was won by Canzoneri, who defended his title by stopping the Englishman in three rounds.

KNIGHT COMMANDER, saved under steady restraint close up in the early running, headed the field at mid-stretch and held SILVERDALE at the end. SILVERDALE was outrun early, but came gamely on the outside in the final eighth to make a bold bid for the leadership. BROWN WISDOM showed a creditable effort and raced well to the end. NO MORE headed the field in the stretch, but could not last. HOT SHOT tired. MY DANDY was in close quarters on the inside at the far turn. BEST MAN and DON LEON were outrun all the way.

CHIEF JOHN raced in a contending position in the early stages and, coming gamely to head THE NUT in the stretch, held IRONSIDES at the finish. IRONSIDES was in close quarters on the back stretch, but finished gamely on the outside and was gaining slightly. THE NUT had no excuses and weakened in the run home. CALF ROPER was in close quarters on the inside around the first turn and again on the back stretch and would have been closer with better racing luck. *Field. Time, :24 3-5, :50 2-5, 1:15 4-5, 1:41 4-5, 1:55 1-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Royal Manager, $17.24 straight, $8.78 place, $6.36 show; Searington, $7.76 place, $6.18 show; Atlil, $9.40 show. Winner trained by owner. Start good. Won handily; place driving. Went to post at 5:35. At post 2 minutes.

ROYAL MANAGER raced well up from the start and, taking a short lead after going half the distance, held sway to the finish. SEARINGTON, although meeting with early interference, improved his position steadily and was going well at the end. ATLIL, crowded and badly bumped after the start, ran a strong race to stage a game finish. ALTO met with early interference and was on the outside thereafter. DUELIST bore in sharply soon after the start, causing GARRICK, ALTO, SEARINGTON, and ATLIL to take up. He went to the front on the back stretch, but tired badly. SETH'S BALLOT was shut off and almost fell during the back stretch run.

131 POUNDS FOR SUN BEAU IF HE RUNS SATURDAY

If Sun Beau earns that $30,000 or more in the Hawthorne Handicap next Saturday afternoon and boosts his world record winnings to something like $360,000 he will have to risk a broken back and pack 131 pounds for a mile and a furlong.

That was the package Racing Secretary Joe McLennan assigned Willis Shrape Kilmer's great champion. It is 14 pounds more than Gallant Knight will pack and 19 pounds more than Mike Hall.

Jack Whyte, trainer of Sun Beau, rushed to the telegraph office and asked Owner Kilmer what to do about it. Last night he was awaiting a reply. Sun Beau has moved from Arlington to Hawthorne. It is the heaviest package Sun Beau has ever been asked to carry.

There was a wholesale hiring and firing of trainers as the Hawthorne season got under way. Phil Reuter became the trainer of the big string maintained by John Marsch of Chicago. He replaced Milo Shields. Bill Caywood lost out as the trainer of the Four Oaks Stable band and Cecil Howard took charge. Sarge Swenke found himself out of a job with the stable of Ralph Gallet of Chicago. He was replaced by Harry Smith. The boys have to make their horses win or they don't last long, it seems.

Col. Edward R. Bradley's western division arrived at Hawthorne yesterday morning. There were 16 horses in the shipment in charge of Trainer William Hurley. Jockey Jimmy Smith came along to do the riding.

Bobby Jones, the leading rider of the Arlington season and the most severely injured of the three jockeys who went down in the spill during the running of the Post and Paddock stakes, was up and around at Hawthorne yesterday. He has a badly swollen eye, but expects to resume riding within a week.

Crystal Prince, a Chicago colt, was the winner of the first race at Hawthorne yesterday. He hails from the Jackson Park stable, a south side turf establishment. He had been grouped in the field and paid $23.72 for a $2 ticket when he got up to trim Making Bubbles by a neck.

There was another Chicago victory in the mile and a furlong third race when Jodhpur carried the green and white jacket of W. Phillips to a triumph. He too was grouped in the field, and paid $16.36 for a $2 ticket. Evidently the track handicappers do not regard Chicago horses very highly.

Fred Crafton, stable auditor at Arlington, was at Hawthorne yesterday trying to give away some $350,000. He succeeded in disposing of only a part of it. The money was in the form of checks for purses and accounts from the Arlington meeting.

Some of the money he couldn't give away was A. C. Bostwick's check for $73,340 for Mate's victory in the Classic, C. V. Whitney's check for $22,970, won by Top Flight in the Lassie; W. S. Kilmer's check for $49,845, the money that put Sun Beau over the top, and the Nash brothers' check for $44,500 that Burning Blaze won in the Post and Paddock stakes.

Mr. Crafton believes that he won't have much trouble getting rid of the big bank roll within the next few days.

MALLOY PLANS MIDDLEWEIGHT FIGHT TOURNEY

Mique Malloy will go before the Illinois athletic commission today to ask sanction for the boxing show next Monday night at White City as a middleweight tournament to select a middleweight champion of Illinois.

Malloy has Willie Oster, Frankie Battaghia, Haakon Hansen, Gary Leach, and Johnny Burns tentatively signed and he plans to pair them within the next few days.

The showing of the winners of next Monday night's card will determine who will face Dave Shade at the same arena on Monday night, Aug. 17.

SCHMELING WILL FIGHT WALKER AT MIAMI—JACOBS

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, declared today, prior to sailing for Europe on the Bremen, that he plans to accept terms for a match between Schmeling and Mickey Walker, to be held in February at Miami. Jacobs said the contemplated bout will be staged by the Madison Square Garden corporation.

The champion's manager also made public receipt of a doctor's certificate from Germany which affirmed Schmeling's assertion that his left eye was still too badly injured to allow him to participate in a bout next month.

SCHAAF TO BOX SNYDER.

Boston, Mass., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Ernie Schaaf, Boston heavyweight, co-managed by Jack Sharkey, today was signed to battle Angus Snyder of Dodge City, Kas., in the 10 round feature bout of the Boston Garden's next show on Aug. 11.

ROYAL TREE WINS BY FOUR LENGTHS AT EMPIRE CITY

New York, Aug. 3.—[Special.]—Royal Tree ran off with the Sleepy Hollow purse which was the feature at Empire City today. The big son of Snob II. galloped home four lengths in front of Noine, which just lasted to save second place from Odds.

The victory of Royal Tree was popular because he had been heavily backed and went to the post second choice, James Butler's Goad being the favorite at 11 to 5 while Royal Tree was quoted at 7 to 2.

Takes Lead at First Turn.

When the barrier was sprung for the one mile and 70 yards test Jockey Burke rushed Royal Tree to the front at the first turn and then began to draw steadily away. Through the back stretch he opened up a gap of two lengths while Airliner and Goad alternated for second.

Bethel made a move with Goad at the far turn, but Royal Tree met the challenge by increasing his lead and turned for home with his field well beaten. He merely galloped to the finish line.

At the head of the stretch Goad tired badly and dropped back out of contention. Odds and Noine had by this time moved up and were fighting it out for second, Noine taking the place by half a length. Odds was a 30 to 1 shot, while Noine was at 15 to 1.

One Butler Horse Wins.

Although James Butler, owner of the Hilltop course, had horses in three races, he had to be content with one victory. This came in the opening 6 furlong dash, when his Studious, favorite at 13 to 5, beat a band of maiden 2 year olds.

SLATTERY LOOKS DULL IN BRIEF DRILL FOR FIGHT

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—Jimmy Slattery, the Buffalo gamester who meets Maxie Rosenbloom, light heavyweight champion, in a 15 round bout Wednesday night at Ebbets field, scarcely looked like the next title holder today as he began tapering off at a midtown gymnasium.

For all his weeks of intensive training up at Speculator, N. Y., that challenger appeared to be in none too good condition and made no particular impression on the fight fans who witnessed his brief workout. Maybe it was the heat or the effects of a prolonged session with photographers, but the Buffalo boxer appeared to indifferent advantage against a pair of sparring mates.

Boxes Four Easy Rounds.

His midsection heavily encased in rubber and woolen padding, calculated to remove—or perhaps protect—a conspicuous roll of fat, Slattery boxed four easy rounds, neither giving nor receiving any punishment to speak of. There was nothing in the exhibition to affect the current odds of 6 to 5 on Rosenbloom.

In the midst of Slattery's workout there was a wild rumor that the champion was on his way to the gymnasium to get in a few licks at the punching bags and generally tune up for the defense of his title, but he failed to appear. Rosenbloom, so far as any one has been able to learn, has confined his training exclusively to night clubs.

Slattery Is Confident.

Despite his indifferent showing today, Slattery appears confident he will lift Rosenbloom's crown Wednesday night. He points out that he has gained the decision over the clowning Maxie in four of their six previous bouts. The sporting fraternity, however, remembers that Rosenbloom was the victor when they met with the title at stake.

SUMMER SUN can burn your HAIR away!

It Splits the Fibres—Leads to Falling Hair

1 Swimming leaves the hair a gummy, unmanageable mat! It removes natural oils, cracks the separate fibres and eventually leads to falling hair! Make sure you have thorough Vitalis protection before you submerge!

2 If you play tennis or golf without the protection of a hat, the blazing sun beats down on your bare head, ruining your hair. Sun splits and bleaches the hair, dries out the oils—making it hard to control and paving the way for falling hair. You need Vitalis.

3 While you're bareheaded, your hair's baked lifeless by the scorching sun. Even under a hat, perspiration soaks it. Vitalis, applied every few days, will protect you against the steaming sweat that thoroughly deadens and ruins the appearance of hair.

But Vitalis Will Protect It Even in Withering Weather

You know what sunburn and swimming do to the looks of your hair ... how brittle it gets, and bleached, and matted ... blown and unmanageable.

But do you know that sun and water wreck the vitality of the fibres and shorten their all-too-short life?

If you want to keep your hair, protect it!

2-Minute Summer Treatment

Before you expose your head to the soaking water or the scorching heat of beach or links, take 2 minutes to rub Vitalis into your scalp.

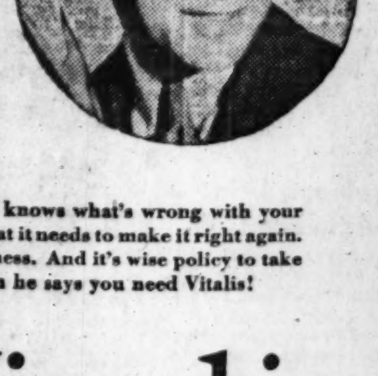

Your hair will be as neat as if you'd just left the barber's—and sun and water can't do it a bit of harm! The natural oils that keep your hair healthy can't dry out.

If you're out all day under a blistering sun, you may need a second Vitalis application.

Patent-leather hair with Vitalis? No, sir! Naturally lustrous hair that stays in place. And best of all, the stimulation your scalp gets from a quick Vitalis rub counteracts the inactive condition which leads to dandruff and falling hair.

Ask your barber what Vitalis will do for your hair. He knows why the best shops sell more Vitalis than any other hair preparation.

And your druggist has Vitalis. Get a bottle!

4 The barber knows what's wrong with your hair and what it needs to make it right again. That's his business. And it's wise policy to take his advice when he says you need Vitalis!

STANDARD, IND., AGAIN REDUCES DIVIDEND RATE

Stock Now Placed on $1 a Year Basis.

The second reduction this year in the dividend rate on Standard Oil Company of Indiana stock was made yesterday when directors placed the stock on $1 annual basis through the declaration of a quarterly payment of 25 cents a share. In the two preceding quarters dividends were paid at the rate of $2 a share as compared with the old $2.50 rate which had been maintained from 1923 through 1930.

EDWARD G. SEUBERT.

Edward G. Seubert, president, discussing the action of directors, emphasized that the further downward revision was not caused by any pessimistic attitude on the part of the board members.

Only Temporary, Seubert Hopes.

"We hope and believe the reduction will be only temporary. We decided on the lower rate in furtherance of our conservative policy of maintaining a strong position during adjustments such as the business world is now witnessing.

"Our action is not occasioned by pessimism regarding the outlook," he declared. "Although it is still difficult to see what lies ahead for business in general, we have confidence in the future. The prospect of betterment in the oil industry is stronger at present than it has been for many months.

"Standard of Indiana's own business is showing developments which must be regarded as encouraging. The trend as to volume of sales is better than it has been for some time, though with lower price realization. The success of our blue gasoline in meeting a popular demand is particularly gratifying. Motor oils are registering improvement, and a better relative demand for factory lubricants is an indication of hope for greater movement of the wheels of industry at large."

Shares Ease on N. Y. Curb.

The dividend action was taken, he added, in the belief that such a course would best serve the long time interests of stockholders. The company's stock sold down about $1 a share on the New York Curb yesterday on selling apparently based on anticipation of the dividend action which came late in the day.

Directors of several other large corporations took dividend action yesterday. Standard Oil Company of New Jersey authorized the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents a share and the usual extra distribution of 25 cents a share. Following the meeting announcement was made of the resignation of F. E. Powell as director and chairman of the Anglo-American Oil Company, Ltd. Mr. Powell will become chairman of the International Sugar council created under the Chadbourne plan for stabilizing the sugar industry.

Nickel Company Cuts Payment.

A disbursement of 10 cents a share on the common stock of the International Nickel company of Canada was authorized by directors. In the two preceding quarters 15 cents a share was distributed on the common stock.

The management of the company believes that an improvement in the firm's business will be witnessed during the last six months this year, Robert C. Stanley, president, said.

"There is at present a restricted demand for nickel due to the drastic curtailment in the steel and automobile trades," he stated. "Because of the uncertainty of industrial conditions coupled with the current cash expenditures which will fully complete the construction program of the company by the end of this year, the board decided it to be in the best interests of stockholders to conserve the company's strong cash position."

American Chicle Extra.

The American Chicle company declared the usual 25 cents extra dividend and the regular quarterly dividend of 50 cents. Incorporated Investors declared a stock dividend of 2½ per cent in addition to the regular quarterly cash dividend of 25 cents a share.

National Gypsum company declared a dividend of $1.75 a share on account of accumulations on the preferred stock, payable Oct. 1.

Directors of the National Gypsum company have declared a dividend of $1.75 on the preferred stock on account of accumulations, payable Oct. 1 to stockholders of record Sept. 15.

Cunard Line Gives Dates of First Class Rate Cuts

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The Cunard line today announced the reductions in first class trans-Atlantic steamship rates, partly described in advices from Europe a few days ago, would go into effect for east bound sailings Aug. 17 and for westbound sailings Oct. 1. Changes will also be effected on those dates in cabin and tourist cabin charges and in third class one way and round trip rates, the line announced.

American Stores Reports Increase in Earnings

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—American Stores company reported for the first half net income of $2,729,894, equal to $2.39 a share, compared with $2,667,-700, or $1.75 a share, in the first half of 1930.

Warn Against Sacrifice of Real Estate Securities

BY SCRUTATOR.

Those in a position to know say that the public's state of mind regarding real estate securities has been greatly overdone.

Present lack of confidence is the result principally of two things: Wholesale defaults which greatly weakened investors' faith in real estate paper generally and a pernicious whispering campaign engineered by traders who are out to buy in bonds at figures decidedly below their real value.

Consequently, fear has become the greater part of discretion and the unloading process continues. It brings unnecessarily large losses to investors. It makes refinancing of defaulted issues difficult. Receivers for closed banks are forced to wait for the hysteria to subside before they can liquidate on a sound basis. And the real estate and building businesses are held inactive.

Holders Eager to Sell.

Meanwhile holders of real estate paper clamor to sell. They take cash, stock, equity in overpriced speculative vacant property—almost anything they are offered and on any terms.

If his bond is in default and is worth 60 or 70 cents on the dollar the holder may find quotations around 30 or 40. If his bond is in good standing he may be offered 50 or 60 for it.

The head of the Illinois securities commission has warned investors against sacrificing their bonds. State Auditor Oscar Nelson describes the situation as "deplorable."

"Holders of real estate bonds cannot be warned too strongly against disposing of their bonds at present levels," he says.

Much could be done to mitigate the effects of this menace to investors and to business in general by making available to bondholders detailed information concerning the securities they hold.

Some of the protective committees who are out honestly to safeguard the interests of the bondholders have made fairly complete statements of facts—enough, at least, to justify support.

Others Conceal Plans.

Others ask the bondholder to deposit without giving any worthwhile information about the condition of the property or the committee's plans for working it out.

The existence of a protective committee creates a situation which the bondholder must face and too often he must face it blindly. If he fails to go along with the committee he may be frozen out at a low figure. If he does go along and the committee is out to feather other nests than his he may be left holding the bag.

Laws enacted at the last session of the legislature at Springfield have greatly facilitated the sale and reorganization of property in default. Banks are getting behind some committees and helping refinance property. There is likely to be a great deal of constructive activity along these lines during the next twelve months.

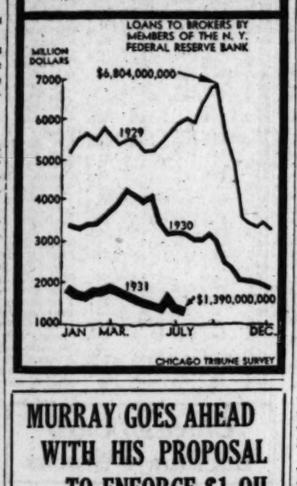

Endangers Good Will.

But the good will engendered among investors by this movement is endangered by the activities of other groups whose motives may not be above question.

"Men who took hold of these defaulted issues at the start were of outstanding character in this community," Judge Michael Feinberg, head of the chancery division of the Circuit court, said to members of the Chicago Real Estate board recently.

"But following the establishing of a precedent and the influx of these foreclosures I find in some instances high pressure professional blue sky salesmen selling the idea of a bondholders' protective committee."

MURRAY GOES AHEAD WITH HIS PROPOSAL TO ENFORCE $1 OIL

Oklahoma City, Okla., Aug. 3.—(AP) Apparently unaffected by the tense situation in Oklahoma's oil industry, Gov. W. H. Murray proceeded calmly with the drafting of a shutdown order for prorated wells that will include a brief of a test case on state rights for the United States Supreme court.

Time, said the governor, no longer is an element in the crude shutdown controversy. He indicated the order might be forthcoming no earlier than tomorrow or Wednesday.

Meanwhile many Oklahoma oil wells were wide open, some of them completing allowable production for August, the period for taking of which started Saturday morning. Previously the governor had given crude oil buyers until Saturday night to increase prices to $1 per barrel.

"I realize," the governor said, "that when I put out the order I will have to go to the Supreme court of the United States and I want to be ready for it. The order will cite statues and constitution by section and number and will name important cases bearing on the subject. I want to know just where I am going."

Attorneys for oil companies have challenged the governor's right to use the National Guard in enforcing his proposed order. There was a rumor, however, that civil police authorities instead of the National Guard may be used for the order's enforcement.

Many observers thought Murray would make an issue of the right of the state to regulate its own internal affairs and control its natural resources and that the ultimate order may be so drawn as to precipitate a test, with the United States Supreme court taking original jurisdiction.

BY AL CHASE.

Work for several hundred men will be furnished when construction starts shortly on the first unit of a gigantic addition to the Calumet sewage treatment works at Pullman, to cost upwards of $15,000,000. This was announced yesterday by Philip Harrington, assistant engineer of the Sanitary district of Chicago, following the purchase from the Pullman Land association of a 225 acre site bounded by 126th and 130th streets, Cottage Grove avenue and the right of way of the Chicago and Western Indiana railroad. The price paid, according to a deed filed at the recorder's office yesterday, was $640,851.

In addition to this $15,000,000 plant, it is announced that approximately $10,000,000 is to be expended on a tributary sewer system.

Steady Jobs for 100 Men.

The lowest bid on this first unit, which is to be a pumping station, was $1,361,000. Work is expected to get under way within thirty days, with completion set for 1933. When in full operation it will give permanent employment to a hundred men.

Other contracts for additional units will follow rapidly. Approximately $2,500,000 will be spent on aeration tanks and final settling tanks. The entire $15,000,000 plant must be completed and in operation by Jan. 1, 1934, in accordance with a decision on lake levels by the United States Supreme court rendered in April, 1930. This initial unit, by the way, will be the first plant to be built under that ruling, according to Mr. Harrington.

For Area South of 87th Street.

The property just purchased is south and adjoining the $6,600,000 Calumet sewage treatment works built a decade ago to care for certain sections of the south side south of 87th street. That plant was erected on a site comprising 120 acres.

The new addition, when completed, will be able to care for all of the south side south of 87th street and several nearby suburbs. Like others, it will be electrically operated and will be of the activated sludge type, with air blowers. It will be designed by the engineering staff of the Sanitary district.

Title to the 225 acre tract purchased yesterday was given by the Pullman Trust and Savings bank and Samuel W. Gehr, as trustees of the Pullman Land association, to the Sanitary district of Chicago.

$1,000,000 IN GOLD REACHES GOTHAM FROM ENGLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—Forty-five boxes of gold bars valued at $1,000,000 arrived unexpectedly from England today on the liner Carmania, the first import of such proportions since October, 1929. Gold has come or is coming from three different sources, Germany, England and Mexico.

The shipment from England was not a banking deal. All the local gold importing banks formally agreed not to import gold from Great Britain during the recent period prior to the two upward changes in the Bank of England discount rate in which sterling was depressed far below the gold shipping point. The metal was sent here, it was explained, as a private commercial transaction, having only an indirect relation to the sterling exchange rate.

No further shipments from the British center are expected here, inasmuch as sterling has been lifted well above the gold point as a result of the advance in the Bank of England discount rate to 4½ per cent last week.

What is believed to be the first gold shipment from Mexico since the country abandoned the gold peso and adopted a restricted monetization of silver is coming here on the Ward liner Morro Castle from Vera Cruz. The shipment amounts to $2,500,000.

EXPRESS FIRM BANK JOINS N. Y. CLEARING HOUSE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—A special full meeting of the New York Clearing House association held this morning resulted in the admission of the American Express Bank and Trust company to membership. This is the first new member enrolled by the clearing house this year. Last December the clearing house obtained two new members, the Manufacturers Trust company and the Public National Bank and Trust company. In recent years the Harriman National Bank and Trust company and the Commercial National Bank and Trust company joined the clearing organization.

Membership in the New York clearing house means submission by a bank joining to the searching bank examination system for which the clearing house is noted and gives it certain privileges and elements of strength not enjoyed by non-members. There are now twenty-four banks, exclusive of the Federal Reserve, which have certain membership privileges in the clearing house.

The American Express Bank and Trust company, whose president is Medley G. B. Whelpley, was established in April, 1930, by interests connected with the Chase National bank and the American Express company.

SHIPMENTS BY AUBURN TO DATE TOTAL 30,240 CARS

Auburn Automobile company shipped 2,580 Auburn and Cord cars in July, as compared with 3,205 in June and 646 July, 1930.

Shipments for the first seven months of the calendar year now total 30,240 cars, which is 16,549 more than for the entire year of 1930. In the twelve months of 1929, the peak year for the company and for the industry, Auburn shipped 22,567 cars.

Registration for July will be in excess of shipments, said R. H. Faulkner, president, dealers and distributors having reduced their stocks more than in the previous month. Ninety-two dealers were added in July, giving the company new high dealer representation.

QUARTERLY NET OF PULLMAN, INC., TOTALS $494,563

Pullman, Inc., and all subsidiaries reported for the June quarter net income of $494,563 after all charges, including depreciation and federal taxes, equal to 13 cents a share on 3,875,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. This compares with $5,365,899 in the corresponding three months of 1930, equal on the same basis to $1.37 a share.

For the six month period ending June 30 net income was $1,075,136 after all charges and federal taxes, equal to 28 cents a share, against a net of $9,859,759 in the same period of 1930, equal to $2.54 a share on 3,875,000 shares.

RKO Has Loss of $262,519 During Second Quarter

Radio-Keith-Orpheum corporation and subsidiaries yesterday reported a loss of $262,519 for the quarter ended June 30 before provision for federal income taxes compared with $410,230 profit for the corresponding period of 1930.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—A greatly improved tone in railroad stocks and firmness on the part of a majority of the industrial pivotals featured today's stock market, which was another of the dull, colorless affairs that have lately come to be associated with an uncertain trading outlook. Transactions again fell below 1,000,000 shares, and price movements generally were held within a narrow range.

Covering by the short interests, brought about principally by unwillingness of the public to liquidate, and maintenance of high premium rates in the stock loan market, were held responsible for such strength as the list reflected today. Closing prices generally were from fractions to 3 points better than Saturday's final levels.

The stock market started the day with a moderate show of strength. Advances of from 1 to 2 points predominated in leaders such as United States Steel, American Telephone, Consolidated Gas, and New York Central. The list drifted lazily for the next hour or two, backing and filling on a small volume of sales.

Higher Trend Maintained.

A higher trend was maintained, however, until late in the day when speculative selling of Case Threshing, American Can, and one or two other prominent issues had an unsettling effect upon the industrial group and caused many of these issues to close below their best prices for the day.

The improved tone of railroad shares was a heartening beacon in a market which obviously lacked vigor, decision, and leadership. Baltimore and Ohio had a net gain of 1¼ points, New York Central was up 1, New Haven 2¾, Union Pacific 2, Chicago North Western 1¾, and Missouri Pacific 1¼.

Fractional gains were the rule among the utilities, coppers, motors, and oils. Trading was begun in shares of the Socony-Vacuum corporation, formed to create the $1,000,000,000 merger of Standard of New York and Vacuum Oil corporation. The tape abbreviation for the new stock is SOV.

[Copyright: 1931: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, Aug. 3.—At the end of the period of credit restrictions the Reichsbank, according to the weekly statement, emerged with a net gain of $23,000,000 in reserves, gold and foreign exchange.

Call deposits increased by about $60,000,000 as a consequence of reduced volume of cash payments. The amount of money circulated increased $61,000,000, which left the currency's coverage unchanged at 36.1 per cent, which is about $15,000,000 less than at the same time last year. The amount will grow considerably with the return to normal banking conditions Wednesday.

During the first quarter of the current fiscal year the deficit of the reich's ordinary budget increased by $40,000,000 to a total of $235,000,000, while the total deficit of the extraordinary budget increased to $59,000,000. The total debts of the reich, both loans and floating debt, increased within the quarter ending June 30 by $9,000,000 to a total of about $2,928,000,000.

The administration is busy setting up large apparatus in order to enforce the embargo on the export of German currency, which was decreed Saturday. A mail censorship, nothing short of a war measure, will be applied to registered mail. Suspicious packages will be opened at the borderline beginning tomorrow, although it is permitted to export amounts below 3,000 marks.

Corn Damage Mostly in Past Ten Days: Snow

Crop Expert B. W. Snow's August report makes condition of corn 79 per cent, a decline of 7 points during the month, the greater part of which occurred during the last ten days of the period. Crop indications at date of return approximate 2,900,000,000 bu. "As local returns are made several days before close of July and as drought and heat continued with cumulative effect, it is reasonable to assume that actual crop possibilities are materially lower at this date than present forecast, which represents situation of a week ago," says Mr. Snow. "Crop loss has been severe in Oklahoma, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, and northern Iowa."

Burlington Road Reports 6 Months Net of $6,660,247

The Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad for the six months ended June 30 yesterday reported net income of $6,660,247, equal to $3.89 a share on 1,708,391 shares of $100 par capital stock, compared with net of $9,231,000 in the same period of last year, equal on the same basis to $5.40 a capital share. June net after taxes and charges was $693,719, against $1,222,000 in June last year.

Nash Motors July Orders Are 7,029, Shipments 6,039

The Nash Motors company reported yesterday the receipt of 7,029 orders for cars in July. Shipments for that month totaled 6,039 cars, leaving a carry-over of 900 unfilled orders to be added to shipping schedules during the month of August. All indications point to a steady continuance in the demand for the company's four new models, officials stated.

DU PONT AGAIN REDUCES PRICES OF CELLOPHANE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 3.—Another reduction in the price of both plain and moistureproof cellophane, effective Aug. 1, was announced today by the Du Pont Cellophane company. The new price for plain cellophane will be 45 cents per pound, compared with 50 cents formerly; the moistureproof cellophane was reduced from 75 to 70 cents per pound. This is the thirteenth reduction in price, since the manufacture of cellophane was started by the Du Pont organization seven years ago.

Du Pont officials, commenting on the announcement, said:

"The lower price was made possible by recent wide adoption of cellophane in the cigaret field as well as increased usage by the baking, textile, and other industries. A new cellophane plant is under construction at Buffalo to provide additional production capacities."

NORTH WESTERN CAR LOADINGS IN GAIN OVER JUNE

Daily car loadings on the Chicago and North Western railway during July showed a 160 car per day improvement over June, 1931, cars being loaded in the July period at a rate of 4,943 cars per day, as compared with 4,783 in June. The total loadings for July were also up over June, with 128,522 cars being loaded, as compared with 124,378 in the June period.

Good grain movement was evident in the month of July, with 12,330 cars being loaded, a gain of 4,431 cars over the June 1 to 30 period, while merchandise shipments were also good, with 30,991 cars being loaded for the month.

The total of cars loaded for the month was 19,434 below the July 1 to 31 period of 1930, when 147,956 cars moved over the line.

Central Public Service Has 70,706 Shareholders

Stockholders of Central Public Service corporation on July 1 totaled 70,706, an increase of 5,939 over the 64,767 stockholders on Jan. 1. Practically all the increase was in the customer holders of $4 preferred shares. Holders of this stock totaled 18,913 on July 1, compared with 13,226 at the first of the year, it was announced.

6,951 NEW FREIGHT CARS PLACED IN SERVICE BY ROADS

The railroads of the United States in the first six months of 1931 placed 6,951 new freight cars in service, according to the car service division of the American Railway association. In the same period last year, 49,208 new freight cars were placed in service and two years ago there were 32,794.

Of the new freight cars installed, 2,934 were box cars, compared with 26,016 installed in the first half of 1930. There were also 2,957 new coal cars placed in service in the first half of this year, compared with 18,343 installed during the same period last year. In addition, the railroads in the first six months this year installed 382 flat cars, 670 refrigerator cars, and eight other miscellaneous cars.

The railroads on July 1 this year had 8,963 new freight cars on order, compared with 24,649 cars on the same day last year and 39,638 on the same day two years ago.

This year's dollar buys three times as much life insurance as before!

Never before in history was there a better time to invest in life insurance protection. Through the development of its amazing new Family Income Policy, Continental makes it possible for your wife to receive as much as $34,400 even though you pay for a mere $10,000!

Here's how it works. Suppose you buy a $10,000 Continental Family Income Policy (which costs no more than ordinary life insurance) and die at the end of six months. Your wife will receive a cash "clean up" fund of $1,000 and $100 every month thereafter for nineteen and one-half years. Twenty years from the date of the policy she will also receive its full face amount, making a total of $34,400 paid her on only $10,000 worth of life insurance!

Naturally, the longer you live the less money your wife will receive, but she will need it less as your children grow up. Moreover, she is always sure of the $10,000 for which you pay. This remarkable policy also includes a $100 a month disability clause and has a constantly increasing cash value, making it by far the greatest life insurance bargain ever offered. 'Phone your agent or broker at once for further information.

A Useful Service to a Responsive Market

THE strength of the Middle West Utilities System from the investor's standpoint is founded firmly on the System's usefulness to the people it serves.

To a population exceeding six and one-half million, residing in five thousand communities of thirty-one states, the System provides electric power and other essential services.

This ample, inexpensive power supply helps towns to grow and prosper, while adding to the comforts and conveniences of a million and one-half homes.

The Preferred and Common Stocks of the Middle West Utilities Company are listed on the Chicago Stock Exchange and traded on the New York Curb Exchange.

TWO ISSUES ON CHICAGO BOARD SHARE SPOTLIGHT

North Amer. Light, U. S. Radio Most Active.

The price antics of the speculative favorites of the hour, United States Radio and North American Light and Power, featured yesterday's moderately active trading session on the Chicago Stock Exchange. Transactions in the two stocks favored by the traders represented approximately 25 per cent of the day's total volume of business aggregating 96,000 shares.

Rumors surrounding the cent upward movement in these shares found willing listeners and the names of two well known market operators were linked with the stocks. While confirmation of the reported sponsorship was not obtainable, it is generally believed that the same group is operating in both issues.

At Year's Best Price Level.

The one point advance scored yesterday by United States Radio brought the issue to the best price it has commanded this year. North American Light at its closing price of 73 was similarly at a new 1931 high quotation.

A spurt of 3 points in the shares of Goldblatt Brothers followed the announcement of the acquisition by that firm of Loren Miller & Co. The company is understood to be planning further expansion.

The trend among the miscellaneous shares was somewhat mixed but closing quotations generally represented moderate improvement over last week's final prices. Traders anxious to snatch quick profits cut down the gains and the final prices in the main were below the day's best quotations.

Hear of Building Plans.

Among the reports inspired by the recent strength in North American Light and Power was the rumor that the company's subsidiary, Illinois Power and Light company, is planning the construction of an air cooled building in St. Louis. The company is now completing its subway and terminal developments in that city.

The Illinois Power and Light corporation reported for the year ended June 30 a balance of $3,626,173 available for the common stock, compared with $4,156,938 in the previous year.

The latest figures available on earnings of the parent corporation are for the twelve months ended March 31, when the company reported earnings equivalent to $2.73 a share on 1,550,676 shares of common stock as compared with $3.19 on 1,285,552 in the preceding twelve month period.

NEW YORK BOND MARKET SLOWS UP AFTER SPURT

New York, Aug. 3.—(AP)—The initial spurt of activity in bonds slackened today to the pace of trading which has prevailed recently. The firmer tendency apparent in the early sales disappeared also to be followed by irregular fluctuations.

German 5½s and 7s provided a relatively small volume, but they crept upward. French 7s and Italian 7s were steady on active trading.

Youngstown Sheet and Tube 5s of 1978 were one of the few active industrial loans and they lost their early gains. Shell Union Oil 5s lost fractions on moderate activity. Other bonds of this group were generally lower.

Public utility and railroad obligations lacked a definite trend. Net changes were narrow and mixed and such activity as developed was concentrated among a few leading issues. American Telephone 5s of 1965, Utilities Power and Light 5½s of 1947, Western Union 5s and St. Louis San Francisco 4½s of 1978 held steady.

The St. Louis Southwestern railway has asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to pledge $14,601,000 of bonds as collateral for $9,000,000 of short term notes to be issued to renew outstanding notes up to Sept. 13, 1931.

$400,000 Tractor Order Will Put 500 Men to Work

Cleveland, O., Aug. 3.—(AP)—An order for 125 tractors to cost $400,000 was placed by the state highway department of Pennsylvania with the Cleveland Tractor company today, H. E. Orr, advertising manager of the company, announced. Orr said the manufacture of the tractors will ential the employment of 500 additional men. The tractors will be used in Pennsylvania's plan to "take the farmers out of the mud" in the next two years by constructing 20,000 miles of new highways and rebuilding 11,000 miles of old, Orr said.

Reports Evanston Firm Overassessed $153,070

Washington, D. C., Aug. 3.—(AP)—Overassessments of $153,070 against the 1920 income of the Marine Securities company of Evanston, Ill., and $97,774 against the same year's revenue of Parke, Davis & Co. of Detroit were reported to the joint congressional tax committee today by the internal revenue bureau. The overcharges usually are adjusted by rebate, refund, or tax credit.

BIG MEXICO CITY BANK HAS RUN; PAYS DEPOSITORS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3.—(AP)—A rush of depositors to withdraw funds from the Banco Nacional de Mexico, one of the largest internal banks in the country, assumed the proportions of a run this afternoon, while the Credito Espanol, a Spanish bank, which is also one of the country's most important financial institutions, was closed.

The Banco Nacional was continuing to pay depositors in full in spite of the demand. The bank has 40 branches throughout the country and is capitalized for approximately $10,000,000, with a reserve of about $2,500,000. The Banco Nacional is entirely a separate institution from the Bank of Mexico, which has a capital of approximately $30,000,000, but fewer branches than the Banco Nacional. The Bank of Mexico was doing a normal business today, while in most other banks business was heavy, although not of an alarming nature.

Exchange rates during the day were much confused. The branch of the National City Bank of New York was buying dollars at 4.05 silver pesos, while the Bank of Mexico was selling dollars for 3.75 silver pesos. Rates in other places fluctuated between these figures.

P. Lorillard Company.

Please send me statement of finances, nature of business and grade of stock of P. Lorillard company.—W. P.

P. Lorillard company was incorporated in 1911. It manufactures a varied line of tobacco products, manufacturing and selling Old Gold, Helmar and Mogul cigarets, Rocky Ford and Between the Acts cigars, Stagg smoking tobacco, Beechnut chewing tobacco and other brands.

Prior to 1926 substantial earnings were reported from the sale of Turkish cigarets, cigars, chewing and smoking tobacco. In 1926 the company entered the highly competitive field of low priced cigarets with its leader, Old Gold. This called for increased equipment, storage facilities and advertising expenditures. To finance this, $15,000,000 of 5½ per cent debentures were issued in 1927.

Earnings from 1925 through 1929 were consistently downward. This trend was ascribed to the expenses of introducing the new cigaret.

Net income for 1930 was $3,614,363 or $1.48 per common share against net of $1,336,656 or 29 cents per common share for 1929, indicating that production of the new product was beginning to yield a return. For 1928 net income was $1,817,428, against $2,490,787 for 1927.

Wholesale cigaret prices were increased from $6.40 to $6.85 per thousand in July, 1931. Old Golds are reported to be the fourth largest selling cigaret in the United States. It is more to this item than to its other products that the company must look to for future increased earnings.

Current position at the close of 1930 was strong. Current assets were $73,736,273 and current liabilities were $1,473,839. Cash alone totaled $16,976,386. Working capital was $72,262,434, against $70,715,784 the year before. There were outstanding $33,679,150 of funded debt, 113,076 shares of preferred stock and 1,909,061 shares of no par common.

No dividends have been paid on the common since April 1, 1927. It is a speculation.

United Light and Railways.

Please advise me on United Light and Railways company first 5s.—Mrs. J. P.

United Light and Railways company first and refunding 5s, due June 1, 1932, were assumed by United Light and Power company. The latter earned its bond charges and subsidiary preferred dividends 1.76 times in 1930, against 1.78 times in 1929 and 1.47 times in 1928. The bonds are regarded as suitable for a business man's investment.

Top yesterday, $7.75; average $6.60.

Active buying continued to feature the cattle market and prices moved to a higher position on moderate supplies yesterday. Top light weights are $1.50@1.75 above the low spot of about two months ago, while some of the weighty beeves show gains of almost $1 compared with the unsatisfactory market for cattle exceeding 1,200 lbs. in weight late in May. More than 1,500 steers sold at $9 and above yesterday, with 122 yearlings averaging 994@940 lbs. at $9.40, the new top, which goes back to early May for a higher mark.

Top yearlings only nine weeks ago were below $9 and movement of product was slower then than it has been since the advance started. Even heaviest cattle shared in the upturn during the last two weeks. Prime 1,387 lb. averages sold at $8.85, while numerous loads of 1,200@1,600 lbs. averages changed hands at $8.20@8.75. At the low time about two months ago cattle of similar weight and quality sold in large numbers at $6.25@$7.

Grassy Cattle Sell Slowly.

Grassy cattle and stock lacking good finish on a grain ration sold slowly and in many instances had to go at slight reductions. Butcher stock showed most unevenness, cows and heifers of plain quality finishing weak to lower, while top grades were in demand at 10@25c advance. A string of 87 baby beef heifers averaging 190 lbs. sold at $9.25. Calves sold at steady to strong prices. Stockers and feeders were scarce, but met narrow outlet. Light weight hogs for today's delivery were bid $7.80 on the "to arrive" market yesterday. Light weights for the first half of the present month carried bids of $7.75, while September light were offered at $8.75.

Hogs Do Better.

Hogs on the cash trade recovered a part of the week-end loss, but light weights are still selling 35@50c under the high point last Friday and underweights show more loss compared with the high point in mid-week. The extreme top stopped at $7.85, while the general average moved up 15c at $6.40, showing a narrower range of prices. However, light weights came to a strong finish, while heaviest offerings slowed down toward the close when unfavorable reports were received from the eastern dressed meat trade.

Heavy loins are almost unsalable and some are being frozen. Light loins have been selling well, but are slightly below the middle of last week. There is a tendency to widen the price range in the hog market again in the near future, because of the narrow outlet for heavy products and the decided preference for light cuts, which is unusual during the summer months. The spread between light and heavy cuts of pork is the widest on record and with packers forced to put away some of the products from big hogs in view of the possibility of larger fall and winter receipts, an effort is being made to lower the initial cost of heavy hogs.

Lambs Slump 50c.

A break of 50c was recorded in the lamb market yesterday and sorting was the hardest of the season. Only strong weight natives sold at $7.00@7.50, with a few of the best selections to city butchers at $7.75, while hundreds of culls were sold at $4.00. Packers complain that they are experiencing the same difficulty as they did last summer in disposing of thin lambs on the wholesale trade and are insisting on severe sorts wherever quality is lacking. "Tops" form the supply of westerns sold at $7.50 and below. Aged sheep declined 25@50c and yearlings showed a similar decline before the close. Feeding lambs were slow.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw was dull today and with no business reported. Prices were unchanged at 3.50c for spots, duty paid.

Following a steadier opening, raw futures declined in a dull market, when early demand was confined to trade, commission houses, and traders with Cuban connections tapered off. Later selling by trade interests, which was attributed to reflect disappointment over failure of a better demand to develop for spots, caused reactions, and the market closed net 1 to 3 points lower. Approximate sales were 10,650 tons. Prices follow:

	Open.	High.	Low.	Close.	Prev. close.

There was a fair withdrawal demand was reported in refined, and there was little or no new business. What buying there was developed through the second hand market on a basis of 4.65c, while refiners held steady and unchanged at 4.75c for fine granulated.

MARKET HIGHER AS SALES FALL UNDER MILLION

opening price was 18⅝, the low 18, and the final quotation 18¼. At this level it was fractionally better than the final price on Standard Oil of New York stock, for which it is exchangeable on a share for share basis.

News of the day amounted to practically nothing.

There were mutterings of better things to come, based upon the improved situation abroad and hope for autumnal improvement in business. The resistance of the market at current levels was held to reflect, at least partly, a tendency of business to check its decline.

A compilation of earnings made by Moody's brought out the fact that 184 industrial companies reported for the second quarter of 1931 profits 28.2 per cent less than in the same period of 1930, whereas in the first quarter of 1931 profits showed a 52.1 per cent decline.

Some Commodities Better.

At any rate, while the situation of many of our domestic industries appears about as unhappy as any time during the year, the downward trend seems to have received a partial check. Rubber, sugar, wool, silk and shoes have already established a trend toward recovery. And Wall street observers claim to see signs of cumulative buying of stocks.

With American bankers getting together for extension of commercial loans to Germany for at least six months, it seems that there will not be a renewal of the crisis abroad at least for some time. In the meantime, international bankers will look into the possibility of converting some of the reich's short term credits into long term obligations.

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—Bleachable cottonseed oil was irregular today, closing 10 points lower to 6 points higher. Sales were 5 contracts, equivalent to 750 barrels. Unsettled grain and cotton markets influenced nearby positions, while steadiness of lard and the sharp advance in hogs caused support to the later positions.

Crude oil was nominal. Bleachable spot closed 6.40c. September, 6.43c; October, 6.00; December, 5.70c; January, 5.85c; March, 5.95c. Prime summer yellow contracts were neglected, with closing prices as follows: Spot, 6.30c; September, 6.25c; December, 5.60c; March, 5.80c.

PRODUCE MARKETS

No change of consequence was shown in the price of butter and eggs. Receipts were 9,330 tubs butter and 11,253 cases eggs. Live hens declined 1c with spring chickens 1@2c lower and spring ducks ½c higher to 1c lower. Receipts, 7 cars and 12 trucks. Potatoes weak for poor and firm for choice. Receipts, 66 cars, with 230 cars on team track.

DROUGHT TAKES HEAVY TOLL IN CORN AND OATS

Drought has taken a heavy toll from the corn and oats crops, as shown by private estimates given to the trade yesterday.

The average return on corn indicated 2,880,000,000 bu, a drop of 88,000,000 bu from the government figures of a month ago. It was generally admitted that the official returns which will be announced on Aug. 10 would show a much heavier loss, as the actual damage to the new crop did not develop until the last 10 days of the month. Last year's final returns were 2,094,000,000 bu.

Deterioration is regarded as having been checked in some sections by heavy rains and lower temperatures over part of the main corn producing region over the week-end, but official reports showed that the precipitation was very irregular, and Nebraska as a whole had only scattered showers which were not sufficient to help the crop except in scattered localities.

One of Smallest Crops.

A reduction of around 100,000,000 bu oats was shown during the past month, making the suggested yield of 1,207,000,000 bu, with three exceptions the smallest in over 15 years, and is 141,000,000 bu less than the final returns in 1930.

Weather conditions have played strange pranks with the wheat crop, the yield of the winter grain being placed by local statisticians at 743,000,000 bu, or 30,000,000 bu more than was given by the government a month ago, and 131,000,000 bu in excess of last year's harvest, and is the second largest on record, being only 17,000,000 below the bumper yield in 1919 when the aggregate was 760,000,000 bu. There is a possibility of the final returns exceeding the previous record as Snows returns showed 759,000,000 bu.

Spring Wheat Shrinkage.

The smallest spring wheat crop since 1893, when it was 117,000,000 bu, has been secured this season, the private estimates showing a total of only 131,000,000 bu, compared with 251,000,000 bu a year ago. Aggregate of all wheat is 874,000,000 bu or 11,000,000 bu in excess of last year's harvest. A crop of 222,000,000 bu spring wheat was suggested for the three Canadian provinces or 152,000,000 bu less than in 1930. Details follow, last six ciphers omitted:

COTTON LOSES EARLY GAINS

Cotton prices were stronger and higher early, but reacted and closed around the bottom yesterday. Net changes for the day were at losses of 2@7 points on futures in Chicago and 2@8 points in other markets. Spots lost 5 points in all markets, with New York 8.10c; New Orleans, 7.95c; Galveston, 8c, and Houston, 7.90c. Liverpool was closed for a holiday and traders had to be contented with studying weather reports and its probable effect on the cotton crop conditions and the possible figures to be shown by the government report next Saturday.

A Memphis authority says that with favorable weather this month the cotton crop could be easily 15,000,000 bales, and he believes that a 12,000,000 bale crop would not sell at more than 8c, as the 9,000,000 bale carryover is too big a load on the market and the trade conditions are too bad. "You will get occasional rallies, due to short covering," he said, "but it will not go far as long as we have the present brilliant crop prospects." Prices follow:

PIT NOTES

There is no disposition on the part of a majority of traders to work on the bear side of wheat, although there are a number of operators who continue to predict lower prices. The trade in the pit has fallen off materially, consisting mainly of selling September and buying December wheat at 4¼c spread and selling December and buying May at 5c spread. Spreading between Chicago and northwestern markets also is furnishing a fair amount of trade. Reports from the southwest indicate that loadings have increased and that there will be good receipts for a few weeks. In the meantime the visible supply continue to increase and low prices have failed to enlarge export buying.

Receipts of 1,146 cars of wheat at Chicago yesterday attracted unusual attention. About 50 per cent of the arrivals were of grain from Iowa, Illinois, and Indiana sent to local receiving houses, showing that the Chicago market is being favored by shippers in the middle west as in the past. Wheat was picked up by mills and elevator interests.

GRAIN MARKETS SLIP BACK AGAIN INTO SLOW PACE

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

The grain markets, after a week of hectic fluctuations in which numerous records of many years standing were shattered, yesterday resumed the placid appearance which existed before the last week in July, with wheat holding within a range of ⅛@⅞c.

There was a lack of incentive for operators on either side of the wheat market, and while the visible supply was swelled to a new all time record total of 212,674,000 bu, or 6,363,000 bu in excess of the previous week, net losses for the day were only ⅜@⅝c, with the September finishing at 49⅞@50c; December, 54@54⅛c, and May, 59c.

A near record winter wheat crop of 743,000,000 bu was shown by the private estimates, or 131,000,000 bu in excess of last year, but the reduction of 120,000,000 bu in spring wheat to a total of 131,000,000 bu, the smallest since 1893, when it was 117,000,000 bu, largely offset the bearish construction placed on the former grain, and the trade was devoid of features.

Total Wheat Supply Less.

Issuance of the private crop estimates on the American and Canadian wheat crop yesterday, with the latter placed at 246,000,000 bu for all provinces against 398,000,00 bu harvested last year, caused a number of operators to commence to forecast what might develop in the world's wheat situation some months hence. The total North American crop and carryover is placed at 1,570,000,000 bu, or 96,000,000 bu less than was on hand a year ago, and there was comment to the effect that if the reduction in the winter wheat acreage this fall is as large as anticipated higher prices might be witnessed ultimately.

With Liverpool and Winnipeg wheat markets closed for the day, there was no evidence of any export business of consequence, and the trade as a whole expects that the demand will remain slow for sometime to come owing to the fact that the European harvest is now well under way, and milling regulations abroad tend to reduce import needs. A cable to the department of agriculture on Russian conditions indicated hot weather would result in a smaller yield per acre than last year and would thus offset the increase of 7 per cent in the acreage in that country.

Corn Prices Lower.

Selling by the professional element, largely based on the more favorable weather conditions over the belt, resulted in a lower range of corn prices after a moderate upturn at the start in anticipation of the private estimates on the crop showing a material reduction. The yield was placed at 2,880,000,000 bu, or 96,000,000 bu less than suggested by the government a month ago, and compared with 2,094,000,000 bu harvested in 1930 when the crop was the smallest since 1901.

Commission houses were fair buyers early, but weakness developed in the September later, with a drop of 2c from the high point, and the finish was about the bottom. Net losses for the day were ⅝@1⅝c, with September leading the latter, closing at 52⅝@52¾c, while December was 43⅛@43¼c, and May, 47⅝c. Demand for cash corn was slow, with sales of 20,000 bu, while cash prices as compared with Saturday's sales were steady to 4c lower.

Rain Over Corn Belt.

Official reports on rainfall over the corn belt over the week-end showed sufficient moisture received at many points to check any further deterioration in the crop outlook for sometime to come, while many other points failed to receive any rain, and the forecast was for generally fair and slightly warmer.

Weakness developed in the oats market despite a lowering in the estimated yield of 99,000,000 bu as compared with the government figures of a month ago, the total of 1,207,000,000 bu being the smallest in over 10 years with two exceptions. Lack of aggressive buying rather than heavy selling was responsible for net losses of ½@1⅛c for the day, with September finishing at 22⅞c, or within ⅛c of the lowest figure of the season, while December was 25⅝c, and May, 28¼c.

Little interest was taken in the rye market, which closed ⅛@⅝c lower, with the September at 34⅝c, and the December at 38½c. The crop was placed at around 37,000,000 bu, against 48,000,000 bu last year.

POTATO FUTURES HIGHER

Potatoes again took the lead on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, Idahoes advancing to within 2c of the year's high, closing at $1.65, up 5c, after selling at $1.68. Round whites closed 5c higher at $1.17, and Green Mountains gaining 2c to $1.22. Butter was firm and up ⅝c, eggs advancing ⅛c, the trading in these commodities slow. Activity in potatoes resulted from continued unfavorable reports on the crop conditions, present indications pointing to another bullish estimate by the government this week. Butter news was fairly bullish, the four markets reporting 10,000 lbs less in than last year. Shorts covered and scattered new buying appeared. Sales: Butter, 672,000 lbs.; eggs, 576,000 doz.; potatoes, 1,788,000 lbs. Deliveries: Butter, 1 car. Prices follow:
